WHERE 'WE WILL' THERE'S A WAY
—Chicago's New Proverb.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

There are fifty or more suburban towns and villages within as many miles of Chicago, the executive heads of which spend practically all their daylight hours in the big city. Once a week—or once a month—the Chicago business man who has been elected mayor or president of the board of trustees devotes a couple of hours after dinner to presiding over a meeting of the council or board.

More than nine-tenths of the time the on-the-ground executive authority of these suburban communities is vested in a city clerk or some other subordinate whose best bet, when a question is presented which requires immediate decision, is to refer it to the next meeting of the council. Since suburban councilmen and trustees are also generally Chicago business men that simply complicates the thing.

The case is the same as that of most American municipalities, multiplied by the continual absence of the responsible authorities.

RIVER FOREST is the first suburban village—at least in Illinois—to attempt to solve the problem in a radical way. Just a little more than three months ago Karl M. Mitchell went to work as general superintendent of the village, empowered to settle, without reference to any committee or other higher quality, practically all the questions which arise daily for executive action wherever more than half a dozen people are gathered together.

Up to a year ago Mr. Mitchell had been for sixteen years an employé of the Chicago Telephone company. He had experience in the department devoted to the maintenance of the telephone plant, and also in the systematizing of the complicated organization of the company. His present salary as village manager is $1,800 a year. It is too early yet to pass any final judgment as to the result of the experiment. Most of the village trustees seem to feel that so far it has been entirely successful.

MR. MITCHELL has put into force economies in the hiring of village employés which—if carried out to the end of the year—will save almost the amount of his salary. He has also been able to buy certain supplies for public use at less than the old prices. It is a perfectly natural thing that the influence of a boss who is always on the job should result in more and better work being done by all the employés of the village.

The contractor who is erecting some large college buildings in the village bears witness that the general superintendent helps him to get immediate decisions in a multitude of little matters which, under old conditions, might take weeks to settle.

There are, of course, objectors, as there always will be, no matter what machinery of government is adopted. For instance, last April, before the general superintendent was employed, the trustees passed an ordinance requiring all residents to keep the weeds cut about their places. Mr. Mitchell served notice on 185 property owners, covering about six miles of street frontage. At the same time it was stated that the village would be glad to do the work at a cost of 3 cents a front foot. So far about 30,000 feet of frontage has been clipped, 7,000 feet by the village and 23,000 feet by the individual property owners. But there is one—and only one—property owner who declares that he will neither cut his own weeds nor pay the city for cutting them. He considers the general manager plan of village government a rank failure.

JOHN E. ADAMS, who serves Chicago as principal of the Arnold school, is president of the board of trustees of River Forest. Since the general superin-

TARIFF REVISION AT FINAL STAGE; WILSON PLEASED

ENDED WITH RANKS UNITED

AVERAGE DUTY MUCH REDUCED

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—With the submission today to the house of representatives of the report of the conference committee on the tariff bill, the work of the Democratic party in connection with the revision of customs duties may be said to have been accomplished.

This report will be adopted by both houses without change. The lower chamber will act favorably on Wednesday and the senate later in the week. The president promptly will sign the measure.

Simultaneously he will issue a laudatory statement on the labors of the Democrats in congress, and also will call the attention of the country to the fact that the Democratic party is losing no time in performing the pledges on which it asked for governmental power.

Sees Four Pledges Filled.

The Simmons-Underwood bill carries out either entirely or partly, according to the administration, four of the party promises. Tariff reform, reduction in the high cost of living, campaign against the trusts, in that duties have been taken off of many trust made articles, and the income tax.

The measure, consequently, has a larger importance than that of a mere tariff reform bill, and its effects will be widespread, both on business and industry, and also in connection with politics. Democratic leaders realize they have embarked the ship they have constructed on uncharted seas, and that the future contains many and serious possibilities.

But they, and this includes the president, are confident that business will suffer no untoward effect; that consumers will feel some degree of relief from the abuses of the high protective tariff system, and that the first step has been taken to drive monopoly to the wall.

Fight Does Not Split Party.

So far as the political situation is concerned the fact is pointed to that the party has emerged from a tariff struggle intact and harmonious, with the opposition still divided.

Twenty years ago, when the Wilson-Gorman bill was passed, President Cleveland denounced "the perfidy" of his party representatives in the senate.

In 1909 the Aldrich tariff law caused the split in the Republican party, which later led to the organization of the Progressive party.

The bill, as finally agreed on, imposes an average ad valorem rate of from 27 to 29 per cent. The average for the present Aldrich law is 40.12 per cent. The average for the Wilson-Gorman act was 39.45 per cent.

Two Victories for Wilson.

President Wilson triumphed in securing the adoption of the two things for which he particularly fought—the free listing of raw wool beginning on Dec. 1 next and of sugar after May 1, 1916.

Duties generally have been reduced on all of the articles that enter into the necessaries of life, including the products of the farm as well as manufactured products.

Trust made products in many cases have been transferred to the free list or the duties at present imposed have been substantially reduced.

The income tax feature of the bill is expected to net some $83,000,000. It will call for a tax on net incomes of unmarried persons of $3,000 and upwards and on net incomes of married persons living together, where the wife or husband is dependent, of $4,000 and upwards.

Experts' estimates indicate a surplus of $16,000,000 over all expenditures at the end of the present fiscal year.

Measure Still Is Crude.

The Democrats cannot say too much in praise of their measure. Nevertheless the bill is as crude and unscientific as is the existing Aldrich law, contains jokers, and even violates principles which the people look on with approval.

It returns to the antiquated ad valorem system, which is certain to give rise to undervaluation. In order to show consideration for public sentiment the house inserted in the bill a provision authorizing the president to cause to be ascertained each year whether the imports under any paragraph in the bill amounted to less than 5 per cent of the domestic consumption, and if so he is directed to advise congress as to the facts and his conclusions in a special message.

The senate feared this might lead to tariff revision annually, and inserted the clause 'if deemed important in the public interest.' Of course it is always within the power of the president to send a special message to congress. So the paragraph might as well not have been included in the bill and means nothing.

One Joker Is Eliminated.

The joker in the glove provisions, to which THE TRIBUNE called attention, was eliminated. Women and children's gloves will pay a duty of $2 a dozen pairs instead of $2.50, and men's $2.50, instead of $3 a dozen pairs.

The hosiery joker was not removed. A rate of 40 per cent is imposed on stockings and half hose valued at not more than 70 cents a dozen pairs, when, as a matter of fact, there practically are no imports of this character. For stockings between 70 cents and $1.20 a dozen

TWO PRINCESSES LEAVE HUSBANDS?

Reports Heard in Regard to Manuel's Wife and Daughter of the Kaiser.

RUMORS BLAME ILLNESS.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Two young royal couples now in Germany are occupying the attention and imagination of the press and public both here and abroad to a considerable extent.

The sudden illness of Princess Victoria of Hohenzollern, the bride of ex-King Manuel of Portugal, while on her honeymoon near Munich, and the mystery with which it has been surrounded have given rise to a flood of rumors, none of which appear to be based on actual knowledge.

Some German papers broadly hint at what is declared to be the real nature of the illness of the bride, from which conclusions are drawn which are based to a large extent on the alleged past life of the ex-king. A report from Munich via Vienna says the princess will return to her home at Sigmaringen and it is alleged that she has said she never will live with her husband again.

Will Not Reform Husband.

A report came from Munich this morning that the bride of the ex-king cannot leave the hospital there for two weeks, after which she will go to her father's castle at Sigmaringen, while ex-King Manuel will go to his home at Twickenham, near Richmond, England, and that the princess will not join him there this winter.

A report from Munich this evening says the princess will be taken to the Black Forest in a few days, where she will remain until she recovers from her attack of influenza.

The fact that no official statements have been made to clear up the mystery about her illness and that no denials of rumors have been made is being used as presumptive evidence that the reports are true.

Prince Ernst Loses Wife?

The other royal couple whose affairs are occupying the attention of the papers and the people are the kaiser's only daughter, Princess Victoria Luise, and her husband, Prince Ernst of Cumberland, who were married last May. A statement was made tonight that the princess will return to her home at Rathenow as soon as her husband, Prince Ernst, returns from Gmunden.

This bride has also been ill recently and this resulted in several hurried visits to Rathenow by her royal mother, who took her home to Potsdam. It also gave rise to a crop of rumors about a quarrel between the young couple. As a result of her illness it is now said that hopes of a visit by the stork will have to be given up for some time.

The condition of Princess Victoria Luise, who was never robust, became such that the empress was considering the advisability of taking her to the Riviera or Corfu, but she has improved so much in the last few days that this may not be necessary.

Report of Quarrel Denied.

In circles close to the court the reports of a quarrel between Prince Ernst and his bride are denied. Referring to the misinformation circulated in regard to the princess, it is recalled that for years a statement was circulated abroad that the princess was deaf and dumb.

While the reports of a quarrel between the couple are declared to be unfounded, there is no doubt that the political question which resulted from the union of the kaiser's daughter and the son of the Duke of Cumberland is causing much irritation to the government.

The press is making much ado over the fact that Prince Ernst of Cumberland has not made specific renunciation of his pretendership to the throne of Hanover. They insist that this be done before he be permitted to take the throne of Brunswick.

The federal council is expected to convene within a fortnight and take up the question of Prince Ernst's ascension to the throne.

HAS AUTOMOBILE FUNERAL FROM COAST TO COAST.

Man Leaves $5,000 to Pay Expenses of Strange Trip with Body from San Diego, Cal., to New York.

When Michael Moran of New York City went to San Francisco seeking health he met W. A. Peck, representative of an Ohio automobile concern. They became friends.

One day when Moran was feeling worse than usual and felt he was going to die, Peck tried to cheer him up.

"What do you care if you do pass out?" he asked as a joke. "I'll take you back to New York in an automobile hearse. Think of that! A funeral from coast to coast!"

Moran gave his friend a sour look and went back to the tuberculosis hospital. Soon after Peck drifted somewhere along the coast and forgot about the promise he had made.

Moran died on Aug. 14. When he knew he could not live more than a few hours he called the nurse to his bedside.

"I want you to find W. A. Peck somewhere," he said, "and give him this $5,000, remind him of a promise he made to me, and tell him to spend it on the trip."

The nurse called the superintendent, who agreed to carry out Moran's last wishes. Peck was found in Seattle. Then it took several days more to make arrangements for the hearse.

The coast to coast funeral began on Aug. 28. R. H. Hambley, undertaker in San Diego, Cal., where Moran died, agreed to accompany the body to its grave on the Atlantic coast.

The strange funeral came to Chicago last night, and the undertaker, Peck, and the chauffeur spent the night here. They will continue the journey today.

"Moran has only one relative, a cousin who lives in New York City," Mr. Hambley said last night. "He wanted to be buried there. He was born and raised in New York City, and he considered himself in involuntary exile in California. He was afraid to go home for fear death would overtake him."

"This is the longest funeral on record," said J. B. Lanyon, undertaker at 415 West Sixty-third street, where the body was placed last night.

STEAL $100 FROM WOODEN LEG.

Thieves Rob Sleeping Cripple, Who Is Delighted That They Didn't Take His Limb.

Charles I. Kennedy, recipient of $100 from his brother, hobbled happily home to 1059 West Fourteenth place on Sunday night, wedged the bills in the cleft of his wooden leg, placed it against the foot of his bed and retired to pleasant dreams. When he woke the leg had been moved to the window sill.

Kennedy hopped out of bed and grabbed the leg. The money was gone. He strapped his leg on and hobbled to Maxwell street station and reported to Capt. Storen, who already had started search for robbers who have robbed several residences in the vicinity in recent weeks.

"I'm glad they left my leg, anyway," said Kennedy.

VILLAGERS MOB SOCIALIST MAYOR

W. M. Lawson of Des Plaines Called "Anarchist" and "Traitor."

WOMEN SPIT IN HIS FACE.

Riot and rebellion, a volley of eggs and a few vegetables, cries of "traitor," "anarchist," "ride him out of town," spitting in the mayor's face by two angry women, threats of violence, and the singing of patriotic airs marked last night's weekly meeting of the village board of Desplaines. It wasn't exactly a meeting, for before Mayor W. M. Lawson had finished calling the meeting to order most of the trustees had bounded out of their chairs, refused to sit with the mayor, and bolted for the door.

The mayor listened uncomfortably to the remarks of the indignant villagers, some of whom were expressing a desire to lynch him, and urging him to come out to the village square. He did not accept. He sat right there with his back against the wall, and continued sitting until nearly midnight. Then he went home—accompanied by the loyal members of the village administration.

Town Pay Roll Held Up.

Not one bit of business was accomplished. As a result contracts are held up and, worse yet, from the standpoint of the village employés, the pay roll is held up. The mayor's loyal escort must feed on loyalty, for there is no bread, so far as the week's pay is concerned.

The row has been in sight for the last three weeks. Early in the month the mayor, who was elected on the Socialist ticket last May, ordered the saloons closed on Sunday. That, he says, is responsible for the whole trouble, the liquor element conspiring to embarrass him.

But the rebels of last night gave another cause. In the recent issue of the suburban paper, the Times, was a letter written by the mayor warning the boys of the suburb against enlisting. He said "the best thing you can do is to stay out of the army."

Things Begin to Happen.

But did he read it? Not one line. As soon as he sat down to the council table the city clerk, John A. Bell Jr., bounded up.

"I've been a soldier," shouted the warlike clerk, waving both fists, "and I refuse to serve on the same board with this man."

Bell was followed by Trustees William Hayes, John Fuster, William Wicke, and Christ Missen. That left with the mayor only Prof. Charles S. Stewart and Jacob Sigwalt—too few for a quorum.

Prof. Stewart rose. "I've been a soldier, too," he shouted, "and I learned discipline. You apparently didn't. Sit down and behave yourself. Be a good boy."

"I won't," roared Bell, and from the spectators massed at the sides of the hall came applause. The crowd outside, hearing the applause, joined in with a few yells and then began singing patriotic songs, only to have the music drowned the shouts of "traitor" and "lynch him." When the mayor finally left the mob followed him all the way, hooting and threatening. A protracted meeting was held in the square.

As the mayor's party started away from the hall a delegation of women came from a meeting upstairs.

One of the women rushed forward and spat at his face. The mayor, furious, lifted his hand, then shook his head and walked on.

TANGO TEACHER'S SUPPOSED SLAYER BESIEGED IN HOUSE

REVEAL WOMAN'S SECRETS

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF DIVORCE?

At the head of a dozen Chicago detectives State's Attorney Charles H. Hadley of Wheaton laid siege to a building on the south side early this morning, where they hoped to apprehend the slayer of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, the tango teacher.

Sheriff A. A. Kuhn and Special Deputy Plummer of Du Page county were in the besieging party.

The raid was developed from an entirely new clew following the questioning of employés in the dancing academy of Prof. Oleson, former employer of the slain woman.

Mr. Hadley with his assistant, W. H. Plummer of Wheaton, had come into Chicago early in the evening following an all day's inquest by a coroner's jury over the body of the victim.

Tip from Young Man.

Their tip came from a young man who said he knew the name of the slayer. He said he formerly lived in Bushnell, Ill. He said the slayer had worked at a dance hall in White City three years ago. He followed the occupation of a bouncer. He said the man met Mrs. Rexroat while she conducted a concession there. He said the man attended the dance at Oleson's academy on the Thursday night that Mrs. Rexroat made the appointment to go on the errand which led to her murder. The boy described the man as answering the appearance of the slayer. He said he believed him to be passing under the name "Spencer."

The story was corroborated to some extent by W. H. Allison, Mrs. Rexroat's first husband. He said his wife told him about the fellow and promised she would drop him, as "he seemed deep and queer."

Husbands Face to Face.

Two former husbands of Mrs. Mildred Semrow Allison Rexroat faced one another from the witness stand at the inquest over the body of the murdered tango teacher.

William H. Allison, who was divorced from the woman in May, told of his love and sympathy for the woman who was mother of his three sons.

Everett A. Rexroat, who married her in the same month, declared his affection and devotion for the ill fated woman of his choice.

Woman of Dual Life.

From the lips of each other the two men heard little secrets which the slain woman had kept from one or the other of them. Other witnesses related about the dead woman incidents of which neither man ever knew before.

Both men went successively to the rear of the basement under the undertaking and furniture store in West Chicago and wept before the battered body of the woman who was shot, robbed, and left for mutilation on the railroad tracks near Wayne on Friday night.

The body of the murdered woman was brought at night to 6110 Cottage Grove avenue by Allison.

The revelation of the inquest, which was continued to Thursday, was the discovery that the murdered woman had bank accounts in two banks and owned real estate in Michigan. It had been believed heretofore that her means were restricted to her small salary as a teacher of tango dancing. Her first husband holds the bank books.

Allison Tells of Married Life.

"Mildred Semrow and I were married in 1894," said W. H. Allison after being sworn. "We have three children, one 17, one 14, and one 5—all boys. My wife was 37 years old on her last birthday, Jan. 6, 1913. I am the proprietor of a barber shop at Sixty-sixth street and Cottage Grove avenue.

"Last October she began to get irritable and dissatisfied around the house. I objected to her working late at nights, which she did in the dance hall at Sans Souci. One night over there at the soda fountain she introduced me to Rexroat.

"On Thanksgiving day we quarreled because she wouldn't eat dinner with us but went out with Rexroat. Her sister, Frances, and she and I and the children all lived together. She was gone for two weeks in January and came back, but finally left for good on Jan. 24.

Divorced in May.

"In either February or March she filed the bill for divorce. The decree was granted May 15. I was allowed to keep the children and the household goods. Her attorney was Loop—mine was Charles Trainor—both in the Ashland block.

"We met frequently after that. I didn't know she was married, though, until some time afterward. I know now, of course, she was married to Rexroat on May 26 and went with him to his parents' home in Macomb, Ill., on Aug. 2. She came back on Aug. 26.

"While down there she wrote to me twice. She said she was unhappy and dissatisfied. I answered her letters. She asked me to send her $5 so she could come back, and I did. She came back. I saw her nearly every day since.

"Sometimes she would ask me for money. I think I gave her $3 once and $2 on another occasion. I knew about her staying at the Johnston's. I met her several times. She used to come over to the house frequently to see the children."

Allison said his wife had three rings, a necklace, and a bracelet, and two bank accounts.

"She had one account in the Northern Trust company for $700," continued Allison.

"That was deposited in the name of the boys. The other one amounted to $125 in the Washington Park bank, in her own name."

Allison said his wife had given him the bank books and he still had them.

Deeds to Michigan Lots.

"I also have the deeds to two lots in Lakewood, Mich., which she gave me to keep," he said.

"Did you see your wife last week?" asked State's Attorney Hadley.

"Yes, on Thursday. She and her brother stopped at the barber shop. She had a transfer and was just changing cars. We stood on the corn and chatted."

"When did you see her last?"

"That was the last time, but I heard from her on Friday. She telephoned the tailor shop next door. I was called to the telephone. She asked me if I was going to see her that evening. I said no, that I had an engagement to go to a Knights of Pythias entertainment.

"She said she was glad, because she couldn't see me anyhow. She said she had arranged to go to Wheaton to teach a class of young men the tango. She said she had made the arrangements with a man by the name of Spencer. I asked her who Spencer was, and she said she had met him at Oleson's dancing academy. We said good by, and that was the last I ever heard from her."

Night of Murder.

"Mr. Allison, where were you Friday night—where did you go and what did you do, after you talked to your former wife over the telephone?" asked the state's attorney.

"I went back to the shop until 6 o'clock and then went over to the house for supper. Then I came back to the shop and stayed until about ten minutes to 8. Then I went out and met Mr. Evetts—I think his name is—and we went over to the Knights of Pythias hall at Thirty-fifth and Cottage Grove. He wanted me to join the lodge. I stayed there until about 11 o'clock and then went home."

"Mr. Allison, what reason do you think anybody would have to kill your wife?"

"Robbery is the only motive I can think of."

"Did your wife ever receive the attentions of other men?"

Tells of Infatuation.

"No, I can't say that. I know of only one instance. That was at a K. C. dance one night a year ago this summer. It was at the K. C. hall at Sixty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue. She danced with a certain man whom I noticed. He was about 5 feet 9 or 10 inches in height, weighed about 180 pounds, had light hair and a mustache.

"About a week after that my wife told me the man was a detective and he was infatuated with her."

"What did she ever tell you about the diamond ring she had?"

"She said it was her engagement ring. She said Rexroat had given it and another ring to her. She said he had asked for the rings and she had given one of them back. She said he had demanded the other one, but she had refused to return it. She said it was worth $300."

Young Sister Testifies.

Miss Frances Stevens Semrow, the sister of the murdered woman, was the next witness. She was dressed in a blue tailored suit and wore a wide brim hat, over which was draped a heavy mourning veil. She drew the veil away from her face while testifying.

"I am 18 years old," she said. "I work nights as a cashier in the dance hall at Sans Souci. I have lived at Mr. Allison's home for seven years—since I was 11 years old."

Miss Semrow said her sister had two diamond rings, both given to her by Rexroat, the smaller one before he married her, the larger one afterward. The girl said her sister told her she returned the smaller ring to Rexroat when he paid her $50.

Miss Semrow asserted her sister was jealous of an alleged attachment between Allison and the girl. Mrs. Allison had accused them of improper relations, but later had apologized to her sister.

The girl recalled a man who went with her sister in the Sans Souci dance hall in November. She described him as 40 years old, medium height, weighing 165 to 175 pounds, with blue or gray eyes.

A. J. Clark, a lawyer at Sixty-third street and Cottage Grove avenue, the girl said, took her sister home several times a week and later got her an attorney for her divorce suit.

"Miss Semrow," asked State's Attorney Hadley, "did you ever know that your sister ever knew a man by the name of Spencer?"

"That is all. Call Everett A. Rexroat."

Rexroat Tells of Meeting Her.

"I met Mrs. Allison in September last year at Sans Souci park," said Rexroat. "I was working in Chicago at different garages, learning the automobile repair business. My father wanted to put me up a garage down near our home in Macomb. We live on a 240 acre farm there.

Rexroat said Mrs. Allison had introduced Allison to him at Sans Souci last fall as her "former husband." He said he married Mrs. Allison May 26 at Crown Point, Ind.

"Didn't you know she had been divorced only eleven days before, and didn't she tell you that it would have been against the law for her to have married you that soon in Illinois?"

"No, she didn't tell me, and I didn't know."

"Where did you go after the marriage?"

"We went to live at 119 East Twenty-fifth street."

Life on Rexroat Farm.

Rexroat said he and his wife went to his father's home at Macomb on Aug. 2, where he worked for neighbors repairing automobiles.

Rexroat said his wife stayed at home most of the time with his mother and sister.

"Did you ever hear of her meeting anybody around there who would answer the description of this man known as Spencer?"

"No."

Rexroat said he had given his wife two diamond rings, one his own, the other—a larger stone—bought on a note from A. E. Rash, the jeweler at Macomb.

Says He Did Not Demand Rings.

"Now, Mr. Rexroat, did you ever demand that your wife return the rings?"

"No."

"Did you ever send your wife $50 in order to get her to give back that small ring?"

"No, she gave me that ring on the platform of the station at Macomb when she went back to Chicago on Aug. 26."

"Why did she go to Chicago?"

"She wanted to see the children. She said she was coming back. I wrote letters for her to a number of places about small dancing academies. She liked one at Bushnell best."

"Did you know that your wife got money from Allison?"

"No, she told me she got some money from a woman friend in Chicago."

"Where were you last Friday?"

"I was around the house part of the day and over to the Barclay farm repairing an automobile. The automobile had been on fire and they had put it out with sand. I was fixing the carburetor and the wiring. In the evening I was home. The Barclays were over and we talked on farm matters. I went to bed about 10 o'clock."

"Did you ever hear of a man by the name of Spencer?"

"I never did."

"Have you any idea who could have killed your wife or why?"

"I haven't."

Woman Deepens Mystery.

Mrs. Ada Johnston, at whose home, 6033 Eggleston avenue, Mrs. Rexroat lived, and who was the last of her friends to see her alive, gave testimony which deepened the mystery of the case.

"I have known Mrs. Allison about ten years," she said. "She came to my house in January when she left her husband. She said she couldn't stand his constant quarreling. It was apparent she was jealous.

"Some time later she told me she had filed a bill for divorce and then she told me about Rexroat. She said she liked him because he was so good to her and treated her better than any man had ever treated her in her life.

"I never had any reason to believe she was meeting men after she met Mr. Rexroat. She returned to us on Aug. 28. She said she didn't want to stay down there in the country because she felt she was dependent. She said she wanted to be making money and she thought if she came up here Rexroat would follow her. In the letters she received from him and in those from her to him, there was no sentiment other than that of the best feeling toward one another."

Some Business Affairs.

"Did you know anything about her business affairs?"

"She told me once she had a first mortgage for $1,000 on the house and lot of a German woman at Sixty-fifth and Carpenter streets. I got the impression she had bought the mortgage with the money she had in the bank. There was a slip from the Illinois Trust bank found among her things."

"Do you know where that mortgage is or where she kept it?"

"No, it was not found. I think she must have a safety deposit box somewhere."

"Did she ever mention a Mr. Spencer to you?"

"Yes, on Friday morning. She came home at 10 minutes to 1 Friday morning. She returned alone. After breakfast she said she had a good business proposition in view.

"'I am making arrangements to teach a class of wealthy people at Wayne. They want to learn the tango,' she said.

"I asked her who Spencer was, and she said his parents were wealthy and his sister ran the hotel at Wayne. She showed me his card. It was a plain white card with the name Spencer on it. There was an initial in front of the name, but I have been unable to remember what it was.

Didn't Know Where Wayne Was.

"I asked her where Wayne was and she said, 'I don't know exactly. It is out near Wheaton somewhere. It costs 40 cents car fare.' She also said Spencer was studying medicine in Chicago.

"Did she receive a telephone call that day?"

"Yes, in the afternoon. She answered the phone. I don't think it was a long distance call, because she started to talk right away. She said, 'O, Mr. Spencer, did you fix it up all right out there?' Then she couldn't understand what was being said and asked me to do the talking.

"I took the receiver, and the voice—it was a slow, drawling voice with a peculiar emphasis or accent or something about it that you would remember—the voice said, 'Tell Mrs. Allison I have everything fixed up at Wayne and I'll meet her at 6 o'clock at the Fifth avenue terminal of the third rail line and go out with her.'

Leaves Wedding Ring Behind.

"I told her, and she said to say that was all right, which I did, and hung up. She went upstairs all in a flutter and packed her rattan suit case with her party gown. She said it was an important proposition. She said Mr. Spencer told her there would be $10 in it anyway, and maybe $15.

"I noticed she had left off her gold band wedding ring. I said: 'Are you going to be single tonight?' and she said: 'I want to make the best impression I can.' Then she went out.

"The next morning the phone rang and I answered it. It was the same voice with the drawl.

"'Is this Normal 8783?' the man asked. I said, 'Yes,' and then he said:

"'Mrs. Allison is not coming back. She is going east to be married. She will be gone some time. She has given up her room and won't be back.'

"Of course, I knew Mrs. Allison couldn't be married because she was married to Rexroat, and I said something to that effect over the wire.

"The man said: 'You don't believe that, do you?' I started to answer and central cut in with, 'Drop a nickle please.' Then the connection was lost."

Identifies Switch of Hair.

The finding of a switch of woman's hair, identified by Mrs. Johnston as the one worn by the dead woman, is regarded by Sheriff Kuhn as the strongest clew yet obtained.

The hair was found during the day in the Burlington yards, near Sixteenth and Halsted streets. It is almost of the shade and texture of Mrs. Rexroat's tresses.

Sheriff Kuhn's theory is that the man known only as "Spencer" came to Chicago, throwing away the switch as the last thing which might connect him with the murder.

Mrs. Johnston was excited when she examined the switch, and said it was the one Mrs. Rexroat had put into her suitcase which she took to Wheaton.

"There is no possibility of mistake," she said. "This was Mildred's switch."

LODGE IN DANGER AFTER OPERATION

Senator Rallies When Death Was Feared; Recovery Hinges on Vitality.

DOCTORS SEE SOME GAIN.

Critical Illness of Bay State Leader Kept Secret for Several Days.

Nahant, Mass., Sept. 29.—United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, senior member of the Massachusetts delegation in congress, who was operated upon Friday for a gastric ulcer, was, according to his physicians tonight, "not entirely out of danger."

News of the senator's illness leaked out by accident today. Then it was learned that for twenty-four hours following the operation his life had been despaired of. The operation itself, his physicians said, was successful, but the patient was weakened by his labors at the extra session of congress and did not have the vitality to rally promptly from the shock.

His recovery, according to Dr. F. B. Harrington, one of his physicians, is largely a matter of vitality, in which his 64 years must be taken into consideration. According to Dr. Frederick Winslow, another of the physicians, the senator's condition late tonight was "excellent."

Senator Passes Through Crisis.

The silence of the Lodge household at Eastern Point was broken for the first time since the senator's return from Washington by his secretary, E. T. Clark, who gave out the following statement tonight:

"Senator Lodge was operated on last Friday for a gastric ulcer. The senator had been suffering for some days with what was thought to be an attack of indigestion, but his condition became so critical that the physicians found an immediate operation necessary. Dr. Harrington and Dr. Winslow, who are in charge of the case today, pronounced the senator's condition entirely satisfactory."

Secrecy had been maintained at the request of the senator himself, it was said, and two policemen maintained a guard around the estate.

Even some of the senator's most intimate friends were surprised to learn of the serious nature of his illness. He had returned from Washington ten days ago, complaining that he was tired and wanted a rest.

Immediate Operation Necessary.

In the seclusion of his estate on Massachusetts bay he took many short strolls, but on Wednesday he complained of the increasing severity of his indisposition.

On Thursday he called in the family physician, Dr. Laurence Cusick, who found the senator suffering from an ulcer of the stomach. The growth was acutely developed, he said, and he advised an immediate operation.

This met with the opposition of Senator Lodge, who thought such a step unnecessary and believed he was too weak to go under the knife.

The family, greatly worried, called in Drs. Harrington and Winslow, who confirmed the diagnosis of Dr. Cusick and said an operation was necessary to save the patient's life.

Dr. Harrington performed the operation Friday, assisted by Dr. Winslow. A slight rally on Saturday was not satisfactory to the physicians and another consultation was held Sunday. By this time a still further gain, though slight, offered more encouragement and Dr. Winslow's report on his condition late tonight as "excellent" indicated additional improvement.

WEATHER SHIFT PERILS POPE.

Reason Given for Suspension of Open Air Audiences by the Pontiff.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Sept. 29.—A French prelate who was received by Pope Pius X. today says the pontiff is not ill, but is no longer robust, and is easily fatigued. Precautions to preserve his strength are indispensable, especially when there are sudden changes in temperature, as even a slight cold may develop into a serious illness. For this reason the open air public audiences in the courtyard of St. Damasus have been suspended.

JURY FINDS BIXBY GUILTLESS

California Millionaire Cleared of Charges Made by Girl.

BLACKMAIL PLEA IS BARRED.

Judge Orders Verdict on Merits of Accusations in Indictment.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 29.—George H. Bixby, a millionaire of Long Beach, Cal., charged with having contributed to the downfall of minor young women, was found not guilty by a jury tonight.

Bixby was tried on one of two indictments based on charges preferred against him by Cleo Helen Barker and Marie Brown-Levy, under aged habitues of a resort, the proprietor of which, Mrs. Emma J. Goodman, is now serving a prison sentence as a procuress.

Bixby's defense was that he had visited the resort only as a philanthropist who had spent thousands of dollars to save young girls, and had been requited by being made the victim of a blackmail conspiracy.

Judge Bars Conspiracy Defense.

In charging the jury, Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe of San Bernardino county instructed its members to disregard the allegations of conspiracy made by Bixby himself on the witness stand and to convict him if he was deemed guilty beyond a reasonable doubt of the offense charged against him.

This offense related to the millionaire's alleged relations with the Barker girl, who is 19 years old and one of three young women who have sued Bixby for $150,000 damages. These suits figured prominently in Bixby's statements on the witness stand and were part of the groundwork for his defense that he was the victim of a conspiracy to blackmail.

"TIM" WOODRUFF STROKE VICTIM

New York Progressive Leader Felled by Paralysis at Fusionist Meeting.

HIS CONDITION IS SERIOUS.

Collapses After Notifying John Purroy Mitchel of His Nomination for Mayor.

New York, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Timothy L. Woodruff, three times lieutenant governor of this state, suffered a stroke of paralysis tonight when he was delivering a speech at Cooper Union notifying John Purroy Mitchel of his nomination for fusionist mayor.

Mr. Woodruff was able to put a concluding paragraph or two on his speech before his friends saw that he was on the point of collapse.

Helped Off the Stage.

While the audience was applauding what they supposed to be the end of his address five or six men on the platform ran up to Mr. Woodruff and helped him off the stage. Hasty examination by physicians showed that his left side was partially paralyzed. He did not lose consciousness.

He went home in his automobile with Mrs. Woodruff to Carlton house and his family physicians were hurriedly summoned. He is said to be in a serious condition.

Few of the people who filled the assembly room at Cooper Union realized that anything was amiss. Mr. Woodruff carried through his speech with his customary vigor until he was within a few paragraphs of the end.

Kept Audience in Ignorance.

Despite the emphasis which Mr. Woodruff threw into his speech it was seen as he proceeded that he was speaking with difficulty. He frequently brushed a handkerchief across his forehead and more than once reached for a glass of water. It was the water pitcher which brought Mr. Woodruff his first laugh from the audience.

"I'm not a Democrat like Mr. Coudert," he said, "and therefore I have a quenchable thirst."

With that Mr. Woodruff took a large white pitcher which was standing on the speaker's desk, leaned over, and set it on the floor. Mr. Woodruff is not a slender man, and the exertion brought the blood into his face. He did not lose the flush until many minutes later, when his illness became apparent to those who were watching him most closely.

During his speech Mr. Woodruff had turned to Mr. Mitchel and complained of a pain in his left knee.

SUICIDE CLOSES STRANGE CAREER

Chicagoan in Kenosha Drives Wife Into Street, Then Shoots Self.

LIVED UNDER 3 NAMES.

Police Seek to Solve Mystery of Man Who Gave Out Own "Death" Notice.

A man, known to his wife as Albert J. Carroll, put an end to his strange career with a bullet in Kenosha, Wis., yesterday, and now the Chicago police have been asked to delve into the strange secrets of his life.

He first tried to kill his wife. She fought with him for thirty minutes. The struggle was unequal. The attempt was made on her life while she was at her bath. When the wife fled to the street the husband tore a bathrobe from her grasp. When she reached the street she heard the shot which took the man's life.

Passed as Three Personalities.

The man was married a year ago. His wife lived at 1036 Muskegon avenue. The husband refused to make his home with her. He resided at various loop hotels. He passed as three distinct personalities:

Albert J. Carroll.
John Wilson.
George McCormack.

When he desired to communicate with his wife he inserted an advertisement in a Chicago newspaper reading:

Mary: I am sick in a Hospital and want you. AL.

"That was my clew," the wife said, "to write a letter and seal it in an envelope with the plain address 'John Wilson.'

"Then I would place this within another envelope addressed to 'George McCormack.' Then I would call a messenger boy and send him with this note to a saloon at Ninety-sixth street and Commercial avenue. In the letter I would appoint a rendesvous. My husband never failed to meet me.

Says She Loves Him.

"It was in response to one of these advertisements and letters that my husband called for me. I had moved to Kenosha. My husband had a horse and buggy and said he was going to take me driving. I had threatened to divorce him. Although I loved him, I could not live the strange life he outlined for me.

"I accused him a planning to take my life. He entered the house and submitted to a search. I got into the carriage and we drove into the woods near Allendale. There he took a revolver from his hat. I pleaded with him. He let me come home. He acted kindly and signed an agreement to pay me $50 a month alimony. It was while I was at my bath that he tried to kill me."

Carroll was supposed to be wealthy, and left a will disposing of an estate of nearly $10,000, said to be invested in mortgages on property near Flint, Mich.

Carroll is said to have been a member of a wealthy family in Detroit, but he declared he had a death notice published in the papers there in order to lead his people to believe he was dead.

REDLIGHT SALOONKEEPERS FACE REVOCATION OF LICENSES.

Rumor Current That Drum Shops on Probation Have Violated Ordinances and Must Pay Penalty.

A score or more of saloonkeepers are in acute danger of losing their licenses after Mayor Harrison returns to his office on Friday.

His last official act before leaving the city two weeks ago for a tramp in the Canadian woods was to issue between thirty-five and forty-five letters of warning over his signature. They went to the owners of cafés and barrooms listed by Second Deputy Funkhouser as persistent violators of the law. Some of them have ignored the 1 o'clock closing ordinance, others have permitted gambling or soliciting in their places, and some have combined two or three of these offenses.

In effect the mayor put the men on probation. A large percentage of them are said to have ignored his warning.

O'MALLEY WINS $7,500 VERDICT AGAINST EXAMINER.

Jury in Judge Mangan's Court Brings In Verdict, Which Is at Once Appealed by Defendant.

John F. O'Malley was awarded damages of $7,500 in the verdict of a jury before Judge Mangan in the Circuit court yesterday in his $100,000 libel suit against the Chicago Examiner. A story published Nov. 24, 1911, was the basis for the suit. A motion for a new trial was immediately made after the clerk of the court finished reading the verdict.

"PRINCE ARTIE" MAKES PINCH.

Son of "Hot Stove Jimmy" Quinn Arrests Two Assailants of North Side Man.

"Prince Artie" Quinn, son of "Hot Stove Jimmy" Quinn of the north side, made a regular arrest last night. He saw two men who said they were A. P. Smith and C. T. Mebon of the Elks hotel, dragging a third man to a patrol box. The victim said they were trying to rob him, but they said they were policemen. Artie decided they were not officers and invoked the power of his deputy sheriff estate to arrest them.

HORSE KILLED; JUNK FIRM ENDS.

Anti-Cruelty Society Chief Shoots Sick Animal and Leaves Wagon in North Side Road.

Paul Hoppe of 2248 Clybourn avenue and Joe Rappel of 1456 Fullerton avenue no longer are partners in the junk business. Hugo Krause of the Anti-Cruelty society shot their horse yesterday because it was incurably sick. The wagon, half filled with old iron and rags, stands in the big road near the Summerdale police station. The boys tried to borrow a policeman's horse to draw the wagon home, but they were refused.

MOTHER OF 18 CHILDREN DIES.

Mrs. Thomas C. Butler, Who Was 90 Years Old, Succumbs at Maple Park.

Aurora, Ill., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Thomas C. Butler, mother of eighteen children, died in Maple Park last night. She was 90 years old. There are forty-one grandchildren and twelve great grandchildren in the family. Municipal Judge Rooney of Chicago is a grandson.

Open Women's Rest Rooms in Criminal Court Building.

GRAVES MOORE (JUVENILE PROTECTIVE ASST.) J. D. HUNTER (CHIEF PROBATION OFFICER) GERTRUDE HOWE BRITTON. MRS. HARRY HART. SHERIFF MICHAEL ZIMMER.

Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton and other officials of the Juvenile Protective association yesterday formally opened the women's rest rooms in the Criminal Court building. Three rooms on the third floor have been placed at the disposal of the association by Sheriff Zimmer. Here the women and children who are forced to be in the building will be allowed to rest and will be cared for while waiting for their trials to come up. A buffet luncheon was served during the day to the judges and other Criminal court officials. Mrs. Britton, Mrs. Harry Hart, Mrs. Minnie Jacobs Berlin, Katharin Ostrander, and Evelyn Belden served cakes and coffee. The rooms will be under charge of Miss Belden and Miss Ostrander.

CASHIER'S WIT CATCHES CROOK

Counterfeiter Is Arrested When Restaurant Man Bites Coin.

STUDIO ON THE "WEST SIDE."

Complete Outfit to Make Spurious Money Found by Federal Officers.

A man walked into Thompson's restaurant at 76 West Van Buren street yesterday, sat down at the counter, and ate a 15 cent lunch. He went to the cashier's desk, placed the waiter's check on the counter and a silver half dollar.

The man was given his 35 cents in change. He lingered a moment at the door. Then he walked briskly out. Joseph Kolder, the cashier, looked at the half dollar and bit it. Then he called a waiter.

"Follow that man," said Kolder.

Telephones Capt. Porter.

Richard Richardson, the waiter, caught up to the man just as he was entering another Thompson restaurant at 414 South Dearborn street. He telephoned the cashier. The cashier telephoned Capt. Thomas I. Porter of the United States secret service.

Capt. Porter and Agents Peter Dreughtsberg and Bart Bratton hurried to the restaurant and arrested the man.

He said his name is Charles Kehlman of 2436 West Madison street. He said he was an artist. Capt. Porter says his alias is Robert Ives and is 43 years old.

Pockets Yield 200 Coins.

The man was searched, and his pockets yielded 200 pieces of counterfeit half dollars and quarters. In addition to that he had $800 in real money. Under severe questioning by Capt. Porter Kehlman confessed he had carried on counterfeiting operations for two years and named his "studio" where his coining outfit was located.

The secret service agents visited the "studio" at 2436 West Madison street. They found a complete counterfeiting plant, including molds, plaster of paris, a large quantity of metal, ladles, files, and other coining tools. More than 200 pieces of fake halves and quarters were found in the house.

Kehlman said he got his proof coins direct from the mint. He was held to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote and locked up in the county jail. Bonds were fixed at $3,500.

Posed as Portrait Painter.

In the neighborhood where he lived and to his wife he posed as a portrait painter. The secret service men found in the pantry and in the man's bedroom a quantity of artist's paints, brushes, and other material used in portrait work. No paintings of his own were found in the house.

Mrs. Kehlman said she is employed at the Chicago Boys' club in the office.

"I am at work all day long," said she. "I am at home only on Sundays. I never knew anything about any counterfeiting and never saw any dies, molds, or anything else that would lead me to believe this charge against my husband. It is all a surprise to me. We have been married four years."

Card Game Leads to Stabbing Affray.

Michael Baker of 610 North Halsted street was stabbed several times and John Sateno of 602 North Curtis street, a laborer, was hit with a bottle and may lose the sight of one eye as the result of a fight over a card game in the former's home last night.

MAY JOIN SAFETY COMMISSION

City Club Committee Seeks Union with Public Body.

WILL TURN OVER DATA.

Long Established Body Has Collection of Valuable Reports.

A committee from the City club this afternoon will meet with Coroner Hoffman to effect an amalgamation of the safety first committee of the club with the public safety commission of Chicago and Cook county.

The delegates from the club will ask that members of their committee be appointed on Coroner Hoffman's commission, and in turn the club will turn over to the commission all the data that it has.

The safety first committee has been established a long time, during which it has reports upon the management of traffic in practically every city of importance in the world. It also has blue prints and diagrams of the latest safety appliances, and compendious reports upon practically every phase of traffic regulation.

With the endowment of the permanent safety commission by various organizations—notably the $2,400 contribution of the American Association of Foreign Language Newspapers—the one commission of the city will be enabled to carry out many of the accepted plans which the City club committee was not able to do without soliciting funds. The presence of members from the City club's committee on Coroner Hoffman's commission, it is believed, also will materially aid in the work of the various subcommittees yet to be appointed.

Coroner Hoffman yesterday received more than thirty newspapers printed in foreign languages in Chicago and nearby large cities. All of the newspapers contained prominent stories of the work of the commission.

HOLDS BABY; SHOOTS SELF.

Mrs. Ada Siegel Takes Her Life While Clasping Infant Grandchild in Her Arms.

Left for a few minutes to care for her little grandchild, Mrs. Ada Siegel of 1318 South Central Park avenue yesterday found the revolver of her son-in-law and shot herself through the heart. Her daughter, Mrs. Anna Heyward of 3457 West Twelfth place, where the older woman was visiting, returned five minutes later. The child was gripped in the dead woman's arms. No reason for the shooting could be offered.

Police in Shooting Contest.

The final shooting contest between the Oak Park and Cicero police teams will be held in Oak Park this afternoon. Thus far each team has won two contests.

WOMAN AUTOIST HURT BY CRASH

Mrs. George W. Stahl, Wife of Standard Oil Man, Loses Control of Electric.

M'KINLEY'S FRIEND FREE.

Speaker Intercedes for Prisoner Who Left Car Standing; Explanation Wins.

Mrs. George W. Stahl, wife of the treasurer of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, yesterday was badly cut about the face, hands, and shoulders when, losing control of her electric car, she ran into another automobile and was hurled into the glass windshield of her own car. It is possible she incurred internal injuries.

The electric was traveling at a fair speed only a block from the Stahl residence at 1314 Church street, Evanston. The pavement, slippery from the rain, made steering difficult. In trying to avoid a car standing beside the curb Mrs. Stahl lost control. The car swung around, brakes offering no effective resistance, and swept into the other vehicle.

Mrs. Stahl was unable to hold herself at her seat. She was thrown headlong into the windshield and received numerous lacerations, but retained consciousness and was able to direct passersby to take her home.

Speaker McKinley Intercedes.

By a coincidence a George Stahl, not of Evanston but a local automobile salesman, was one of the day's defendants in Speeders' court. Speaker William McKinley of the Illinois house appeared as witness and counsel and obtained Stahl's discharge by explaining the violation of the ordinance against leaving a car standing downtown more than an hour. The car had broken down and Stahl and the speaker were given their choice of leaving it until the next day or sitting in it all night. They chose the former course, and Stahl was arrested when he returned.

Two youngsters, Hyman Morris, 1254 South Sangamon street, and Jacob Minens, 1248 South Sangamon street, were run down almost in front of the Maxwell street police station, but neither was hurt badly. D. B. Gillespie, 6558 South Union avenue, showed he was not driving his car rapidly and was not held.

Young Drivers Arrested.

Edward Pasel, 7759 South Union avenue, and Roger Luken, 7754 Lowe avenue, were arrested by the Englewood police when the car which Pasel had "borrowed" from his father without the latter's knowledge, ran down Miss Alice Kruipp, 6919 South Carpenter street. A girl riding with the boys escaped.

M'INERNEY REBUKES COPPER FOR ARRESTING HIS NEPHEW.

City Prosecutor Says He May Prefer Charges Against Detective—Case Against Youth Dismissed.

City Prosecutor McInerney, a former employé in whose office was charged with running a gambling house, was present at Desplaines street court yesterday when his nephew, Earl Waters, of 4518 Clifton avenue, an assessment clerk, was arraigned on a charge of interfering with the arrest of eight men charged with gambling.

"I'm a nephew of City Prosecutor McInerney, and it'll go hard with you," said the boy when he was arrested, according to Detective Edward Troy of Assistant Chief Schuettler's office. Troy also asserts McInerney, who took no part in the hearing, rebuked him later for the arrest. Still later McInerney said charges "may" be preferred against the detective.

The arrests took place at 4541 Broadway, but the cases were tried before Judge Dolan at Desplaines street, and all eight were discharged. Judge Dolan held the detectives had not established that money was wagered on the card games.

"I wasn't interested in the gambling cases," said McInerney.

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE, SAYS DAD.

Allan S. Curlitt Wires Father for Financial Aid When Arrested and Gets Chilly Reply.

Allan S. Curlitt of Buffalo yesterday was held to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Mason on a charge of impersonating an officer of the navy. He was released on $2,000 bonds.

Assistant District Attorney Walter K. Krimbill informed the commissioner Curlitt told employés of the Hotel Sherman he was a paymaster in the navy, and on the strength of his statements he borrowed $10 from Miss Georgia Reeder, cashier; $15 from Roy Nichols, night clerk; and ran up a hotel bill of $50. When the management demanded payment, Curlitt telegraphed to his mother for money, saying he was arrested. His father wired the following answer:

"Nothing doing. You have gone the limit. Take your medicine."

MRS. YOUNG AIDS TEACHER

Rebukes Parents Who Accuse Miss Pauline Zeller.

"THOU SHALT NOT STEAL."

Severely Condemns Bargain Hunting by Mothers of School Children.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, showed her ability at sermonizing yesterday. She spoke at a meeting of the Frances Willard school Parent-Teacher association. She took as her text, "Thou Shalt Not Steal."

Some of the prominent members of the Parent-Teacher association went to Mrs. Young and to the school management committee of the board of education in an effort to have Miss Pauline Zeller, a teacher of German at the school, removed. They accused her of dishonesty. The principal charge they made against her was that she sold for 5 cents to her students a book which cost her nothing.

Bargain Hunters Assailed.

Mrs. Young said that if she had done such a thing she was not as guilty as the women in the audience who gloated over getting bargains made possible by the sweat and blood of girls who are not paid enough to keep body and soul together. She said that the school teacher had not been guilty of breaking one of the ten commandments. She said that in her opinion she had merely forgotten an ethical principle. The principle is that a teacher is bound to guard the personal rights and interests of the children she teaches, even at the expense of her own time and trouble.

"In this case," said Mrs. Young, "the teacher saw that certain books were useful to her pupils. She sold the books to the children. Whether she paid money for them or not does not matter. It doesn't mean that she is dishonest. Of course, it is not according to the ethical principle of teachers, but I cannot see that any one was cheated.

Not a Poor District.

"This is not a poor district. There are many automobiles here. In many of the homes there are discussions and self-congratulations over money made, over automobiles and fine things. The children come to school and talk about it. A teacher may feel that it is not as much her duty to conserve the property of the children as if she were in a poorer district. This teacher may have lost the clear conception that she should care for the children and see that no advantage of them is taken. If you say she was dishonest I think you are not using careful language.

"Which is the right thing for you women to do: Go to her and try to help her, or go to your children and tell them they have been deprived of 5 cents that is theirs? A great duty rests upon you as parents and teachers. May you live up to this duty."

The Parent-Teacher association decided to drop the matter of Miss Zeller.

M'CORMICK'S NEW AIRBOAT CUTS OFF PASSENGER'S HAND.

Chauffeur Victim of Accident as He Tries to Hurl Cap Into Hangar Just Previous to Trial Flight.

Harold McCormick has just received his second hydro-aeroplane. The machine is the latest improvement in aviation. It will carry four passengers and is sumptuous in equipment.

The machine was given a tryout in Lake Forest yesterday. R. J. Hull, one of Mr. McCormick's chauffeurs, was on the passenger list.

Hull seated himself in the car, and Charles C. Witman, aerial chauffeur, started the car up. Hull reached back to toss his cap into the hangar as the flight began.

He thrust his hand into the plane of a spinning propeller wheel—turning at terrific speed. The fan chopped his hand off at the wrist.

The flight was brought to a sudden termination and Hull was taken to the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest.

TARIFF REVISION AT FINAL STAGE

Wilson and Aids Say Bill Carries Out Four Pledges in Platform.

LEAVES A UNITED PARTY.

Democrats Confident They Can Defeat Any Attacks Which Follow.

pairs a duty of 40 per cent was agreed upon. This is the stocking which is worn by many of the poor.

The conferees eliminated the provisions inserted by the senate at the instance of Senator Borah denying entry into the American market of goods manufactured by children under 14 years of age. They also struck a blow at civil service and went far toward the restoration of the old spoils system. The house bill provided that persons to collect the income tax should be appointed without reference to the civil service eligible list. This applied the spoils system to the appointment of all income tax collectors.

Widens Duties of Employes.

But the conference agreement has gone much further. It provides that any person employed to collect the income tax may be utilized by the secretary of the treasury in the general service of the internal revenue bureau. The conference report also struck out a provision of the senate bill that when a civil service employé of the internal revenue bureau is detailed for income tax work he shall retain his civil service status.

The effect of these two provisions is this:

Employés of the internal revenue bureau now under civil service regulations may be detailed to field work in connection with the income tax. This detail will have the effect of depriving them of their civil service status, and they can therefore be removed at the will of the secretary of the treasury.

Provides Way for Spoilsmen.

The other provision that employés appointed without civil service examination as collectors of the income tax may be employed in the general work of the internal revenue bureau means that the places of civil service employés removed without cause by the secretary of the treasury can be filled by the transfer of non-civil service appointees to the general work of the revenue bureau.

So it is made possible to discharge all the civil service employés of the internal revenue service of the government and to fill their places with spoilsmen just as rapidly as the Democratic greed for patronage can push the work along.

The civil service law heretofore has never erected any great barrier against the removal of government employés from office. The difficulty in the way of the politicians was that while it was easy to make a vacancy, it was almost impossible to fill that vacancy with political henchmen, for the reason that the law required that appointments should be made only from the eligible list prepared by the civil service commission. Consequently when the politicians found that they could not get their own men in, they had no great desire to get other men out.

Estimates Finances Under Bill.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the senate finance committee, gave out tonight the first complete estimates of federal revenues and expenditures under the new tariff bill as made up by the experts from the treasury. The total estimates are as follows:

For the year ending July 1, 1914:

Receipts	$1,029,000,000
Expenditures	1,013,000,000
Surplus	16,000,000

For the year ending July 1, 1915:

Expenditures	1,008,000,000

The estimated receipts under the customs tariff, the income tax, and the corporation tax, embraced in the new tariff, are given as follows:

For 1914:

Customs revenues	$270,000,000
Income tax [ten months]	66,000,000
Corporation tax	38,000,000

For 1915:

Customs revenues	$340,000,000
Income tax	82,000,000

Explains Change in Revenue.

"The customs revenues will be larger for the current fiscal year, 1914," Senator Simmons said, "because the rates of the Payne-Aldrich law have been for the force quarter and will continue in force on wool and woolen goods until Jan. 1, and on sugar until March 1. When the next fiscal year begins, July 1, 1914, all the rates of the new law will be in operation and the tariff duties collected will be smaller.

"The income tax which is collected for the callendar year can be collected for only ten months of the present year, as the law specified that collection shall not go back of March 1, 1913. The estimated decrease in the total expenditures of the government for 1915, $5,000,000, is based on the fact that smaller expenditures are expected for the army and navy estimates."

The balance of the total estimates, as given in the treasury estimates, is made up of postal receipts, internal revenue receipts, the profits from public land sales, and other sources of federal income.

U. S. GETS DATA ON NATION'S RICH MEN

Reports So Far Received Unsatisfactory; Plans Better Income Tax Census.

AUTHOR OF CLAUSE TALKS

Representative Hull Makes Detailed Explanation to Persons Affected.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The commissioner of internal revenue today made public the estimates on incomes for the middle west.

These estimates show that far more wealth is distributed in Illinois outside of Chicago than in the city. The commissioner of internal revenue is inclined to believe the reports are so far from correct that he will not use them to any extent in his plans for the collection of the income tax.

According to his statement today, 12,000 citizens of Chicago have incomes ranging from $3,000 to $20,000 per year, while 12,800 citizens of the Eighth district, which has its headquarters in Springfield, have incomes within this scope. Only 5,000 individuals in the Fifth district, with headquarters at Peoria, are listed.

Districts Vary as to Fortunes.

Likewise in Indiana there is a great variance in districts. The collector for the Sixth district reported over 20,000 taxable incomes, and the collector for the Seventh district reported only 6,000.

Iowa's incomes will be largely taxed, the collector for that state reporting nearly 17,000 taxable fortunes. Wisconsin has a few over 10,000, Michigan close to 12,000, and Minnesota about 4,000.

A feature about the Minnesota income estimate is that the collector declares there are 150 men in the state with incomes upwards of $100,000 annually, while in Chicago the collector reported only thirty-five persons with incomes above the $100,000 mark.

Large fortunes seem to predominate in Minnesota, for there are 1,000 men rated with incomes between $20,000 and $50,000, as against 500 in Chicago and 1,000 in the whole state of Illinois; 500 with incomes between $50,000 and $100,000, as against 175 in Chicago and 275 in Illinois, and 150 over $100,000, as against 50 in Illinois.

Indiana and Michigan are also reported as having large income bearing fortunes over the $20,000 mark.

Following is a table showing the various taxable incomes in six middle west states:

	$3,000 to $20,000.	$20,000 to $50,000.	$50,000 to $100,000.	Over $100,000.

Expects Flood of Questions.

The treasury department is preparing for a flood of questions about the new income tax, realizing that this feature of the tariff bill about to become law strikes more intimately at the tax paying citizen than do the indirect taxes collected through the customs duties.

One of the first steps taken to get general information before the public will be to distribute income tax blanks through postoffices, internal revenue officers, and other federal agencies. However, the fact that he does not receive a blank or a request to pay the tax will not exempt a taxable person from the penalties of the law.

Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, who drew the income tax provision of the tariff bill which will soon become law, made public today a detailed explanation of the tax plan as it will touch the individual citizen.

Making Returns Not Difficult.

"The treasury regulations soon to be prepared will make clear to every taxpayer the requirements of the law and its application to income derived from the various kinds of business," Mr. Hull said. "Any person who keeps familiar with his business affairs, during the year should have no difficulty in executing his tax return.

"The income tax is divided into two phases, the 'normal' tax of 1 per cent on the whole income above $3,000, and the additional tax that begins with an extra 1 per cent above $20,000 and is graduated to 6 per cent above $500,000. Wherever the income tax is paid 'at the source' by a corporation for its employés or in similar cases, only the 1 per cent normal tax is so paid.

"The individual has to pay any additional tax himself. The provisions of the law requiring the tax to be withheld at the source does not take effect until Nov. 1, 1913.

Tax Must Be Paid June 30.

"For the first year the citizen will make return to the local internal revenue collector before March 1, 1914, as to his earnings from March 1, 1913, to the end of this year. The collector will notify him on June 1 how much he owes and the tax must be paid by June 30. After next year the tax will apply on the full calendar year.

"If the income of a person is under $3,000, or if the tax upon same is withheld for payment at the source, or if the same is to be paid elsewhere in the United States, affidavit may be made to such fact and thereupon no return will be required.

"The tax covers all incomes of citizens of the United States, whether living here or abroad; those of foreigners living in the United States, and the net incomes from property owned or business carried on in the United States by persons living abroad.

Sources of Income Taxable.

"The net income includes all income from salaries or any compensation for personal services; incomes from trades, professions, business, or commerce; from sales or dealings in personal property or real estate; from interest, rent, dividends from securities; for all business carried on for gain.

"Bequests will not be considered income, nor will life insurance paid to a beneficiary or returned to the insured person as a 'paid up' or 'surrendered policy' be taxable. Interest on such property will be included as income, however.

"The amount that may be deducted from a total income includes the cost of carrying on business, actual losses, depreciation allowances, and tax exempt or tax paid money. Living expenses cannot be deducted, nor can money spent for permanent improvements to property.

Forms Soon Will Be Ready.

"The form that is to be filled out by the taxpayer will be drawn up soon by the commissioner of internal revenue. The taxpayer will have to give his gross revenue and then specify and claim the deductions to which he feels entitled.

"Unless a man's income tax is 'paid at the source' he must hunt up a tax blank, fill it out, and see that it finds its way to the proper federal official in his district before March 1, 1914.

"Firms, corporations, and the like having the handling of interest, rents, salaries, or other portions of the income of any citizen are compelled to deduct the tax for the individual and pay it to the government. The individual then will receive a receipt showing he has paid his tax."

GOV. SULZER WINS TRIPLE VICTORY

Cullen Bars Testimony on Political Bargain with Three Assemblymen.

PROSECUTION NEAR END.

F. L. Colwell, Executive's Alleged Wall Street "Dummy," Ready to Tell His Story.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Gov. Sulzer today won a triple victory over his accusers at his impeachment trial.

Presiding Judge Cullen of the high court barred the introduction of evidence intended to prove that the governor had made a corrupt political bargain with Assemblyman Patrie of Greene county, and held that the testimony brought forward to show that he had made similar bargains with Assemblyman Sweet of Oswego county and Assemblyman Prime of Essex was incompetent.

The legislation had to do in each case with highway and bridge improvements provided for in bills passed by the legislature to which the assemblymen were desirous of getting the governor's signature.

In the Patrie case, however, no charges were brought in the articles of impeachment, and on this ground Judge Cullen threw the charge out.

Two Cases Are Specified.

The Sweet and Prime cases were specified in article VII. of the impeachment charging that the governor had vetoed one and signed the other bill. One assemblyman had failed to support the governor's direct primary bill and the other did so after consulting Sulzer, the managers charged.

Assemblyman Sweet today testified that when he urged the governor to approve his bill, he was asked whether he had voted for the direct primary bill, which had been defeated in the regular session of the legislature.

"I told him I voted against it," the witness said.

The primary bill was to come up again at the extraordinary session in July and the governor wanted to know how Sweet proposed to vote at that time. Sweet said he replied:

"According to the sentiment and in the interest of my district."

To this, according to Sweet, the governor replied with advice to see his personal counsel, Valentine Taylor, "and smooth him the right way."

Got Favorable Report on Bill.

"Did you smooth him?" Attorney Brackett of counsel for the impeachment managers asked.

"I didn't have to," the witness replied. He explained that Taylor had sent him to John E. Delaney, chairman of the department of efficiency, who prepared a favorable report on his bill.

"What happened to your bill?" Attorney Brackett asked.

"It was vetoed," the witness replied.

"How did you vote on the primary bill at the regular session?"

To this question the defense objected.

"Objection sustained," Judge Cullen ruled; "he has already said he voted against the bill, and if this witness was already against the bill, it showed he did not receive the price of a corrupt bargain."

On practically the same grounds Judge Cullen held that the charges in connection with the Prime case were likewise invalid.

Prosecution Nears End.

With the introduction of evidence of three more campaign contributions not reported in the governor's sworn statement of campaign receipts, and of more evidence concerning the governor's alleged Wall street speculations, the assembly managers drew near the end of their case today.

The long missing Frederick L. Colwell, the governor's alleged "dummy" in Wall street transactions, is in a sanitarium, according to counsel for the governor, but will consent to testify as the governor's witness under the stipulation that he not be placed under arrest for refusing to obey the subpoena of the Frawley investigating committee. Counsel for the managers had not decided tonight whether to agree to this stipulation.

George Hough Perry, publicity manager of the Pan-American Pacific exposition, said last night at the Congress hotel that the contractors are ahead of the schedule time, and the fair will open Feb. 20, 1915, with "$50,000,000 inside the gates."

TWO WARS COST BULGARIA 44,892 KILLED, 104,586 HURT.

Of this number 30,024 were killed in the war of the allies with Turkey and 14,868 in the war between Bulgaria and the Servians and Greeks. There were 104,586 Bulgarians wounded in the two wars and 7,824 are reported missing.

News from Avlona, on the Adriatic sea, states that the Albanians have captured Schrida after a fierce engagement.

REDMOND'S WORDS BREAK UP IRISH QUESTION CONFERENCE.

Newspapers Ascribe Dissolution of the "Brodick Cabinet" to Sunday Address of Home Rule Leader.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 30, 3 a. m.—The sudden and unexpected dissolution of the "Brodick cabinet" has dumfounded the political newsmongers. Some ascribe it to the fact that John Redmond's speech of Sunday night has shown the uselessness of trying to arrange a conference on the Irish question. The lid, however, has been kept so tight on the ministerial doings on the Isle of Arran that speculation leads to nowhere, and it is still wholly unknown whether or not the Ulster problem had anything to do with drawing the members of the cabinet to Brodick. The morning papers are filled with rumors and discussions based thereon.

Former Postmaster Arrested.

FAIL TO AGREE ON GARBAGE VALUE

TIME LIMIT TOMORROW.

City May Yet Be Without Means for Disposal of Waste After Oct. 1.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The garbage question is in another serious muddle. The appraisers have failed to agree upon the price which the city shall pay for the plant of the Chicago Reduction company. The city will be without any means of disposing of its garbage if the appraisers are unable to agree by midnight of Oct. 1, which is tomorrow.

It is said the valuators are in a deadlock. The sticking point is the "going value," which the city agreed to allow. "Going value" of an auto that won't "go" would be its selling price for junk. "Going value" of a garbage reduction plant that its builder and manager for five years has sworn can't "go"—without the city contract—might be a difficult problem for any appraiser.

Builder's Words Cited.

The builder and former manager is Charles Turner. In a suit against the Chicago Reduction company, filed on Aug. 15, 1911, he said the company would be forced out of business if it lost the city contract. His exact language on page 40 of the bill reads:

The garbage contract with the city of Chicago will expire on Sept. 1, 1913. It is entirely problematical and indeed very doubtful whether the Chicago Reduction company will be able to renew said contract or obtain a new contract from the city of Chicago for the reduction and disposal of its garbage.

The success and prosperity of the Chicago Reduction company depend entirely upon its contract with the city of Chicago, and if it fails to get a renewal of its garbage contract existing with the city, then the company will be forced to go out of business.

The company failed, as Turner predicted, to get a renewal of its contract, yet the appraisers are considering the amount to be allowed for "going value." The appraisers, however, do not seem at fault. The council ordered an estimate of "going value," at the suggestion of Mayor Harrison.

Experts Differ on Value.

Because of the critical situation over the appraisal a conference was held yesterday afternoon in the office of the commissioner of public works. There were present Commissioner McGann, Health Commissioner Young, Corporation Counsel Sexton, Controller Traeger and Henry A. Allen, the city's appraiser. The meeting is said to have been called because Mayor Harrison is away in Canada and Mr. Allen wanted some advice and instructions. According to rumor his "going value" figure is $318,000; that of Harold Almert for the company is said to be $393,000, and that of Leonard Metcalf, the arbiter, between $348,000 and $364,000, while the valuation of the Woman's party is $295,000.

After the conference it was said by one of the participants he expected an agreement would be reached today. That was interpreted to mean the department heads had advised Mr. Allen to all but capitulate and accept approximately the figures of the arbiter. The difference, it is reported, will add a $50,000 burden to the city's treasury.

Appraisal Too Late.

According to the terms of the sale and valuation, the appraisal is now too late for the city to exercise the privileges extended to it by the contract. The contract gives the city four days to go over the appraisal transcript, and it provides the city must pay the money on or before Oct. 1.

If the appraisers complete their task today then the city will only have one day left in which to look over the title to the property instead of four, as the contract provides it shall have. Probably the matter will be rushed through if the report of the appraisers is made.

CLERK SELLS 'DE LUXE' ASSETS

Minor Employe Discovered to Have Disposed of Property.

MAKES "BANK" OF POCKET.

"Cashier" Admits He Is a Sort of Transient Depository.

A quantity of the missing assets of the Tomlinson, Humes, Inc., alleged bankrupt "de luxe trust" was discovered yesterday to have been bought by Otto Denkewalter, the firm's former shipping clerk, and sold subsequently to the filing of the bankruptcy petition. The discovery was made at a resumed hearing before Frank L. Wean, referee in bankruptcy. Attorney Michael Gesas announced he will make a searching inquiry into the alleged illegal transaction. Denkewalter was ordered to turn over to Frank M. McKey, trustee, all books and other assets of the "de luxe" corporation.

Makes Bank of Pocket.

Denkewalter, it was shown, gets $12.50 a week for his services as "secretary and treasurer" of the Manhattan Distributing company and an equal amount as stock clerk for J. B. Millet & Co., a Boston publishing house. He testified he has three savings accounts and acts as "cashier" for the Millet company, carrying the funds of the concern in his pocket.

Attorney Gesas tried to show Herbert O. Tomlinson, one of the "de luxe" partners, had intrusted Denkewalter with a large amount of a secret fund alleged to have been withdrawn from the corporation just prior to the filing of the bankruptcy petition, and that this money constituted Denkewalter's savings accounts.

Denkewalter denied Tomlinson had given him money to hold in trust. The witness was ordered to produce his bank books, and Trustee McKey announced he will call on the banks to produce Denkewalter's deposit slips.

Relatives in Concern.

The Manhattan Distributing company is a new book concern, organized, it was said, a few days subsequent to the "de luxe" crash on July 27. Tomlinson, Denkewalter said, is general manager at a salary of $125 a week. Attorney Frank L. De Lay, Tomlinson's brother-in-law and legal representative in the "de luxe" litigation, was named as president of the new corporation.

Denkewalter, it was shown, bought about $500 worth of books from the "de luxe" firm and sold some of the stuff to Edward T. Kelly company. Walter E. Denkewalter, a brother, is secretary of the Kelly firm. The two men live in the same house.

U. S. TROOPS FIRE UPON MEXICANS?

Juarez Officials Say Hat of American Soldier Was Found Across Line.

OTHER VERSION DIFFERS.

Mexican Cavalry Said to Have Turned Rifles on Border Guards.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 29.—That ten American cavalrymen of troop H, Second cavalry, crossed into Mexico last Saturday and began shooting at three Mexican wood cutters is the version of the international shooting incident near San Elizario which has been given out by the federal officials of Juarez.

To prove their assertions Col. Juan N. Vasquez, military commander of Juarez, showed a hat which one of the United States soldiers is alleged to have lost when the three wood cutters returned the rifle fire of the American soldiers and forced them to retreat, it was alleged, to the American side of the international boundary line.

Mexican Officials Investigating.

"The American soldiers, as proven by the hat in the possession of the military authorities of Juarez, trespassed on Mexican territory," said Inspector of Mexican Consulates Miguel E. Diebold in a statement issued tonight. "In their hurried departure they left the hat about two miles from the international boundary. An investigation is now being conducted by the Mexican authorities and a report of the affair will be made to the respective authorities."

The account of the occurrence that reached this city from San Elizario Saturday night stated that the American soldiers were on duty on the American side of the border when thirty Mexican federal cavalry appeared on the Mexican side and opened fire on them without warning or provocation.

Both Sides Leave Battlefield.

Piedras Negras, Mex., Sept. 29.—More than 400 federal and rebel dead were left on the field below Barroteran, where a fierce struggle took place between the two forces Saturday and Sunday, according to reports brought to constitutionalist headquarters today.

Both sides were compelled to retire from the field last night because of lack of water and ammunition.

Upon request, goods purchased today will be posted to October account.

OF course we have an occasional dissatisfied customer; among so many that isn't surprising; the important thing, in such a case, so far as we are concerned, is that we shall do our utmost to satisfy him. We're willing to go to any length to do that; we'll even let him be unreasonable about it; we'll do more than he says is fair. We'd rather do more than less. Money back is sometimes only a part of it. But we don't have much of it to do.

One of our most interesting features this fall is our line of imported overcoat fabrics; such goods as only a few of the high priced tailors show. There are many new models; belt or plain backs, extreme or conservative styles; finished in the most perfect manner; $35, $40, $45, $50, $60, $75.

Suits also in finest foreign weaves; for men who want the best obtainable. English Huddersfield worsteds, Scotch cheviots, Irish tweeds; more real style and value than you've ever seen in ready clothes; $35, $40, $45, $50.

Our M-L-R special Hart Schaffner & Marx suits and overcoats are, of course, the very top-notch of clothes value. They're masterpieces of style and quality; smart, exclusive ideas, the best of good tailoring; it's impossible to duplicate them elsewhere;
$18, $20, $25, $30, $35.

Style book and samples on request.

Young men are thronging our college and high school 4th floor; for correct fashion ideas this specialty clothes store is ready with everything to serve the stylish young men. Suits and overcoats of class and distinction; $15, $18, $20, $25, $30, $35.

HEAR THE CASE.

Colombia's grievances against the United States have always found a closed door because of the prevailing American opinion that there could be no equity in the claims of a nation caught so openly in sharp and dishonest practices. The Roosevelt retort, fostering and protecting the republic of Panama, was accepted, generally, as a piece of larger justice and Colombia, raging in its discomfiture, was observed with amusement.

Colombians have never ceased to press their demand for arbitration and it has been an unusual procedure for the United States to be deaf to such an appeal. The prevailing opinion that a small rascal hurt by his own tricks was the plaintiff explains the indifference and obduracy here.

It is reported now that Secretary Bryan is willing to accept the demand for arbitration. It is altogether better so; better policy and fair justice. The United States should give Colombia a chance to put its loss in figures and present a statement of its damages to an impartial court. If it have in equity a claim for damages the claim should be met. A nice regard for our national honor requires at least a hearing.

PAINED BY WISDOM.

"To the editor of the New York Sun, Sir," writes a citizen, "Edward Bok gives me a pain and makes me tired. I am a married man."

Possibly the citizen did not intend that the five word description of his condition should be an explanation of his wrath and weariness, but thus he sets himself up as the impatient husband of a wife too much advised. The ways of the wicked in holding out against the word and the light are beyond understanding, and their testiness against a well of knowledge, having not even a sediment of error, is a thing that gets them small credit.

Edward Bok's mission is wholly helpful, and how a son of Adak can come home to be enraged by a wife practicing the Bok precept is beyond reasonable understanding. It must be attributable to the weak human hatred of excellence, the scowl of the peccable directed at impeccancy, hating Mr. Bok with his helpful hints in re the use of the tomato can as a by-product, etc., etc., etc.

And our testy citizen in this case is given pain and weariness by so incontestable a remark as that of Mr. Bok that if American hotels would print their menus in English and do their cooking in French they would confer a benefit on patrons who get the menus in French and the cooking in English.

Never did Mr. Bok stand on a firmer foundation of truth.

TO RUN ITS COURSE.

A periodical which supports Irish home rule refers to the fact that Lloyd's rates against Dublin strikers are fifty times higher than the rates against Belfast rebels. South of Ireland sneers against north of Ireland ability to make what would be regarded as trouble in Cork may not help to iron out any difficulties in the island.

Ulster is getting to a point where it cannot withdraw and retain self-respect, and even a coward—which is an epithet not applied to the north of Ireland—will make trouble in such circumstances.

The operations of the men of title who are contributing money to the defense funds and oil to the flame are easily explained. With their hatred of the economic reforms of the Asquith government and of the chancellor, Lloyd-George, they are interested in digging the grave of the Liberal party. The sorrows of Ulster, if larger political possibilities were not attached thereto, might not get a shilling of their money nor a syllable of their wrath.

The real Ulster danger is that the rebellion starting there offers the best opportunity the Unionists have had to defeat the government, which so clearly recognizes its danger that it seems to be counting on nonresistance to wear down the Ulster spirit.

Mr. Redmond has called attention to the fact that no measures are being taken against the leaders in Ulster who have proceeded already to open manifestations of rebellion. The government may win out by ignoring the Ulster flareup and by permitting the Belfast government, if set up, to run its course to absurdity and find its own downfall in its own weaknesses.

Mr. Winston Churchill not long ago referred regretfully to a way out of the dilemma which the government would be glad but is unable to adopt—to establish provincial parliaments for local self-government in the provinces of England, in Wales, and Scotland. Then Ulster could be given its local governing body, and the British empire would approach the American federation in structure.

There is no indication yet that the majority of Scotch ask for a Scotch parliament, but the demand is increasing in that part of the United Kingdom, and with home rule a fact in Ireland the same principle may have to be applied in Scotland.

At present the country is not ready for this readjustment, and the Liberals are confronted with the necessity of allaying the Ulster trouble without daring to use force to subdue it.

WHAT THE GRAVE COVERS.

In March, 1911, fire started in the factory of the Triangle Waist company in New York and 147 girls lost their lives. Fifty bodies, some of them burned to cinders, lying in a heap in front of a bolted door on the ninth floor of the factory, made clear the cause of the staggering loss of life. Escape had been cut off to these unfortunates by the locked door.

When the trial of the owners of the Triangle shop, Max Blanck and Isaac Harris, was called, the state produced in court a part of that ill fated door with the bolted lock in it. Evidence was heaped mountain high to prove that the girls in the Triangle shop were always locked in like cattle throughout the working day. Had the doors been open, witness after witness testified, most of the victims, if not all, might have saved themselves.

The record of Harris and Blanck was brought to light. It was found that they had had about half a dozen fires in their establishment on various occasions prior to the great holocaust, and that in each of these fires the workers had a narrow escape from death. The trial lasted five weeks. The judge's charge to the jury lasted an hour. In that charge the judge, singularly enough, had nothing to say about the bolted lock, which really fixed the blame for the death of 147 persons. Harris and Blanck went free.

The other day Max Blanck was again arrested. He was found guilty of having the doors of his factory locked, as they were locked on the day of each fire. Justice was meted out to him. He was fined $20.

When Harris and Blanck were acquitted of the manslaughter charge at the first trial the alien parents and friends of 147 victims of the Triangle fire wept hysterically and declared that there is no justice for poor people in America, and that the law is here solely to protect the rich and oppress the poor. If this unbelievable report is true, what must they, what must we think?

There is a saying, "what the grave covers is speedily forgotten." But the 147 victims of the Triangle fire, now earth covered, should not be forgotten. They should serve as a reminder that, in spite of all recent crusades for safety in factories, there are still scores of thousands of girls in New York and elsewhere whose lives might be snuffed out any moment by locked factory doors. A heavy fine and a prison term for Max Blanck would have served as a warning to others of his kind that they cannot endanger lives of employés with impunity. The fine of $20 only strengthens Max Blanck and manufacturers of his type in the view they now hold, and which many of them privately express not only in actions but in words also, that the workers they employ are merely "rats," whose life or death nobody, no court or jury, takes very seriously.

HUSH PIETY.

A local minister is very much perturbed over the "cruelty of reformers," citing as an instance the publication by the committee of fifteen of a list of property owners whose property is used for dives or houses of prostitution. This zealous apologist is of opinion that these property owners are innocents injured "and are no more responsible than is an Englishman living in England and owning stock in a city railroad for the fact that an intoxicated motorman ran over and killed a child somewhere in Chicago."

The reverend gentleman's eloquence is in spirit of the English poet Clough's version of the decalogue, as for example:

Thou shalt not kill; but need not strive
Officiously to keep alive.

A quotation from his sermon is a gem of its kind:

As long as they live the men and women whose names were published as the owners of property used in the works of the devil will have to smart for it. They are now the targets for the shafts of ridicule and scorn that every ranter, and demagogue, and infidel cares to hurl, who hates religion and people with some means, and who gloats over the opportunity of clouding somebody's title to a good reputation.

To comment were to paint the lily.

AD INTERIM.

Proof Positive.

"My wife will know I drank too much at the banquet."

"Why, you are walking straight enough."

"But look at the bum umbrella I picked out."—Pittsburgh Post.

A Good Spender.

"Do you believe that money has germs on it?"

"It may have."

"What in the world shall we do?"

"Don't worry; it would take a mighty active germ to hop from the money to you during the short time that you keep what I give you."—Houston Post.

It Might Be.

"Your legal department must be very expensive."

"Yes," sighed the eminent trust magnate, "it is."

"Still, I suppose you have to maintain it?"

"Well, I don't know. Sometimes I think it would be cheaper to obey the law."—Publishers' Weekly.

The Busy Bee.

Jack Stanphill is having all kinds of trouble with his bees. He has hived one swarm five times. As a heroic measure he ducked the queen in water and clipped her wings, but as soon as he turned her out again the son-of-a-gun set out afoot.—Green Forest [Ark.] Tribune.

Thoughtless Expression.

"You say in this story," commented the copy reader, "that the heroine buried her face in her hands."

"Well," asked the story writer, "isn't that all right?"

"No. You can't have an ideal heroine with such large hands as that."—Washington Star.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

HOUSING.

CHARLES DICKENS said: "I have systematically tried to turn fiction to the good account of showing the preventable wretchedness and misery in which the masses of the people dwell and of expressing again and again the conviction, founded upon observation, that the reform of their habitations must precede all other reforms, and that without it all other reforms must fail."

The National Housing association prints the above quotation from Dickens as a part of its appeal for moral support. At the American Public Health association meeting no group was more energetic than that whose members believe that health cannot make much headway until housing conditions are improved.

In addition to the papers read Messrs. Veillier and Ihlder circulated a bulletin called "Housing Betterment." This bulletin is for the purpose of keeping others informed of gains made in different parts of the country.

From it we learn that Massachusetts last year passed an excellent tenement house law for towns and that a dozen or more towns are getting busy under it. It applies to small cities that correspond in size to Elgin, Alton, Bloomington, and other places that have an idea that they have no housing troubles.

We learn that Boston raised its standards last year. In Toronto Dr. Hastings and the city council are helping the Toronto Housing company in some plans for improved housing.

One of the most striking articles is the speech of Mr. Atwood of the Kansas City real estate board. That board held an annual banquet to which it invited two members of the public welfare board. When these two members charged that babies born in extremely poor homes had no chance to live to manhood and proved it by Kansas City figures and maps Mr. Atwood threw his prepared speech into the waste paper basket and spoke his sentiments.

The bulletin tells of Judge Kavanagh's decision that the Chicago health department had a right to stop the building of a house where it was necessary in order to protect citizens from insanitary conditions, and an injunction to restrain it was dissolved. The Chicago Association of Commerce has indorsed an appeal to be made to the city council to provide for a housing survey.

In Cincinnati the chamber of commerce is organizing two housing campaigns to erect and manage wage earners' dwellings. In Hamilton, Ont., the board of trade has a newly formed housing committee. One purpose of this committee is to petition the city council to pass a bylaw to guarantee the securities of the Hamilton Housing company.

New York has begun to think about its skyscraper problem. Borough President McAneny has appointed an advisory commission on the height, size, and arrangement of buildings. Two proposals are now under discussion:

1. That a uniform cornice line shall be established at 100 feet above cornice level, and that any portion of a building rising above this line shall be set back on all sides sufficiently so that it cannot interfere with the light and ventilation of the street and of neighboring buildings.
2. That the city be divided into districts, with greater restrictions in the outlying sections than in those already dominated by skyscrapers.

SUMMER CAUSES MOST DEATHS.

Miss W. writes: "Which causes the greatest suffering, the intense heat of summer or the cold of our winter? The reason: We have had quite a discussion on this subject and I said I would seek an answer from you."

REPLY.

If you mean individual discomfort it depends upon the individual. Some people are more uncomfortable from the cold of winter and others from the heat of summer. If you mean which causes most deaths, the answer is the heat of summer. However, we go to great trouble and spend much money to overcome the cold of winter, but we do little or nothing to overcome the heat of summer. If we lived out of doors and used no fires the cold of winter would cause more deaths. A comparison of the sickness and death rates from all causes shows winter to be the harder season in this climate. In the south the summer rates are the higher.

TRY VINEGAR AND WATER.

Miss L. B. B. writes: "I am employed in the office of a large factory and all of the factory employés recently contracted vermin, presumably through the lavatory. We used blue ointment to eradicate them and it left no ill effects in any case but my own. Wherever the ointment was applied on my skin I have a breaking out, the skin being red, inflamed, and itches intolerably. Can you tell me what it is and what I can do to relieve it?"

REPLY.

Probably you are exceptionally susceptible to mercury. Stop using it and try vinegar and water, half and half, or straight vinegar. Wash in soap and water and then in vinegar; or use a mixture of equal parts of kerosene and olive oil. Leave on for some time and then wash out with vinegar and water.

WATER AND VEGETABLES.

D. M. C. writes: "Is there any cure for constipation when the case is not of long standing, not more than a year at most? Which is the better treatment, an enema or pills (cascara), when the bowels won't move without the use of either one? At what address in Chicago can a Wasserman test be obtained and how long a time is required to make the test?"

1. Yes. Drink an abundance of water; eat abundantly of vegetables and fruit; eat wheat bran.
2. Neither.
3. There are many private laboratories. Have your physician direct you to one. About one day.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1913: By the Brentwood Company.]

LEWIS HARCOURT, British secretary of state for the colonies, and married to Miss Mary Burns of New York, niece of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, has just given his name to a harbor which is destined to become the principal seaport of the entire west coast of Africa.

The west coast has been until now lamentably deficient in this respect, and there is no doubt that the lack of any harbor facilities has contributed to retard the development of the west coast of the dark continent, and also of the hinterland.

One would have thought that the whole coast line had been explored, but, to the amazement of everybody, Lieut. Hughes, R. N., commanding the English government yacht Ivy, while cruising along the west coast, near where the river Bonny runs into the sea, discovered a creek not shown on any map or chart.

Steaming up this creek and around a bend, preceded by a motor launch taking soundings, the exploring party suddenly came upon a series of rocky cliffs extending for several miles, averaging fifty feet above high water, and showing a depth right alongside of no less than seventy feet of water.

The party managed with some difficulty to scale the cliffs, and, after cutting through some almost impenetrable vegetation twelve feet in height, encountered natives who, while friendly, had never been visited there by white men.

The creek now turns out to be one of the numerous outlets of the river Bonny to the sea, but at the same time the deepest one. The rock has been surveyed and cleared, and is at present being converted into the terminus of the Nigerian railroad, a whole town having sprung up, with wharves, railroad shops, warehouses, etc.—everything needed, indeed, to develop the place into a great seaport, with a wonderfully protected harbor, where vessels of the heaviest tonnage can come right alongside the wharves instead of being obliged to load and unload their freight several miles out at sea, after being conveyed with difficulty through the heavy surf of the Atlantic ocean.

The harbor is a wonderfully sheltered one, with a comparatively narrow entrance. It was that which led Lieut. Hughes, on first discovering it, to believe that it was a mere creek.

The new railroad from Port Harcourt will be 600 miles in length, and will extend to the Udi coal fields, thence to the Bunue river, along the edge of the Bauchi plateau, connecting at the Kaduna river with the existing system of Nigerian railroads.

Lewis Harcourt was reluctant to yield to the suggestion of Gen. Sir Frederick Lugard, the governor general of Nigeria, that this wonderful West African harbor should be called by his name.

However, King George, on hearing about the matter—he is keenly interested in the enterprise—insisted that it should be known as Port Harcourt, and thus Mr. Harcourt's administration of the colonial department is destined to be rendered memorable for all time.

It is regarded as a special honor when the British crown permits the name of one of its statesmen to be thus bestowed upon a new city. Queen Victoria was considered to have greatly distinguished in this fashion the late Earl of Kimberley when the authorized him during his tenure of the secretaryship of state for the colonies to give his name to the city of Kimberley, now one of the great centers of the diamond mining industry in South Africa.

The real economic and political metropolis of the huge commonwealth of Australia—that is, Melbourne—is indebted for its name to that Lord Melbourne who was the first prime minister of Queen Victoria's reign, as well as her mentor and instructor in statecraft.

Halifax, in Nova Scotia, owes its appellation to the second Viscount Halifax, who was president of the board of trade and plantations, a board which has since developed into the colonial department at Whitehall.

Wellington, in New Zealand, takes its name from the Iron Duke who won for England the battle of Waterloo, and Auckland and Canterbury, in the same dominion, from Lords Canterbury and Auckland.

Lewis Harcourt is now commemorated in a similar fashion—the only man to be thus honored since Lord Kimberley.

Lady Molesworth, who met with such an extraordinary death on Friday last, succumbing within a quarter of an hour to the sting of a wasp on her jugular vein, had been for the last forty years one of the best known American women in London society married to Englishmen of title.

Hailing from St. Louis, Mo., and daughter of the late Gen. Marsh Frost of the United States army, she was just turned 20 when she married the 22 year old Sir Lewis Molesworth, eleventh holder of a baronetcy bestowed by William III. upon Sir Hender Molesworth for his services as captain general of Jamaica, and chief of the younger branch of a family headed by Viscount Molesworth and founded by Sir Walter Molesworth, one of the companions of Edward I. in his crusade in the Holy Land.

Whereas the Lords Molesworth have been identified with the counties of Rutland and Huntingdon, and have now their country seat in the Isle of Thanet, the Molesworth baronets have made their homes since the reign of Queen Elizabeth in Cornwall, where they have been established at Trewarthenick for over 300 years.

It is at Trewarthenick that Lady Molesworth has met death. But where she will be chiefly remembered is in London, her house in Great Cumberland place being renowned throughout more than a generation for its hospitalities, and also for its card playing.

This was especially the case during the lifetime of her husband, Sir Lewis Molesworth, who was extremely fond of cards and the hero of some sensational wins at Brook's, and the Turf club, of which institution he was a pillar.

Lady Molesworth also shared her husband's fondness for racing, and when he kept a stable took an active interest in its management and its successes, which were numerous.

Clever, well read, brilliant, sunny tempered, full of life and spirits, and always perfectly dressed, retaining to the last her good looks, she was a general favorite, her invitations being sought after. Among her frequent guests were King Edward, when Prince of Wales, and his two sons.

Sir Lewis represented the Bodmin division of Cornwall for a number of years in parliament on the Conservative ticket; has a number of relatives of his name married to Americans, among them Col. Arthur Molesworth, whose wife is a daughter of the late Fourney Adams of Augusta, Me., and had as one of his immediate predecessors in the family honors Sir William Molesworth, secretary of state for the colonies, one of the most cantankerous and quarrelsome men who has ever held cabinet office.

Sir William began early in that line. He remains on record as the only undergraduate of the University of Cambridge who ever challenged his tutor to a duel.

He went over to Boulogne with his seconds and his pistols to await developments. The tutor, however, stayed at Cambridge, and Sir William Molesworth did not—that is to say, he was "sent down," or expelled, for sending a cartel to a college don.

He founded the London Review, of which John Stuart Mill was an original editor; quarreled with him, as with everybody else, and succumbed at the early age of 52 to an attack of jaundice brought on by a fit of anger.

MR. DARWIN, who knows how to play golf as well as how to write about it, has pleasantly but plainly indicated that there is a difference between a real golf course and the usual links to be found hereabouts. Any course on which a player can slice or hook badly without penalty is fit only for lady golfers or for males who are content to slop around in 90-something with nothing worthier in view than winning a "syndicate" from two or three other duffers.

ANYBODY can drive a golf ball a considerable distance, but not every one can drive it in a straight line. The man who CAN do it should be rewarded with a good lie for his second; the man who can't should experience the terrors of the pit and the jungle. After a season of continuous punishment he may do one of two things—quit the game or learn how to play it.

PAVING MONTICELLO AVENUE.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—In reply to your inquiry, proceedings were started last May for paving Monticello avenue from Indiana steet to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, but nothing has been done in the way of preparing estimate of cost or holding public hearing, for the reason that during the construction season our engineering force devote their time to work under contract, in process of construction.

After the construction season is over to estimate of cost will be prepared on the proposed improvement above mentioned, and we will be ready to hold public hearing. Notices will be sent out when the date is set for the hearing.

There is no possibility that the street can be paved this year, but we will hurry the matter as much as we can, to the end that the street may be paved next year.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I live at 5311 Lake avenue. Across the alley is a smaller building occupied in part by a grocery store. Quite a while ago during a storm, part of their chimney was blown off, and now when they burn their refuse, dirty black smoke blows right into our bedroom, which is right across the alley. This smoke is very annoying, and at times we are afraid to leave the window open on account of the sparks that come from the chimney. Can any steps be taken to have this fixed? C. M.

The matter has been taken up with the owner of the building, who has requested a few days' time in which to arrange for a steel extension on the stack to make it high enough to carry the gases above the surrounding buildings. The matter will be followed up from this office until the work is completed. O. MONNETT, Smoke Inspector.

Section 2 of the act of congress approved March 2, 1907, entitled, "An act in reference to the expatriation of citizens and their protection abroad," reads as follows:

"That any American citizen shall be deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state.

"When any naturalized citizen shall have resided for two years in the foreign state from which he came, or for five years in any other foreign state it shall be presumed that he has ceased to be an American citizen, and the place of his general abode shall be deemed his place of residence during said years: Provided, however, that such presumption may be overcome on the presentation of satisfactory evidence to a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the department of state may prescribe. NEW MUNICIPAL BEACHES.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly inform me if the city bought the North Shore and Wilson bathing beaches? I have been told that the old buildings are going to be torn down. Am I rightly informed? E. C. GMELIN.

The city of Chicago has purchased all of the Gault property from a point 231 feet north of Montrose avenue, comprising a frontage of 538 feet on Clarendon avenue, as well as the Allmendinger property consisting of 246.25 feet fronting on Clarendon avenue, both tracts running east to the shore of Lake Michigan. All of the buildings and improvements on the land in question are to be removed by the city and that matter is now in the hands of the small parks commission, of which Ald. Beifuss is chairman. The writer is satisfied that a municipal bathing beach will be established at that point so as to be ready for operation at the opening of the bathing season next summer. PHILIP J. McKENNA,

Anonymous communications will not be printed.

IGNORANCE OF HISTORY.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There is truly a call for a course of study on the war of 1812 when one is confronted with such communications as the recent one beginning with the unpatriotic false words "the war of 1812 was a disgrace to America," and, while there are some who through their ardent militarism seek lessons from its weak spots, yet there can be no excuses for such unpardonable lack of information, not to speak of the unpatriotism, in such attacks. One can but feel that a heart must be dead indeed to facts of history when even the stirring memories of this centennial year fail to be aroused.

It is most unfortunate to find one ignorant of all the results of the war of 1812, which established its real independence. In Illinois especially such words are near blasphemy, as it not only had its 1812 Fort Dearborn tragedy but the soldiers and sailors of 1812 contributed so largely to its settlement that our last legislature and Democratic governor have deemed them worthy a special memorial.

There is also no excuse for such ignorant disregard of history, with the organizations of the Daughters of 1812 and the Sons of 1812—both active in celebrations of their anniversaries. The Hon. James E. Brown, son of 1812, has compiled a most timely and helpful finding list of books on the war of 1812 in our three noted libraries.

M. ELIZABETH C. WALKER.

ONE OF THE MYSTERIES.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am at a loss to know what satisfaction the passenger on our city railways gains in signing his name as a witness to an accident, besides the friendly help in exonerating either the motorman or the other party concerned with his or her testimony. This especially in view of Sidney Osnoski's action with reference to the boycott on people who either sue or testify in suit against the company. The average man is willing to testify as to his version of the accident, but if it is without thanks and the odds on the other hand are so great (which is purely a selfish and mean act of low minded officials to bribe witnesses and victims by threat), I cannot see any reason why I or any one else should put themselves out to that extent.

"IGNORANT."

DEAL WITH SEXES EQUALLY.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—When Harper's Weekly and THE TRIBUNE point to the sexual culpability of women as well as men, a big and serious truth is voiced. This makes the Mann law, now being applied to the Diggs-Caminetti case, ineffective. Why do adequately experienced rescue workers among fallen and erring women so commonly tell us that their efforts at restoring them to normal life seldom succeed? If these women only were "slaves," would they not hail liberty, especially when means of complete rescue are offered them?

Are women sexually innocent and helpless who by dress, manners, and conversation, on or off the street, are in these days straining their nerves to appear tempting to men? Are the luxurious sex novels, the suggestive theatricals, the notoriously loose society pleasures avoided more by women than by men? The editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, commenting on the present day dress of women, boldly said, and truly, that it has grown difficult to tell the difference between the good and the bad woman on the street.

Ah, no, culpable as the men are, their helpmates in private or legalized vice are jointly culpable. The man who becomes a tempter is no worse than the woman who allows herself to become tempted. To make a distinction here is rank hypocrisy. The decent and clean woman always seems to be able to escape "slavery." The other plays with decency first and then often ends by falling into indecency, scandals, and "slavery."

The Mann law and all laws of similar import need a thorough revision. They are eminently unjust in their application and therefore ineffective in this "white slave" question. Bad women should be dealt with just as severely as bad men.

PUSH MOVEMENT FOR GOOD ROADS

Delegates from Many State Meet in Detroit for Annual Congress.

GET FEDERAL APPROVAL

Secretary of Agriculture Houston Outlines Aid Government Will Offer.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Five thousand delegates representing every state in the union are in Detroit today to attend the opening of the third annual American good roads congress.

Officials of the American Highway association, American Automobile association and Michigan State Good Roads association, joint sponsors of the congress, say they expect more than 8,000 registrations by tomorrow. The convention will continue until Saturday.

Although there have been two previous conventions for a similar purpose, this is the largest in point of attendance. It is the first that the government has officially recognized. The head of the department of public roads, Logan Waller Page, who also is president of the American Highway association, will preside over the congress, as the office of public roads and the department of agriculture together are responsible for an elaborate exhibit showing the development of road building.

Houston Talks of Federal Plans.

David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, was the chief speaker today. In his address he said the policy of the department would be to aid the construction of interstate roads, but he did not favor federal aid in the construction of transcontinental highways, hinting that the possibilities of graft were too great in the financing of such long routes. He said the attitude of congress shown by its recent legislation indicated that federal aid would go to the construction of post roads which are essential in economic production by farmers and in decreasing the pleasure and benefits of farm life.

In his outline of the essentials to federal aid he assumed the government would assist on states being smallest units which it would deal. He also said that states should select the roads to improve, that a federal agency should reserve the right to approve the plan of work, supervise the construction, and hold the right of inspection, and that there should be an automatic check on the demands to be made by congress.

President Wilson Sends Message.

President Wilson will not attend the convention. He sent the following letter to Page:

White House, Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Mr. Dear Mr. Page: May I not convey through you to the members of the American road congress, which is to assemble in Detroit, my sincere regret that I cannot be present and express, at least the very deep interest which I feel in the whole matter of adequate road building in the United States? Every man who wishes to see this great country make the most of must sympathize with the efforts now being made to weave its parts together by good roads. Please present my cordial greetings to the congress.

Thought of Suicide; Gets a Good Job

Carrie Burt

GIRL WHO THOUGHT OF SUICIDE TO START WORK THIS MORNING.

Carrie Burt, for First Time in Several Weeks, to Have Congenial Job, Good Wages, and an Education.

Carrie Burt will go to work this morning. It is the first time Carrie has had any such experience in several weeks. This time, however, she is getting real money for her work and the work itself is not hard or tiresome.

Carrie, accompanied by a TRIBUNE reporter, visited two concerns yesterday, one in the loop, the other on the west side. The latter concern is a nice place to work, with decent treatment, fair wages, and good sanitary conditions, but Carrie just fell in love with the other place.

After her work is through, at 5:30, she may go to the Patterson institute in the Y. M. C. A. building and take up a special course in anything she desires. Carrie had never gone beyond third grade, and she wants an education almost as much as she needs money.

A week ago Carrie was thinking of getting away from it all. She wasn't particular as to whether it ended in the river or the lake. She was discouraged, out of work, and with only $4 assets and liabilities of $75.

But she couldn't bring herself to commit suicide. She came to THE TRIBUNE and told her story. The job, the education, offers of help from all over the city, money, and clothing were the result.

NEW SNARL PUT IN FUNK CASES

Woman's Attorney Objects to Judge Pam, Who Then Separates Settings.

MOVE CALLED "OUTRAGE."

Prosecutor Denounces Prejudice Charge Against Jurist; Ultimate Trial in Doubt.

The conspiracy case against Daniel Donahoe, an attorney; Isaac Stiefel, a private detective, and Aileen Heppner, accused of attempting to defame Clarence S. Funk, again was treated as the "orphan of the courts" yesterday, when an attempt was made to take jurisdiction away from Judge Pam.

After the case had been refused by eight judges and two others had been objected to by the defendants, Judge Pam was selected by agreement as the last remaining jurist in Cook county to try it. When the case was called it was believed the efforts to find a judge were at an end. H. P. Simonton, attorney for Aileen Heppner, however, asked a change of venue. He declared Judge Pam to be prejudiced against his client. This unexpected move plainly nettled Judge Pam and Assistant State's Attorney Bell.

Calls Bias Charge Outrage.

"This is an outrage," Mr. Bell declared. "It was agreed before Judge Brentano that Judge Pam would be acceptable if he would try the case. This is a shady trick for delay and is an insult to the bench of Cook county."

"I am afraid I shall have to grant the motion," Judge Pam added, then Assistant State's Attorney Bell suddenly turned the tables upon the defendants. "Grant the motion, your honor, but only as to the defendant, Heppner," Bell said. "The others should remain here for trial."

This was strenuously objected to by Attorney Simonton, but Judge Pam made his ruling according to Bell's suggestion. The Heppner case was sent back to Judge Brentano for reassignment.

The other attorneys for the defense then began another fight for delay, which proved partly successful. Judge Pam had ordered all motions to be made on Monday, so the cases could be ready for trial on Wednesday and a special venire of 100 had been summoned. Attorney Hartnett, representing Donahoe, declared he wished to move to quash the indictment and also to ask for a separate trial for his client.

Asks New Delay.

"I won't be ready until Wednesday morning," he argued. "I have not had time to prepare my arguments."

OSBORNE DONS PRISON GARB

New York Reformer Begins Self-Imposed Term as Experiment.

ENTERED AS A "REGULAR."

Seeks to Learn Treatment Accorded to Society's Outcasts.

Auburn, N. Y., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Thomas Mott Osborne, reformer and philanthropist, also chairman of the state commission on prison reform, entered Auburn prison this morning, lost his identity, and is now inside the walls as Tom Brown.

His transformation within a few hours into a "vic," accomplished at his own behest in order that he may study prison conditions first hand, is complete so far as physical appearance and his own obedience to every rule of the institution is concerned.

Enters as Regular Convict.

He walked into the prison office this morning in time to be put through the routine of entry with Harry Mitchell, a receiver of stolen goods from Jefferson county, who came here to do a "bit" of two years and seven months.

Mr. Osborne, who assumed the alias of Thomas Brown, was bathed, examined by the prison physicians, outfitted in a suit of gray with gray cap, prison shoes, heavy, coarse socks, and underwear, and was assigned to the "idle company," convicts, whose temperamental disabilities prevent their being put into regular jobs because of their tendency to make trouble. With this gang he worked part of the day moving furniture, transporting supplies, and doing various errands and tasks about the buildings.

Spends First Night in Cell.

Tonight he was locked into a cell and after taking his supper ration of half a loaf of bread and a tin cup of coffee.

The prison authorities at his request decline to allow any communication from the outside, and he is absolutely cut off until the period of his experiment is over.

The convicts in Auburn prison have taken Mr. Osborne's experiment in the spirit he pleaded for yesterday, and little curiosity has been shown outside of the group of men in which he is working.

MISS JULIA C. LATHROP ILL.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 29.—Julia C. Lathrop, head of the National Children's bureau, has been ill at her home here for a week. It was feared she had typhoid fever, but tests do not indicate the presence of that disease, and her physicians believe her illness is due simply to overwork and the strain of travel. Her temperature was lower today.

DAY and NIGHT SERVICE

TIME—often a vital factor in preparing advertising—never finds the Barnes-Crosby organization asleep. Twenty-four hours a day, without a break, our big Chicago plant is turning out quality engravings with clock-like precision.

In the shipping department a chart shows an hourly record of jobs which must be put on fast trains to reach the big eastern publications—ON TIME.

How 24-Hour Service Works

A large mail order house returned an O.K'd. pencil sketch for a full page ad to us at noon Saturday with the statement that it must run in a Monday morning paper. By 6 P.M. the drawing had been completed and sent to the shop, where the NIGHT FORCE took it up. By 9 A.M. Sunday morning the completed zinc etching—the best that could be produced—was delivered ready for printing.

Phone, write or wire—a B.-C. man will call upon you at any time and consult with you without cost.

Repeating Shotguns

When it comes to buying a shotgun, no sportsman who selects a Winchester repeater will make a mistake. While comparatively low-priced, Winchester shotguns are carefully made of the best of material. In shooting and lasting qualities, they are not surpassed, even by the high-priced foreign guns. The Grand American Handicap at flying targets, the greatest of all wing shooting contests, was won this year by a Winchester repeating shotgun. Pitted against it were guns costing from ten to twenty times as much, but none of them outshot the low-priced Winchester. Winchester repeaters are made in three different models and in 10, 12, 16 and 20 gauges. Look one over at your dealer's. They are

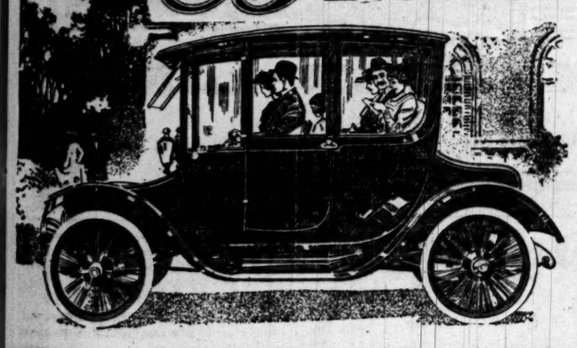
The Borland Electric



The Car in Which Your Family Feels at Perfect Ease

This roomy, silent-running Borland Electric Coupe is, first of all, a family car. Its five comfortably-cushioned, forward-facing seats make riding about in all seasons delightfully convenient for any or all of the family. Luxuriously appointed as milady's boudoir, yet dignified enough for the most manly man, this is the one electric that pleases every one.

Safe for the most timid woman to drive; its horizontal lever control, from either the front or the rear seat, is simplicity itself—especially in congested city traffic. The Borland Electric is the car that combines graceful lines with sturdy construction—you'll like its clean-cut, thoroughbred air. Exclusive Borland Electric arrangement of brake levers eliminates the floor opening where cold draughts enter in most electrics.

Five-passenger coupe; either front or rear drive; six speeds forward and three reverse. Regular equipment includes "Exide" batteries; standard makes of cushion or special pneumatic electric tires. Price, $2,900.

The Borland Electric is its own best salesman. No undue solicitation. PHONE CALUMET 3030 TODAY for a demonstration drive.

GENERAL MANAGER REPLACES MAYOR

Several Towns Accept New Plan to End Waste of Time and Money.

GREAT AID FOR SUBURBS.

Officials in Most Villages Near Large Cities Spend Time in Latter.

tendent went to work Mr. Adams has received scores of letters from town officials in various parts of the country asking for information and advice.

There is even evidence that other suburbs of Chicago are seriously considering the general manager plan as a way out of their present difficulties. Within a few weeks Mr. Adams has addressed a gathering of men at Glencoe, on the north shore, on the advantages of the general manager plan—particularly as adapted to the typical suburban community.

And of course River Forest and the rest are simply following what experts say is the best plan for city government which has yet been discovered in America.

ONLY the other day the "highbrows" were all for the commission form of government—as many of them still are. But under that arrangement, if a commissioner, vested with practically supreme authority in one great branch of the government, goes to the bad, it is a difficult matter to get a good man in his place. He may, of course, be subject to the recall—if that is part of the plan. But the recall, under the best conditions, is a slow, formal, and expensive matter. It involves the signing of petitions, a canvass of the city, and the setting up of all the machinery of a regular election. Even then a bad man may be sustained by the popular vote.

If the general manager employed by a city council or board of trustees makes too many mistakes he may be dismissed just as promptly and with as little ceremony as the humblest street cleaner or clerk in the collector's office. There is also one great practical advantage. Any city council or village board of trustees, anywhere, is empowered to employ and fix the salary of such employés as it may deem necessary. It may therefore hire a general manager and put him to work without the long delay necessary to get a state constitution amended or special authority granted by the state legislature.

ACTING in that way, several years ago the mayor and city council of Staunton, Va., turned over practically all their authority to a general manager and found that under the new plan one dollar of public money went as far as two dollars had gone before.

In June, 1912, the city of Sumter, S. C., went a step farther. It got a special act passed through the state legislature, and in pursuance of it elected three commissioners, in whom was vested all the legislative and executive powers of the city government, with instructions to employ a city manager at a good salary and put him to work. So far Sumter, with its 10,000 people, is more than satisfied with its experiment.

Now comes Dayton, O., with 125,000 population, and after a couple of heated campaigns adopts the Sumter plan in its entirety. In May last, taking advantage of the amendment to the state constitution, the city voted overwhelmingly in favor of the adoption of a new charter. In August a charter, prepared by a citizens' committee of fifteen, and providing for the election of five commissioners, who shall appoint a general manager, was submitted to the people for approval and ratified by an overwhelming vote.

IN November next the first five commissioners will be elected, and on Jan. 1, 1914, Dayton will pass under their control. The initiative, referendum, and recall are incorporated in the new charter, and it is provided that no party emblems shall appear on the ballots.

Meanwhile in Denver, with 215,000 people, commission government is being tried with certain changes and additions which make it more far reaching than any other experiment in the country. In the Colorado metropolis five commissioners have taken over all the legislative and executive powers and duties of all the former officials of both the city and county of Denver, including some thirty officials and boards who were formerly elected.

Even the titles of the departments over which the five commissioners respectively reign are suggestive of the new spirit which seems to animate the new form of municipal government: one of the most important of the five is called the department of social welfare!

CHINESE BANDITS LOOT TOWN

Take Tsaoyang and Capture Eight Foreigners.

LUTHERAN MISSION THERE.

U. S. Charge Demands Protection and Republic Sends Troops.

PEKING, Sept. 29.—A missionary's telegram received at Hankow today from Fancheng, in the north of the province of Hu Peh, says:

"On Friday bandits looted and still hold the town of Tsaoyang. Eight foreigners, according to apparently authentic reports, were captured by them."

There is a mission at Tsaoyang belonging to the Lutheran Brethren, and composed of two men and four women. Their names, according to the latest records, are The Rev. Reinholt Kilen and wife, the Rev. M. Wordahl, Miss Ida Waler, Miss Caroline Rasmusen, and Miss Marie Harstad. The headquarters of the missionary society are at Wahpeton, N. D. It is possible these missionaries are among the foreigners captured.

U. S. Charge Asks Protection.

Edward T. Williams, chargé d'affaires of the American legation, made representations to the Chinese office today calling for the protection of the American missionaries.

At the request of J. Paul Jameson, acting American consul at Hankow, Gen. Li Yuen Heng, vice president of the Chinese republic, is sending troops to the district, but Tsaoyang is a long distance from Hankow. It is hoped the Chinese brigands will respect the captured foreigners.

The mission station at Fancheng belonging to the Hauges Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran Synod of America is officered by five men and six women. It is not known if it is in danger.

Mission Also at Fancheng.

The latest list of the members there contains the names of the Rev. Mr. Stocktadt and wife, R. W. Anderson, M. A. M. D., Miss Olive Hednefield, Miss Carrie Olson, Miss Anna Nelson, and Miss Anna Lee. The headquarters of the mission in America are at Red Wing, Minn.

PUBLISHER SUED BY REPORTER.

Charles J. Gotthart of "The Tribune" Seeks $10,000 Damages from Frederick S. Mordaunt.

Charles J. Gotthart, reporter for THE TRIBUNE, sued Frederick S. Mordaunt, president of the National Railway Publishing company for $10,000 in the Circuit court yesterday, charging slander.

According to Gotthart's attorney, Mordaunt accused Gotthart of being responsible for the circulation of a story involving his alleged relations with Josephine Sellwood, 17 years old. The girl at first accused Mordaunt of persecuting her, later retracted her story, and it was then that Mordaunt accused Gotthart of being the instigator of his troubles.

Gotthart at the time flatly denied the charges of Mordaunt.

News of the Theaters.

An Evening in a Sexual Dissecting Room.

"DAMAGED GOODS."

A play by Eugene Brieux. Presented in Chicago, Sept. 29, 1913, at the Blackstone theater, by Richard Bennett and his company.

The cast:

George Dupont	Richard Bennett
Doctor	Louis Bennison
Henriette	Olive Templeton
Mme. Dupont	Maud Milton
Nurse	Florence Short
Loches	Joseph Weber
Woman	Elsa Berold
Man	George F. Moran
Girl	Adrienne Morrison

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

AN imposing but somewhat cheerful convocation of sex hegienists and vigilantes assembled at the Blackstone theater last evening to ponder a performance of "Damaged Goods," Mr. Brieux's exposition of the ills which accompany venereal disease. Not at all dismayed by the emphatic frankness of the discussion, they witnessed instead of the expected garrulous and undramatic colloquay a play with the commercial "punch" inserted at the effective juncture, and a comparatively happy ending. The event, therefor ,is not to be described in the phrase of Dr. Johnson as one of "inspissated gloom." Aside from the excitement afforded by the sensational incidents there was relief in the discovery, new to many perhaps, that it is possible to "gild the brown horror and dispel the night" which has hitherto enshrouded it. "Damaged Goods," it seems, is not so much a campaign against the disease itself as it is against the presumably infrequent custom of marriage within six months of infection.

Among those present at the performance was my colleague, Dr. Evans, whose superior equipment in such matters will relieve me of comment concerning the value of such an exposé in the theater. His prayer, like that of Ajax, is for light. Certainly there is something in the theory that knowledge is synonymous with right living, despite the wail of the Latin poet quoted here before that, "I know the better and follow the worse path." But one is tempted to suspect that "Damaged Goods" is an eloquent contradiction of its own plea for enlightenment. The play's protagonist, George Dupont, is as thoroughly and dramatically informed of the coming disaster as any one in the audience of "Damaged Goods" ever will be. Yet, conversant as he is with the catastrophe ahead of him, he blithely proceeds to ignore the lesson and rush to his doom. In the words of the ancient maxim, "We give advice, but we do not inspire conduct."

Let us see just what we get in the way of a warning from "Damaged Goods." Here is a young man loathesomely afflicted with the venereal plague insisting to his doctor that despite his condition he will be married within four months of the time of his contamination. Before his visit to the physician he has had the healthy man's unspeakable horror of the disease, and, as they all do, he threatens to shoot himself. "I know what to do," says he, and raises his hands to his temple. The doctor gives him comfort. One out of every seven men is similarly troubled, and the sickness is a companion with which one can live. In Paris there are a hundred thousand former syphilitics who are sound and in good health. "You have the good luck," he says, to have contracted just that one among serious diseases which we have the most effective means of combating." The patient takes hope and asks if he can beget healthy children. "Perfectly healthy," the doctor reassures him, if he takes reasonable care of himself for the proper time—three or four years. There is a bare chance, of course, that the remedy will be fallible. The doctor estimates these exceptions once at one in a hundred and again at five in twenty, and in these cases the result would be frightful. But he is most encouraging. "I give you every hope," he continues. "I ask only a delay in your marriage three or four years."

The young man selected by M. Brieux as his red flag is not the plausible, every day chap that a more reasonable propagandist might have chosen as his horrible example. He is, in fact, a preposterous abnormality. The doctor has cited to him the hideous consequences of a marriage in less than three years, and has on horror's head horrors accumulated. The patient persists that he will be married within a month. An odious and deadful panorama of foul miseries and disfigurations is unrolled before him, but still will he be married at once. He is fond of his betrothed, and, besides, she has money. Again a monstrous inventory of calamaties is read—"children humpbacked, deformed, clubfooted, harelipped, rickety, with heads too big and bodies too small, with congenital hip disease." Dupont is not to be deterred. "Good-by, sir," says he, and in six months he is married. All the evils predicted by the physician come to pass.

So it seems that George is as much a sermon on imbecility as on poison in the blood. At least, we cannot quite square his actions with any theory of plausibility either in life or in art. Not content with marriage alone he indulges the unbelievable folly of having a child—all in the face of the good doctor's informative harangue. If he is not an imbecile he is in himself an emphasis of the futility of such plays as "Damaged Goods." The warning he gets from the doctor is infinitely more powerful than that which audiences receive from M. Brieux, and yet it is "counsel as profitless as water in a sieve."

The play is fortified by the excellent acting of Mr. Bennett, the star, in the ungrateful rôle of the victim—a delicately lightened portrayal of that carnal cad. Also by the playing of the others, particularly Miss Olive Templeton as the wife—from the charming ingenuousness of the second act's beginning until its frightful finish, which she achieves with startling power. This second act is rather absurd in its labored ramifications, the quarrel with the nurse who holds the family secret being a bit too improbable. But it is the most theatrically effective of the three, with its contrasts and climax. The doctor, in the person of Mr. Louis Bennison, is impressive, though occasionally actorial, and Miss Adrienne Morrison is vivid as the tainted young lady of the unique revenge. Perhaps the most graphic portrait of the performance is a shockingly pathologic portrait by Miss Elsa Berold—a drab epitome of the ravages of the scourge. They are all good.

Preceding the perforamnce Mr. Clifford Roe spoke in compliment of the play, and the Rev. Rufus G. White read Mr. Bernard Shaw's peculiarly evasive preface.

Physician's Views on "Damaged Goods."

BY DR. W. A. EVANS.

THE play, "Damaged Goods," is in three acts. The first is a dialogue between the physician and the young man, who, though infected with venereal disease, insists on going on with his marriage.

In the second it develops that the child of the young man has inherited syphilis. This becomes known first to the grandmother of the baby, then to the wet nurse, and finally to the mother.

In the third act the physician, in an extensive dialogue, tells of venereal disease and immorality to the young man's father, a leading member of congress.

The opportunity for acting of the usual type comes only in the second act. It is the part of the dramatic critics to analyze that act.

The first and third acts are constructed so as to give the physician an opportunity to tell the audience a great many facts and to do a great deal of philosophizing and moralizing on the subjects of venereal disease inheritance, eugenics, immorality, the sex question, and ignorance of physiology and biology, as well as ignorance of sociology.

The outstanding fact was that the audience hung on the first and third acts. The dialogue was very wordy, very preachy; in fact, very everything that could naturally be expected to send the play to the cannery.

What happened? When the dialogue was on the coughing stopped, there was no sound of creaking chairs, there was no going in or coming out, no shifting in the seats, no noise of any sort, no applause, no laughter, no sobs—just the fearful quiet of an absorbing, thrilling, binding interest—the fear lest some word be lost, or, worse still, be misheard or misunderstood.

What does it mean? It means that authoritative information on the subject discussed in the play has more power of appeal than the most dramatic acting of the most dramatic situations by the most capable of actors.

And .the meaning that lies back of that meaning is that the people will no longer be party to a conspiracy of silence. As I see it, this, with other instruments now in our hands, will presently put venereal disease into the list of disappearing diseases from which it will in time pass into the list of disappeared diseases.

The hundreds who were present at this opening performance and the hundreds of thousands who will see the play during the run want to know whether the facts given in the play are correct. They are—at least three are—somewhat controversial, but the discoveries since the play was written have confirmed the statements of Brieux.

There is some controversy as to whether a father can infect his child without infecting the mother. In the dialogue between the physician and the father, when the man of medicine is persauding the father to have the wife take back her husband, he says, "She has nothing more to fear," indicating that she was already infected, although she did not know it, and probably there was no sign by which she could have known it—at least no test known at the time the play was written.

As to whether a wet nurse can be infected by an infected baby, there is controversy, but the discoveries of recent years are settling this controversy so as to confirm the position taken by Brieux.

Some of the effects of inherited syphilis as given by Brieux might be denied by authorities, but no one will say that the author has made the effects less terrible than they are. The listener will be wise to accept the facts as they are given, not dimming them by splitting hairs.

The entire town, or as many of them as can get in the theater, will be wise if they will see this play and soak up as much information and as many sound principles as they are capable of carrying away.

The best possible answer to those who believe that such subjects should not be presented in the theater is the preface to the three plays by Shaw. A part of this preface —that referring particularly to immorality and venereal diseases—was very well read by the Rev. R. A. White. Shaw tells us, "It is only the man who has no message, who is too fastidious to beat the drum at the door of his booth."

The constant play upon the theme, "Don't know," was a concession to the demand for the dramatic. So was much in the second act. But that was about all the beating of the drum at the door there was.

In the main Brieux sticks to his work. The people must be educated. Doctors' books are not equal to the task. The newspapers and the stage must come to the aid of the people.

He says: "The common sense of the matter is that a public danger needs a public warning, and the more public the place the more effective the warning. I would then advise everybody to see the play and also to read the three plays, and, also, and, by all means, the preface by Bernard Shaw."

Of course, as a physician, I do not feel like closing without saying amen to what was said in the play about the harm done by advertising doctors. And, finally, that to a mere layman in the dramatic line, the acting was exceptionally good.

Two Revolting Plays Discarded.

New York, Sept. 29.—The disgust felt by the audience that had been invited to see a private dress rehearsal of the program of short plays with which the Princess theater was to have begun its season Saturday evening resulted in upsetting the plans of the managers and causing the opening of the playhouse to be postponed for one week.

An announcement was made at the theater that the people in control of it were afraid to incur the resentment which seemed certain to follow a public performance of a one act piece entitled "Russia" that had been imported from Paris, and "The Eternal Mystery," written by George Jean Nathan of this city.

No sign of what must have been the feeling of the invited audience was shown during the rehearsal, but immediately afterward friends of the managers who were present advised them not to risk incurring the public's resentment by producing the two plays.

Three of the plays given at rehearsal will be retained when the Princess finally opens. They are "The Bride" and "En Deshabille," both of which are risque short comedies, and "The Mask," which at the rehearsal was as revolting as either "Russia" or "The Eternal Mystery," although it was free from the undisguised blasphemy of the last two.

The scene of "Russia" was a brothel in St. Petersburg. A Jewish priest, made to represent unmistakably the Savior, is driven into the place by Russian soldiers. One of the inmates, who has become a repentant Magdalene, attempts to conceal him under her bed, but he is discovered, dragged out, and crucified to the wall by the soldiers. While dying he speaks the words of the Savior on the cross.

"The Eternal Mystery" showed the dying moments of a consumptive infidel. After uttering blasphemies against Christianity and the Bible, he mistakes the shadow of his child's kite cast on the wall for the miracle of the appearance of the cross and then dies repentant.

When the Princess theater first opened last spring its program carried an announcement which indicated the kind of plays its intended to produce by warning the public that the patronage of immature persons was not desired.

Two New Plays.

A play, similar in theme to "Damaged Goods" and called "The Leper," will be produced in Pittsburgh at the P. H. theater Oct. 13. The author is George Siekel managing editor of the Pitsburgh Volksblatt.

Henry Blossom, too, has become a crusader, and will produce in Pittsburgh this week a serious play, entitled "Brought Home." It has to do with rich reformers who rent their property for evil purposes.

Movie Show at Press Club.

A score or more of aviators who have been killed while flying will live again in the "movies" Thursday night when the "death reel" is flashed on the screen at the Chicago Press club.

The pictures are shown through the courtesy of H. Spearman Lewis. They include a film showing Archie Hoxie taking Col. Theodore Roosevelt for a spin through the air.

How to Earn Money at Home

Quit Downtown Job for One at Home.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The purpose of this department is to find profitable employment for women in occupations which they can carry on at home without interfering with their domestic duties. To stimulate suggestions The Tribune will award $1 each for every help published.

Address—Sally Joy Brown, care The Tribune, Chicago.

The exhibit room in The Tribune Building is open from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. except on Saturday, when it closes at 1 o'clock.

"IS there a chance for me?" So many women ask me that, and my greatest happiness is to be able to say, truthfully, that there is. There always is.

That's one of the wonderful things about the home workers. They're not exclusive. They want every one to have the advantage that they have had, and they all do everything in their power to give those advantages to other women.

Here's a letter that will fill your heart with the assurance that there is a chance for you:

"I've made such a success of my home work that I want to share that success with every other woman in the world. I wish that I could tell everyone how I have been able to earn enough money to take much better care of myself than I used to be able to when I worked downtown all of the time and came home too tired to be able to do anything except go to bed.

"I used to be a stenographer, and I earned $12 a week. Three of that I paid for a room with light housekeeping privileges. My meals were taken wherever I happened to be, and that was usually at any convenient little restaurant where things didn't cost much. I never had enough to eat of the good everyday things except when I went to the home of the only girl I knew really well.

"I guess it was the atmosphere of her home, combined with your help, that started me into the business I have found to be so successful. You see, I'm a country girl, and I grew up knowing how to cook. I always loved to cook, and one of the things that made my living in the city lonely was the fact that I never had a chance to get into a big kitchen apron and beat up a cake.

"One night when I came home to my little hall bedroom everything seemed so lonely, and the vision of a home seemed so wonderful that I just made up my mind that I'd risk everything I had and have a home for a little while. So I looked around the next day for a small flat that wouldn't cost much, and I spent all of my savings in a second hand store for furniture. Then I told this girl friend of mine what I had done, and asked her if she knew of two nice girls who would like to come and board with me. She did, and they came as soon as I was settled.

"I gave up my position after two weeks and started right in to be a housewife. I made all of the bakery goods that I could, and I sent them down to the market place. I couldn't well support myself on the money that came from my two boarders. They each paid $6.50 a week, and the rent of the flat was $20 a month. But I knew that I could make a success of my baking if I'd ever get a chance to do it.

"I had my chance, and I've been successful. Much of that success you've been responsible for. I wonder if you know what you have done for me. You have made all the difference in my life between a tired, unhappy girl and a light hearted, cheerful woman. When I found that I could earn my living by doing the sort of work that wasn't work at all to me, but the best kind of play, I grew up in confidence. Before I'd been just a tired little girl who never was sure that she could do anything.

"Do you suppose that this little story of what I have done will help anyone else? I do hope that it will."

Of course it will. Won't it? Hasn't it helped you already? Aren't you fuller of confidence in yourself and in the work that you can do at home? Don't you want to begin this very day?

Perhaps you'd like to have a little booklet that tells how a hundred women have been able to earn money at home? I'll be pleased to send it to you with my compliments and theirs if you'll send me your name and address on a post card. Will you?

How to Use Grapes.

Every fall, when I am in the country, I wonder at the wild grapes and hard green crabapples going to waste. It must be because people do not know how to use them.

We gather the grapes, look them over without stemming, and wash thoroughly. Fill a large kettle half full, mash with a potato masher until the juice runs, add more grapes and mash until the kettle is full. Then cover and cook slowly, stirring frequently. In this way no water is added except what is left on from the washing. When the grapes cook to pieces, strain off the juice though a muslin bag. It can then be made into jelly by the usual method or canned for drinking.

If the latter, bring again to a boil and seal at once, which gives a pure grape juice to be sweetened and diluted with equal parts of water when drunk, or before sealing add a quart of water and cup of sugar to each quart of juice.

The wild crabapple should be washed with a vegetable brush and, if large, cut in half. Then fill a kettle nearly full and cover with water. Cover and cook slowly about two hours. A fireless cooker is good for them. When perfectly soft, drain through a jelly bag. This juice makes fine jelly; also half crabapple and half wild grape makes good jelly.

For a delicious jelly to serve with meat boil 5 cents' worth each of stick cinnamon, whole cloves, and whole allspice with the juice, straining out the spices when the sugar is added. In addition a quantity of this juice may be canned and jelly made fresh in the winter. The next summer add one-fourth crabapple juice to the juice of strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, currants, or tame grapes to make a firm jelly without changing the flavor, or a larger proportion of crabapple if you want the mixed flavor.

A Profit of 65 Per Cent.

I used to buy a yard of ribbon at first and make the simple things I saw, such as pincushions and needle books, but after I had made a few I got so enthusiastic—the ideas kept pouring into my mind—that each morning found me looking for bargains in ribbons and visiting all the art departments to see how things were made. I made coat hangers, sachet bows, corset and matinee bags, darning and traveling cases, and all kinds of pincushions.

I tried house to house canvassing, but my courage failed at that; besides, it was cold work and took a lot of time. Most of the things, though, I allowed a stationer with a fine location in the residential district to sell on commission. I realized 65 per cent profits on my sales. I had a few things left and they came in handy for gifts to my friends.

I am going to tackle it again this year, only this time I have beun earlier and am doing a lot of embroidery, simple patterns on doilies and aprons.

Here is an idea for the women who read this column for a pretty and useful article: Get six yards of four inch satin ribbon at 19 cents a yard—one yard each of these colors: Pale blue, pale pink, yellow, white, lavender, and nile green. Cut into two inch lengths. This will make eighteen lengths of each color. Sew up two sides and put a little cotton wadding and a pinch of good sachet in each and sew up the other side. Put a tiny safety pin in each. Put one of each color together in a stack and tie with baby ribbon as you would a box. Make a tiny rosebud of a scrap of chiffon, white or pink, and sew onto the end of the ribbon that is tied. You can sell these for 75 cents a set and make a profit.

MRS. A. A. BILANGER, 4547 Sheridan road.

Hop Sleeping Pillows.

I have a friend who realizes a neat sum every fall from the sale of hop sleeping pillows which she manufactures and sells to persons troubled with insomnia. The pillows are made of muslin with linen slips. A yard of white linen is sufficient for the slip. Upon this she stamps a spray of hop vines which she embroideries in a pretty green hop shade. Hops are gathered from the vines early in the fall before frost and allowed to dry for a few days. Then they are stuffed in the muslin pillow and sewed up securely. With the attractive embroidered linen pillow slip, the pillows find ready sale at 75 cents and $1 each. MRS. LOLA M. POLLARD,

COL. ROOSEVELT WILL REMAIN THREE MONTHS IN THE WILDS.

Visit to Many South American Cities Will Be Followed by a Long Stay in the Jungle.

New York, Sept. 29.—For more than three months, from the middle of December to the end of March, Theodore Roosevelt will be buried in the wilds of South America.

Col. Roosevelt will sail from New York Oct. 4, and will spend about two months visiting various cities in Brazil, Argentina, Chile, and Paraguay.

Late in December a little river steamer will leave him and his party of naturalists at Cayaba, Brazil, the head of navigation on the Paraguay river, and at that point the hardships of the journey will begin.

The colonel's companions from this point will be Anthony Fiala of New York, the arctic explorer, and George K. Cherrie of Indiana and Lee E. Miller of Newfane, Vt. naturalists connected with the American Museum of Natural History, under whose auspices the expedition will be undertaken.

Have Speedway Ready

You can't foretell accidents any more than you can tell where lightning is going to strike. Be ready for those unexpected bruises and sprains with Speedway Liniment—don't wait until something happens. Just a 25c or 50c bottle ready when you want it may mean saving hours of pain.

Speedway

Takes the Hurt from Bruises

It brings soothing relief. If you have rheumatism or lumbago, or any muscular trouble, try the Speedway route to quick relief. Make your muscles supple and as free from pain as when you played after school.

Speedway is not injurious. There's nothing in it to stain or grease either flesh or clothing. It does not burn or irritate. It has an agreeable odor. It's as pleasant to use as a toilet lotion. It drives pain away and brings a soothing sensation that's simply glorious to muscles that have been suffering.

If you have a sprain or a bruise step into the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Speedway. If it doesn't give you relief bring the bottle back to your druggist and get your money.

Rub a little Speedway on your tired, aching feet night and morning and learn what it means to have real foot joy. Be free from the throbs of corns and bunions. Forget being footsore at the end of the day.

Business of Life Should Be Aim of All, Woman Says.

AN appeal for a change in the educational system for women which will place less emphasis upon the acquisition of languages and "cultural" subject and more upon the "business of life," is made by Mrs. Laura Clarke Rockwood of Iowa City, Ia., who writes in the current issue of the American Journal of Sociology on "A Woman's Handicap in Efficiency."

Mrs. Rockwood states she was successively a student in a co-educational institution, a teacher, and a wife with children. From her own experience she found that the average girl college graduate knows nothing whatever about the fundamental facts of human relationship.

"It is customary," she writes, "for a father to ask of a young man who comes to claim his daughter: 'What are your business qualifications? Are you capable of supporting a home?' With equal justice the mother of the prospective bridegroom might ask the bride to be: 'What are your qualifications for the business of homemaker? Are you capable of maintaining a home efficiently and of raising children who shall be physically, mentally, and morally sound?'

"My future mother-in-law did not ask these questions, so I passed into matrimony. I have been trying to make a success of it with the resources at hand, and I am free to confess, after an effort extending over several years, that I realize that the successful homemaker needs to be a much more capable and balanced individual than I in my college days ever imagined.

"When in the early days of my married life I spoiled an expensive aluminum roasting pan by trying to clean it with lye, I wished for some scientific information of more practical bearing than the knowledge of the circulation of an earthworm.

"I felt the same need when little John was brought in senseless from a fall from the barn. Somehow nothing from Homer or Virgil seemed quite suitable in the extremity. Again and again in treating cuts of childhood and adult life I have wished for an intelligent course in emergency nursing.

"The need seems clear and the path of remedy plain. The difficulty for the next few years will be to find teachers of college and university grade with high ideals and broad culture, with wide training and successful experience in home life, who because of these qualifications are thus capable of removing from woman this handicap in her efficiency, by giving her suitable education for her work in the world."

Methodist Churches Merge.

The Fulton Street Methodist Episcopal church passed out of existence last night on the eve of its twenty-fifth anniversary.

The official board of the church voted to consolidate with the Park Avenue Methodist church at Park avenue and Robey street.

The meeting last night, held at the Fulton Street church, was long and at times bitter. Several of the men and women who had worked for years to clear the church of debt fought vigorously against the change. Two women who had been charter members of the church and who had grown old while attending it were at the meeting.

Plans already had been started for an extensive celebration on Oct. 25, the silver anniversary of the church. After the meeting these plans were abandoned. Next Sunday probably will be the last in the history of the church.

Widow Gives to World Tolstoi's Notes to Her.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 29.—The widow of Count Tolstoi, the famous novelist, has published 656 of her late husband's letters to her. She says in a preface that it is her desire to give all who cherish her husband's memory access to what was dearest to him in life.

Nine letters are withheld, three because they concern living persons and the last six he wrote because the countess thinks that the time for their publication has not arrived.

The whole correspondence seems to establish beyond question that the late count had a tender affection for his wife to the end of his life.

The letters begin with a proposal of marriage and cover the period of the betrothal of the count and countess and many years of wedded life. They were rarely apart, but the count seems to have written to his wife no matter how brief the time of their separation, even sending her notes while he was attending beehives some miles from their house.

The letters abound in expressions of passionate affection. They also touch every side of Count Tolstoi's life and spiritual growth in addition to various protests against the conditions of family life, as well as traces of the domestic struggle in which his views respectings children, personal labor, and the ownership of literary work involved him.

Milking Contest at Lyons County Fair.

LYONS township is to have a "county fair" all of its own, under the auspices of the county school system. It is said to be the first of its kind in the state, if not in the country, and will be held on Oct. 4.

While originally intended for the display of the work of the children, it has grown to include a number of contests in which the "grown-ups" will participate, according to County School Superintendent Edward J. Tobin.

"The work of farmers' clubs was begun in school district 106 in Lyons township," said Mr. Tobin. "The farmers of that neighborhood interested those of districts 105 and 107, also in the township, and the fair is the result of their work. George E. Farrell, country life director of the township, is in charge of the fair.

"Among the thing that are planned is a demonstration of canning by the girls of the township, in which different kinds of fruits and vegetables will be preserved. Other domestic sciences will also be demonstrated by the girls. The boys will have a corn selection contest, in which they will pick out the best ears of corn from a certain number of stalks, the ears to be used in planting the next spring.

"There will be a milking contest and every farmer who is a member of the club, and most of them are, will bring their best cow to the fair. The milk will be tested and weighed by Eugene Phillips, director of country life in district 3, an expert in dairy matters. The men and the boys will engage in a plowing contest.

"O. H. Benson, specialist in club work of the department of agriculture, will be present at the fair and will deliver an address in addition to assisting in judging the contests. The fair is the first of its kind that I know of. It is a splendid indication of the success with which we have met in our work of founding farmers' clubs."

Toilet Soaps.

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell].

PLENTY of soap and water is the burden of the song of most writers on health. I glory in the water, but by no means in the soap. Many women, especially those whose skins are greasy, will find their skins softer, whiter, and healthier by omitting soap from their facial ablutions altogether. The reason is the difficulty in obtaining a perfectly "neutral" soap; that is, one that contains no excess of alkali, and one that has in it no rancid fat globules, injurious oil, coloring matter, or irritating foreign substances.

It is no new discovery that soaps are made by the action of a powerful alkali, caustic soda, or caustic potash, usually on fat. The cheapest and almost universal method is to do this in the "cold way," instead of by the old process of boiling and "salting out." Unfortunately the "cold way" is one of those cheap and nasty methods which Carlyle says are becoming more popular in this degenerate age. All soaps made thus contain an excess of alkali and particles of fat are not saponified. Both of these ingredients are harmful to the skin, leaving it rough, tender, and apt to pimple. It is better to use no soap at all than one which has these injurious qualities.

Toilet soaps should be prepared from clean, sweet tallow or oil, by a strong solution of soda, and it is essential that they be completely deprived of an excess of alkali. Their natural color is always yellow or white, and whatever other hue is given them is artificially done by the admixture of coloring matter. Brown soaps are colored by caramel or cocoa, rose color is produced by cinnabar, green by chrome green, and many of the reds by aniline colors. These latter are derived from the distillation of coaloil, and some of them are exceedingly irritating to the skin of many persons. So, you see, they should if used at all be employed with caution. The dark lines in castile soap, which many people consider a mark of its purity, are produced by a preparation of iron, which is perfectly harmless.

Soap can be perfumed to suit any taste, and so long as this is done by the natural odorous portions of the plants there is no cause for complaint. But many of the toilet soaps sold are perfumed by the artificial essences derived from fusel oil and petroleum, the effects of which upon a fine complexion are occasionally acrid and unpleasant.

Remember: Quality is preferable to quantity, even in the selection of a toilet soap.

If you prefer to have your question answered by individual letter please send stamped envelope.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

A. D. E.: Do you bite your lips? This will make them rough and coarse, also make them colorless and spoil the texture, making them large and thick. There is nothing better for rough and chapped lips than a good cold cream. Apply the cream at night when retiring or during the daytime. I shall be happy to send you a formula for a cold cream if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope. This cream is excellent for the complexion and is a good cleanser.

MRS. D.: I would not advise you to steam the face. It will in time make the face dry and wrinkled. If the circulation is not good place a towel wrung out of water hot enough so that it is pleasant, but so that it does not burn, over the face, alternating with towels wrung out of cold water. Do not keep this treatment up for more than ten minutes. Then use a good cold cream.

S. L.: Here is a recipe for bay rum: A quarter of a pound of carbonate of magnesia is saturated with oil of bay. The magnesia is pulverized and placed in a filter. After pouring through it water until a sufficient quantity is obtained, alcohol is added. Naturally, the amount of water and alcohol used will depend upon the amount of bay rum you wish to make, and its strength.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand.

Potatoes au Gratin.

SLICE potatoes thin or cut into dice; put in layers in greased pudding dish, sprinkling each layer with salt, pepper, and bits of butter. If you like onion add a little onion juice. When all are in pour over them a gill of hot water or hot milk, sprinkle the top layer with cracker crumbs mixed with salt, pepper, and bits of butter; strew cheese over all. Bake covered one-half hour, uncover and brown.—Request of a Reader.

Has Trouble with Her Cakes.

"Will you please tell me the reason why my angel food cake and sunshine cake fall out when I invert the pan? The pan has never had a bit of grease in it. I use the best patent pan. PERPLEXED."

Your complaint is unusual. To have a cake leave the pan without breaking or sticking is considered desirable by most bakers. I am not sure that I comprehend what the trouble is. If the cake be thoroughly done and leaves the sides and bottom of the mold clean it is a "consummation devoutly to be desired." Have your hand ready to receive the perfect loaf and stand it against something that will leave space for the passage of air on all sides. If you prefer to wait dntil it is cold before taking it from the pan do not invert the latter. When the loaf is dead cold slip it easily out upon the ready hand, having covered this with a clean cloth.

About Ben Johnson.

"Please set at rest a question raised in our literary club lately. Who was Ben Jonson? And ought the name to be spelled without the 'h'? Some members contend that he was a blood relation and a contemporary of Dr. Samuel Johnson, who wrote the dictionary and other learned works. We are all boys and we want to learn. There is no library free to all in this place. THOMAS P."

Samuel Johnson was born in 1709. Ben Jonson about 1573. Therefore, you see, they were not members of the same family nor contemporaries. Ben Jonson was the most distinguished dramatist of his age, Shakspeare himself having acted in one of his plays—"Every Man in His Humor." No man of his generation was personally more popular. He was the pet of society and foremost in the rank of authors.

He died in 1637 and was buried in Westminster Abbey in "Poet's corner." Everybody who reads English has heard of the epitaph inscribed by order of Sir John Young, his admirer and contemporary, upon the tomb: "O, rare Ben Jonson!"

Chocolate Fudge.

Boil together one cup sugar, one cup grated chocolate; one-half cup milk, one tablespoon butter. Cook, stirring often until a li hardens in cold water. Take from fire, fla with vanilla to taste, turn into a buttered pan and mark into squares with a buttered knife as it cools.—Request of Nancy.

The Lively Wife.

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

OUT of a group of girls, almost every parent has a leaning toward the quiet, sedate maiden, as the one who would make the best wife for his son. The girlish laughter and kittenish tricks of the bright young thing who seems all froth and sunshine, he makes up his mind against, on sight, declaring that she is far too frivolous for any young man to think seriously about.

It is a lucky thing for maids that sons do not always think as their fathers do. If they did, all the solemn girls would be wives and the jolly girls would die spinsters.

Gravity is very sweet on a fair young face. But a merry twinkle in the eye and a roguish pout or laughter on the lips is more alluring to the average man. He who must be bound down by business cares during the day needs relaxation in his home. He appreciates a bright, happy picture instead of a gloomy one.

Those who would direct their futures mean well, but they should never be prejudiced against the girl whom they imagine too frivolous to make a good wife.

The number of letters received daily from correspondents who wish to be answered through the columns of "The Tribune" is so large in comparison with the space allotted to those answers that there is necessarily some delay in replying to many of the questions asked of Miss Libbey.

If you wish a prompt reply inclose in your letter a stamped, addressed envelope.

Could They Meet at the Corner?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young man of 18 and wish to go out with a girl of 16. She wishes me to call at the house for her, but I am too bashful. Do you think it would be proper for us to meet at the corner? "ANXIOUS."

It would be extremely discourteous of you to suggest such a thing to the girl. Don't do it if you want her to think anything of you. The right sort of girl would not meet a man away from her home. Call at her home for her. You will have to overcome your bashfulness some time, and the sooner you do the more successful you will be with your girl friends.

Handsome Blonde Answered Phone.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young man 24 and recently became acquainted with a young lady a few years younger than myself. Now this young lady is very beautiful and it would break my heart if I should lose her. The other day she called me up at the office, and as I was not in the young man (a handsome blonde) who answered the telephone started a conversation with her which ended in his making an engagement with her. Please tell me how I can win her, as it would hurt my pride to have this handsome blonde fellow beat my time. "CLARENCE."

Don't try to win her, Clarence. A girl who would make an engagement with a man over the telephone without having been introduced to him is not a desirable girl to know. Let the handsome blonde have her and you try to get interested in some girl with more modesty and self-respect.

The Year Around Spinach.

WHAT is the middle ground between being overcareful and overcareless about what we eat, and how? We all know of families where eating is more or less of a misery, and all are miserable, because too much and gloomy attention is given to the menu. We know scores of people to whom frequent and sudden illnesses are common. They are caused purely and simply by mistakes in eating.

In reference to matters of health as connected with food, and all matters of health are connected with food and in a most vital way, there are many difficulties besides lack of knowledge, fixed habits, and prejudices to overcome.

Authorities differ on many points; therefore it is not easy to get at the simple, fundamental things upon which they all agree. Then again scientific interest in food is new. It is just about the age of preventive medicine, which is young.

However, even when men know the right, it takes strength of mind to behave right in reference to this truly moral matter of eating right. Then there is another lion in the path; we cannot get our food cooked right.

The greatest aid to right eating is the formation in early life of the right habits of eating. There are children of 3 that sometimes have as bad moral eating habits as the gourmand of 60.

A recent writer has quoted the old saying that every man of 40 is his own doctor, but that every child of 10 could be and would be, if his parents were doctors in this sense when he was born.

This is not an extravagant idea. The simple facts of life, if studied along with reading, and writing, and "'rithmetic," would be mastered as these are mastered, and these facts would form a basis of culture of as high and far more essential sort than these do.

Diet does not mean much to us unless we understand something of our physical structure. Our bodies are as chemical as chemical can be, and yet we never truly learn why we cannot eat this and can eat that—the chemical behavior of ourselves.

We suffer from sour stomach, from uric acid troubles, and have no end of discomfort because we have acid forming habits. Therefore we ought to know what acids in foods will do under such circumstances. Rheumatic troubles begin at this time of year because people do not understand that they ought not to eat two acid foods at one meal, let us say tomatoes and peaches.

If a man has the habit of forming acids he ought as much as possible to let other acids alone, but if he does not, he ought to eat an abundance of those foods which contain elements that carry the acids in a safe form.

Although authorities disagree as to what uric acid does in the system, no one of them says that it is a good thing to have. It expresses itself in headaches, in neuralgia, and in rheumatism. But just as long as we can keep the uric acid in our system locked up, it has been described as being as "safe as a church."

The form in which it is locked up is called a "urate," or a uric acid salt. All the uric acid salts are lightly held together so that the acid in them is easily set free if some other acid is taken into the system which, as it were, knocks the uric acid out, to wander around freely, the other acid taking its place.

An inevitable result of the breaking down of food so that the blood can take up the different nutritive elements in it is the formation of uric acid, which is a rank poison, and people not infrequently die of uremic poisoning. An excessive protein or meat diet leads to the formation of this poison in excess of what the body can possibly get rid of, and so illness and often death result.

A large amount of green vegetables will supply the urates which carry the uric acid safely until it can be excreted. One of the best of these is spinach, which should be used the year around, or some other greens should take its place. It should be cooked in considerable water, otherwise it will be bitter, but that water should always be used for sauces or soup.

It is good with a great number of meats as a garnish. From a nation which is never without its daily greens, I translate the following:

"Spinach is a vegetable, salubrious, refreshing, soothing, laxative, and of easy digestion when it is chopped. Boiled and chopped fine it can be prepared in divers modes: 1. With butter alone, salt and pepper, adding a little meat juice or some tablespoons of broth or cream. 2. With a small amount of onion chopped fine and cooked in butter. 3. Just as in No. 1, with butter, salt and pepper and then a pinch of grated cheese. 4. With butter, a small quantity of oil (few drops), and then tomato juice."

GRANTS CHICAGO HEARING ON LAKE FRONT PROJECT.

Secretary of War Garrison Will Take Up Gen. Bixby's Adverse Report on Park Development Scheme.

Secretary of War Garrison yesterday announced he will hold hearings on the question of Chicago's lake front park project before taking final action on Brig. Gen. Bixby's adverse report. The south park commissioners, according to a dispatch from Washington, were notified they may appear personally or by counsel.

Gen. Bixby's report was a complete history of the development of the port of Chicago. It urged the department to refrain from granting any permits which would restrict the commercial development of the port without express direction of congress.

The report recommended the issuance of a permit to fill in between Ninety-fifth street on the north, the present shore line on the southwest, and the Indiana-Illinois state line on the east, subject to the condition that it shall be open to condemnation and use by the city if needed for commercial purposes; that the work shall be completed within five years and begun within three years.

The Randolph street to Twelfth street Grant park extension was disapproved by Gen. Bixby, pending congressional action.

ECZEMA 25 YEARS FACE A MASS OF IT

Says "Resinol Cured Me of One of the Worst Cases Anybody Ever Saw."

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I had eczema for the last twenty-five years, and have been afflicted so badly that for weeks I could not go outside the door. My face was one mass of pimples, and not only the looks of it but the itching and burning pains I experienced were just dreadful. I lost a great deal of sleep and had to keep dampened cloths on my face all night to relieve the pain. I had become disgusted with trying different things.

"One day I made up my mind to try Resinol, and after using one jar of Resinol Ointment, and one cake of Resinol Soap, I saw the difference, and now my face is as clear as anybody's, and I certainly don't need to be ashamed to go out. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment cured me of one of the worst cases of eczema, I guess, that anybody ever saw." (Signed) Mrs. C. Hellmuth, 5611 Appletree St., Sept. 20, 1912.

Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Mrs. Hellmuth, say of it. If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, get Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap at the nearest druggist's. For free trial, write to Dept. 21-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

The White Linen Nurse

In this novel the brilliant author of "Molly Make-Believe" has achieved an idyllic love story out of the strangest human elements that were ever compounded in fiction:

A little trained nurse, with a "doll face" that belies her strength of character; an overworked surgeon, who seeks relief in profanity and a yearly excursion with John Barleycorn, and his pathetic little daughter, whose sharp temper hides her hungry heart—these are the central characters.

And Eleanor Hallowell Abbott, in her own wonderfully characteristic way, sets forth these faulty, lovable, unforgetable people and their piquant situation in a narrative that bites deep in its humanity and in its vivid revelation of true love in a strange setting.

The Telektra Piano Player

IN interpreting a musical masterpiece, your attention should not be divided between head, hand and footwork as is required by pneumatic players. The Telektra is operated entirely by electricity. The feet are idle, and the handwork so simplified that there is no distraction.

TELEKTRA AUTOGRAPH RECORDS—actually reproduce the hand-playing of well-known pianists on your own piano.

It is brains and fingers which make for artistic piano playing. The Telektra supplies electric fingers, in action wonderfully like human fingers. This action plays the piano in a natural, normal way, from the keyboard, not from the interior as does the pneumatic. Just consider these exclusive Telektra features:—

Operated by electricity—most perfect mechanically as well as most artistic musically—is not directly attached to the piano—will play to you, or is played by you as you please—absolutely perfect and instantaneous expression devices—does not obstruct the keyboard—uses indestructible music rolls—totally unaffected by weather changes—will play your piano perfectly from any part of the house—any piano with a Telektra attached, costs less than a player piano of the same grade.

$350 and $450 Convenient Terms

You have but to see and hear the Telektra to acknowledge its absolute superiority—if you cannot call it will pay you to send for interesting illustrated literature.

OUSTING OF NURSE STARTS NEW ROW

Poor Old Cook County Once More Tangled Up in Civil Service Fuss.

RULE CAUSES TROUBLE.

Miss Elizabeth Grimme Visits Sick Parents and Is Automatically Fired.

President A. A. McCormick of the county board, who went east for a brief respite from the worries of his position, will find an internal row awaiting him upon his return home tomorrow. The clash relates to rules, arbitrary and otherwise, of the civil service commission.

Opposition of a serious nature has developed to one rule which renders liable to dismissal any civil service employé who is called to the bedside of a sick parent or other near relative.

It developed yesterday that a nurse at Oak Forest had lost her position, which she had held for two years and seven months, because she responded to a telegram to go to her mother, who was seriously ill.

Asks for Thirty Days' Leave.

The files of the case in the office of the civil service commission, produced by President Robert E. Catherwood, show that the nurse, Miss Elizabeth Grimme, received the message of her mother's illness on Aug. 13. She applied for a thirty day leave of absence. Believing favorable action would be taken by the commission, Miss Grimme hurried to her mother's bedside.

Miss Grace Bailey, principal clerk for the commission according to the files, called attention to the rule covering sick leave and suggested that the commission evade it by a special ruling giving Miss Grimme twelve days' leave and an extension if necessary.

Automatically Ousted.

Despite the recommendation on Aug. 18—five days after Miss Grimme had asked for the leave—the civil service commission denied her application. As she remained with her mother she was dismissed automatically from the service.

According to the report made to the commission the nurse had a good record and ranked 80 in efficiency the preceding two months. She is said to have told officials at the Oak Forest infirmary she would resign if necessary to go to her mother.

"That happens to be an extreme case," said Mr. Catherwood after perusing the files. "I see the records show the application for leave was denied by Commissioner Corby, but the entire board acted on the matter. The board is responsible.

No Discretion in Case.

"Unfortunately our rules are so worded that we have no discretion in these cases. Formerly there was a discretionary clause in the rule at issue, but it was purposely cut out because it had been subjected to abuses. It is undoubtedly true that there should be an amendment providing for leave in event of sickness of a near relative. As the rule now reads it makes provision only for illness of the employé.

"This happens to be one of the hard cases. The records must speak for themselves."

County Agent Meyer and Mr. Catherwood also clashed during the day over the appointment of Hugo Krause, formerly superintendent of the Humane society, as first assistant county agent.

Demands $50,000 for Carelessness.

Suit for $50,000 was filed yesterday against the N. A. Williams company by Michael Bird, father of Samuel Bird, 8 years old, who "was injured for life because of the carelessness of the defendant."

PROTESTS INQUIRY BY PROXY

Merriam Doesn't Want Merit Bureau to Do All City Hall Work.

CITES INVESTIGATION COST.

Shows Aldermanic Committee $42,000 Was Paid for Light on Police.

Four members of the city council appointed to investigate city expenditures conferred on the subject yesterday with the civil service commission in "concert" with whom they are to make the inquiry.

Three members of the subcommittee were agreed on the desirability of complete coöperation between the two bodies, but Ald. Charles E. Merriam—made the fourth member by vote of the council—manifested his dissatisfaction with this sort of an inquiry. He contended as he did on the floor of the council, when he charged this method would be a "whitewash," that the city should accept the offer of the Chicago bureau of public efficiency to put its staff of experts on the task without cost to the city.

Merriam emphasized the financial phase of the argument when he brought out that the police investigation cost $42,000. He said the cost was nearer $50,000. Merriam then commented on the fact the council had turned down his motion for an appropriation of $10,000 for this search of the entire city hall.

His questioning also developed to his satisfaction that investigations made by the efficiency division of the civil service commission would be made by the commission, instead of by the aldermanic committee.

"I was of the opinion," he said, "that this was to be an extraordinary investigation and not merely a continuation of the system already in use."

The only action of the committee, the other members of which are Ald. A. W. Beilfuss, Melville G. Holding, and John A. Richert, was to ask the civil service commission to report a summary of the work the efficiency division has done in the different departments since it was organized.

I CURED MY STAMMERING

Not only hundreds, but thousands, can and will tell you this. I mean people of good reputation who are absolutely honest—bankers who are honest, ministers who are honest, doctors who are honest, business men who are honest, teachers who are honest, and neighbors who are honest, just like your own neighbors who you yourself know to be absolutely honest.

I was determined to be cured, and when I vowed that I would rid myself of that great trouble I was considered "A DREAMER." But I changed what hundreds considered a dream to a reality. I CURED MYSELF. NOW I DO NOT STAMMER AT ALL.

I do not even hesitate on a word or on a syllable. I talk as freely and as distinctly as anybody. Hearing me speak, you would never believe that I had once been pointed out as the most hopeless stammerer in the State of Indiana, being unable to utter a sound when spoken to and obliged to use a slate and pencil to make my wants understood.

The record of Earlham College will show this. You stammer for the same reason that I did. Therefore, as "like cures like," the same method that cured me will cure you.

Let me send you my 68-page book that tells the whole story of how I cured myself. It tells, also, how I have cured the worst cases in the world, and how I can cure you. State your age and how long you have stammered. My book is absolutely free, and I will send it to you for the asking. Write today.

AVIATOR PREVOST WINS BENNETT CUP SHATTERS RECOR[D]

Frenchman Covers 124.2[7] Miles in 59:49, Rate o[f] Over Two Miles a Minute.

FRANCE TAKES ALL HONO[RS]

Belgian Flier Finishes Last in Fi[eld] of Four; Contest No Longer International.

VICTOR PREDICTS GREATER SP[EED]

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.] RHEIMS, France, Sept. 29.—Maurice P[re]vost, a Frenchman, flying in a Deperdu[ssin] machine, won the race for the James Gor[don] Bennett cup at the Betheny aerodrome [to]day in the record time of 59:49 for the [dis]tance of 124.27 miles, or at an average s[peed] of 125 miles an hour, more than two mil[es a] minute.

Emile Vedrines and Gilbert, two o[ther] Frenchmen, were second and third, res[pec]tively. Crombez, a Belgian, who was the [only] other competitor, finished last.

The result was received with indiffer[ence] by the French people. Perhaps if the [race] really had been an international one it m[ight] have caused some interest, but the [only] touch of internationalism was the pres[ence] of a Belgian in the contest, and he flew [a] Deperdussin, a French machine.

Race No Longer International.

The race for this trophy has not really b[een] an international affair since the first con[test] in 1909, when Glen Curtiss in an Amer[ican] machine beat Bleriot. The French pa[pers] now are asking if the race will be conte[sted] next year or if the other countries, recog[niz]ing French supremacy in the matter of [air]ship construction, will refrain from ente[ring].

The terrific speeds made by the f[lying] men today interested those present, bu[t the] meeting has shown that the public was far [more] interested in seeing Brindejonc des Mouli[nais], Roland Garros, and Jules Vedrines doing ac[robatic] stunts in front of the stands than in wat[ching] half a dozen aeroplanes start simultaneously, following an altitude climb of 16,000 feet.

No representative of the French govern[ment] attended the meeting, and therefore the act[ion of] M. Henri Deutsche (de la Muerthe) in hir[ing the] aerodrome from the liquidator of the Deperd[ussin] estate missed its object.

Prevost Cuts Down Wings.

Prevost, the winner, cut down the surface [of] his machine until they were only nine[...] feet square. A few people say this helpe[d his] speed, but made landing dangerous. He fl[ew at] midday, which is an hour always avoid[ed by] aviators. He kept low, and in passing the s[tands] was not more than thirty-five feet abov[e the] people.

Prevost said afterward that the race was [a pain]ful work, as the pressure of the air cons[tantly] drove his head backwards. Moreover, he re[ceived] a shower of oil in his face. He believed t[he ap]paratus could be improved so that the [speed] would be increased by nine miles an hour [and] thought he could do 135 miles an hour in a st[raight] line, the course today being a circular one.

Distance Cup Changes Hands.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—The National Aerial lea[gue of] France today announced that Marcel G. Brin[dejonc] des Moulinais and not Maurice Guillaux is the [win]er of the single day long distance cup. Guillau[x was] awarded the trophy on Aug. 31 when it w[as an]nounced he had flown from Biarritz to Br[ockel], Germany, a distance of 859¾ miles, and beaten the record made in June last by Brind[ejonc] des Moulinais, who flew from Paris to St. P[eters]burg, by two and one-half miles. It ha[s been] established that Guillaux, instead of desce[nding] at Brackel, landed as Borckel, thus shorteni[ng his] flight by some eighteen miles.

BRITISH AND FRENCH BOATS TO COMPETE IN RACES H[ERE]

James A. Pugh Reports Foreign Ya[chts]men Will Bring Motor Craft for Championships Next Year.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

The appearance of British and French [hydro]planes in Chicago's 1914 speed boat cha[mpion]ship is assured, according to James A. Pug[h, who] has just returned from England, where h[e took] his Disturbed III. for the Harmsworth [trophy] and the international title. Mr. Pugh rec[eived a] definite promise from Maxwell Edgar t[hat he] would bring to this city Maple Leaf IV., [which] won premier honors of the speedboat w[orld at] the recent races held at Cowes.

The owner of Crusader, another Engli[sh boat] which raced for the international champi[onship], also told Mr. Pugh he would sign an entr[y] for the Chicago races. The French spe[ed] men were found to be favorably inclined tow[ard the] proposition to compete here, and probably [will do] so, according to Mr. Pugh.

The foreigners admired the enterprise [of Mr.] Pugh in taking Disturber III. to England [for a] single series of races and feel that they [should] reciprocate by racing some of their boats h[ere].

In spite of his many setbacks, inclu[ding a] fire aboard his craft, Mr. Pugh succeeded [in tak]ing fourth place in the big race. He sa[ys Dis]turber III. has as fast a hull as any of t[he for]eign racers, but admits his power plant wa[s shown] to be inferior to those that propelled Map[le Leaf] IV. at an average speed of over fifty-two m[iles an] hour for thirty miles. He is planning a [new] boat for 1914 and declares the foreign rac[ers will] have to show their best to win the Americ[an cham]pionship to be held on Lake Michigan.

Guillaux was awarded the trophy on Aug. 31 when it was announced he had flown from Biarritz to Brackel, Germany, a distance of 859¾ miles, and had beaten the record made in June last by Brindejonc des Moulinais, who flew from Paris to St. Petersburg, by two and one-half miles. New Haven, Conn., Sept. 29.—Capt. Snowden of the Yale varsity crew tonight said there was a strong possibility of a race being arranged between Princeton and Yale crews this fall. In the Wake of the News.

PROPHECY.

A year from today we will be in a flurry
About the big Callahan-Evers affray,
And wishing the —th of October would hurry
And start the big doings—a year from today.

The fans of ——— and ———, all excited,
Will wait for the big show to open for them,
And four lucky umps will have just been invited
To handle the battles—three others and Klem.

A year from today we will read: "Indiana Expects to hold Stagg to a very small score,"
And also the tidings from down in Urbana
That ——— has announced he won't play any more.

A year from today Joe'll be hitting four-twenty,
And Tris, with four-ten, will be right on the job,
But 'though one might b'lieve either figure a-plenty,
On top, with four-thirty, will be Mister Cobb.

C. Albert Comiskey, having arranged last spring to have his Sox train for three years at Paso Robles, has just decided that Paso Robles will be the club's training camp next spring.

One would think Joe Benz had been unlucky enough without getting a left hander into his family.

Why don't you speak for yourself, Joe?

It's an old, old story in Denver, but you can't blame Milwaukee for feeling a bit gay.

"Why Go East to See Big Series?"—says a headline. Well, usually those of us who go do so because the boss tells us to.

"My sympathies are with the American league, naturally, but I think this is the Giants' year. The Mackmen have been off color for several months," says Trainer Buck, who hasn't.

Willie Ritchie is said to have perfect physical condition and there doesn't seem to be much chance of taking it away from him.

"The Gophers and Hoosiers," we read, "are the foremost figures on the big nine map as the result of their performance Saturday, and until one of the two meets with a decided setback they will be regarded as bona fide contenders for the 1913 title." One of the two, however, has only four days to wait for its annual decided setback.

"Lapp will do all of the catching, except when Bender is on the firing line. Schang will do the receiving for Bender, but only for Bender." From which one gathers that when Bender isn't pitching, Lapp, and Lapp only, will catch, except when Bender's pitching.

HONOR VS. KALE.
Dear Sir—How does it come that, after making the Line twice in exactly ten days, I fail to attain immortality—and incidentally one bone in kale—on that "bonehead" stunt staged in Baraboo, in which a pachydermatous quadruped played an infinitesimal part? Was I overweight on bone? Or, perchance, your bright young censors of the "bonehead" colyum doubted my sincerity. Well, anyway, B. L. T. is real old fashioned pumpkin pie compared with said bright young geniuses. To be a Line immortal may be the real cheese for some folks, but as for your old Uncle Edward, give me that immortality which accrues to a "Worst Bonehead Play," not forgetting the kale seed accessory, and I'll forget that such a thing as the Line ever existed. Why don't the Cubs and Sox forfeit their games with Madison, Danville, Pittsburgh, Detroit, and other bush teams and go to it?

W. M. KAVANAUGH IN CHARGE OF SOX VS. CUBS CONTESTS.

National Commission Appoints President of Southern League to Act at Local Series Next Week.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

W. M. Kavanaugh, president of the Southern league, will represent the national commission in charge of the city series between White Sox and Cubs next week. The appointment was announced yesterday in an official bulletin issued by the commission covering the arrangements for the combat for the championship of Chicago. President Kavanaugh will be assisted by C. G. Williams, secretary of the Cubs; Harry Grabiner, secretary of the White Sox, and William Harridge, secretary to President Johnson of the American league.

The bulletin confirms the appointment of Messrs. O'Day and Orth of the National league and Sheridan and O'Loughlin of the American league to umpire the city series, and names James Cruisenberry of "The Tribune" and Malcolm MacLean of the Evening Post official scorers.

All the rules governing the world's series will apply to the city contest except that which does away with reserving seats and boxes in advance by mail. The schedule beginning Oct. 7 on the west side and continuing alternately on the grounds of the two clubs is approved. The official list of players eligible to take part in this series follows:

Cubs—Archer, Bresnahan, Bridwell, Cheney, Corriden, Evers, Good, Humphries, Lavender, Leach, Miller, Moore, Needham, Phelan, Pierce, Saier, Schulte, Smith, Stack, Stewart, Vaughn, Watson, Williams, and Zimmerman.

White Sox—Benz, Berger, Bodie, Breton, Callahan, Chase, Chappell, Cicotte, Collins, Easterly, Fournier, Gleason, Kuhn, Lathrop, Lord, Russell, Schalk, Scott, Smith, Sullivan, Walsh, Weaver, and White.

The sale of tickets will be handled by each club under the jurisdiction of the National commission's representative. All reservations applied for by mail must be taken up on Saturday at the respective box offices of the two clubs.

NEW COACH FOR INDIANA TEAM.

Noel Dunbar, All-American Center of Yale Eleven in 1908, Takes Charge of Hoosier Linemen.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Indiana university football fans were treated to a surprise today when a new coach appeared on the field in the person of Noel Dunbar, all-American center on the Yale eleven of '08. Dnbar is here to coach the line. He took charge and lost no time in getting down to business. He will remain throughout the season to assist Sheldon and Berndt.

Nothing is being left undone to put the squad in tiptop shape to meet Chicago next Saturday. Contrary to expectations, the gates were not locked today, and a large number watched the work from the bleachers.

The freshmen were used in a scrimmage against the varsity for the first time. Worsey and Johnson are the only regulars who are sure to be out of the Maroon game on account of injuries.

LOGANSPORT FANS SEE 'RED' CORRIDEN; CUBS WIN GAME, 4-0

All Business Suspended and Schools Closed in Honor of Trojan Shortstop.

HERO GIVEN DIAMOND RING

Crowd of 2,500 Watches Contest, Which Is Won by Evers' Men with Ridiculous Ease.

EARL MOORE ALLOWS ONLY 3 HITS

BY SAM WELLER.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—In Logansport, the home of "Red" Corriden of the Cubs, it is considered a greater honor to be a big league baseball player than a vice president. At least that's the impression one got in watching the welcome given to the young Cub utility infielder today when the Cubs exhibited against the local team.

The town practically took a day off and reveled in the delights of cheering for the native son who is out gaining fame in the big league. More than 2,500 spectators gathered at the racetrack outside the city to celebrate the occasion. Incidentally the Cubs won the game with ridiculous ease, 4 to 0.

Besides giving "Red" the glad hand the home folks presented him with a diamond ring the first time he came to bat. Mayor Fickle was on hand to make the presentation speech, while all the boys stood around with bared heads, as if the thing were sacred.

Mayor Lauds "Red" Corriden.

The mayor is a bum speecher so far as we are concerned, for he used up five minutes in talking and we couldn't hear anything he said. However, the boys informed us afterward that the mayor had said some swell things about "Red," proving that in his home town he, as well as Al Bridwell in Portsmouth, is considered a prince of a gentleman. That doesn't mean that "Red" isn't a gentleman when he's in Chicago or New York or the other big league burgs.

The diamond ring cost $200 and the local jeweler knocked off his profit on it. The money was raised among the good fellows about town, all but $30, which was dropped into a tin bucket hung on the gate at the ball park in the Sunday game here.

Bad weather throughout the morning nearly spoiled things. It did keep a lot of the fans in nearby villages away, but soon after noon the sun came out bright and warm and everybody began trailing out to the race track where the game was played.

Native Loses Betting Chance.

During the morning one of the natives sought Manager Evers and inquired if the regular team was to play against the locals. When informed it was the native said a fan in town had offered to bet 25 to 5 that the Cubs wouldn't get a man to first base during the game, and the native allowed he would take the bet provided the regulars were to play. When last seen he was looking for the guy who wanted to bet.

Earl Moore was on the slab for the Cubs and was far too fast for the batters of the local team. Earl fanned twelve men and allowed only three hits, two of which came in the ninth inning when he was lobbing 'em over. A local hero named Long slabbed for the home boys and was helpless against the Cub sluggers. They whaled home their four runs in the first two innings, after which they played horse to get the game over. One run was batted in in the opening inning, then in the second, with one out, Corriden came to bat. After getting his diamond ring he opened an assault with a hit, and four more hits followed, three men scoring before the side was retired.

It looked as if the Cubs could have scored ten more runs during the game had they tried, but that would be showing up Corriden's home town and might have made him mad.

Secretary Williams Called Home.

Charley Williams, the secretary of the Cubs, had a telegram from his boss telling him to return after the Logansport game, as he was badly needed to take care of the fans in Chicago who are clamoring for seats in the city series. He left on a night train, and Al Campion, fourth assistant secretary, who has been traveling with us on the present trip, was given charge of the finances for the remainder of the barnstorming.

On account of Heine Zim all the boys were invited to a swell German feed and dance tonight, which helped them pass the evening until the sleeping car was hitched up late in the night to be hauled over to Indianapolis, where another exhibition is booked for tomorrow. Score:

HARVARD HAS 400 ATHLETES.

Fall Season Opens with Polite Number Trying for Positions on Different College Teams.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 29.—Harvard's fall athletic season opened today with more than 400 men engaged in some form of sport. The annual tennis tournament for the college championship attracted 150 competitors. Another 100 followed the pigskin in the football practice for varsity, freshman, and second team squads. Thirty oarsmen reported for the first rowing drill, and three eights were sent on to the river. The candidates for the track team continued their unlimbering and the cross country runners worked the kinks out of their legs. Baseball, despite the waning season, had many followers.

ST. JOHNS SEEK OAK PARK GAME

Strenuous Efforts Being Made by Delafield School to Arrange Contest with Local Eleven.

St. Johns Military academy of Delafield, Wis., is making efforts to book a football date with Oak Park High school. F. W. Maack, graduate manager of the Badger eleven, will communicate with Oak Park officials today in an effort to arrange a game for Oct. 18, which date is open for both teams. A combat either here or at Delafield will be agreeable to the cadets. Last year Delafield regarded its gridiron squad as a candidate for the western "prep" title, and tried to schedule a game with Oak Park, but failed. The Wisconsin eleven will meet Hyde Park on Oct. 11 and will oppose Evanston academy two weeks later.

CALLAHANS BUMP MICHIGAN CITY, 6-1

Hoosiers Declare Half Holiday to Welcome Sox; Errors Beat Gray.

SMITH YIELDS FOUR HITS.

BY HANDY ANDY.

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Michigan City declared a half holiday, closed the town, and saw the White Sox triumph over the local Grays today, 6 to 1. The Callahans were presented with the game, for with any kind of support Piteher Arndt might have held the visitors to a draw.

Over 2,000 spectators were present, and a larger crowd would have been on hand had the sun made its appearance earlier. The outlook for a game was decidedly gloomy. Secretary Conahan called up in the morning to learn whether a game could be played. He was told to bring his bunch along for expenses were guaranteed.

"Kid" Gleason and Billy Sullivan, the two veterans, played a creditable game. The "Kid" was there with a timely wallop and played the second sack as he did at Philadelphia. He was robbed of one homer by a catch off the fence. Sullivan showed his old time skill, nipping two daring runners in the first two rounds. After that no one attempted to test his arm.

Smith Twirls Strong Game.

Outside of the first round, when the locals made two hits, Clarence Smith never was in trouble. In the remaining sessions he allowed only two swats. Bodie, after failing to hit during his first three times at bat, was informed by Capt. Lord that he would be thrown into the state prison here if he failed to secure a bingle in his last trip to the plate. Fearing Lord might keep his word, Bodie smashed a triple to center. There were two out and the hit was wasted.

There was much joy for the local fans in the opening round, when the Grays scored. Disosway walked, Nespo hit to right, and the pair advanced on an out. Sully pegged to catch Nespo at second and Disosway, who attempted to score, was run down. W. Smith hit to center and Nespo counted.

Fournier opened the second with a one baser. Bodie was hit. Chappell singled, scoring Fournier. Nagle missed Gleason's bounder and Bodie registered the second run. The Sox added another in the third. Berger, first up, hit one too hot for H. Arndt. Heine stole second, took third on Lord's out and scored on Collins' hard smash to short.

Three Runs for White Sox.

Three Sox runs spilled over the plate in the seventh. Chappell and Gleason hit, Sully popped, and Smith squeeze played Chappell home. Berger was hit and Lord walked, filling the sacks. Lord walked midway to second, and in an attempt to catch him Nagle threw the ball to the outfield and Gleason and Berger scored. Lord tried for third, but was nailed. Score:

Worst "Bonehead" Play I Ever Saw.

Chicago.—[Baseball Editor of The Tribune.]—The worst bonehead play I ever saw occurred between two amateur teams in Washington park. The score was 2 to 2 in the first half of the ninth inning. The right fielder, first man up, singled. The next man struck out. The center fielder then came up to bat and singled. This put a man on first and third with one out. The next man hit a fly to the center fielder. The man on third held his base so as to try to score after the catch. The runner on first ran to second when the ball was hit and got there just as the fielder caught the ball. He did not try to get back to first, but kept on going right out to center field to play his position, and the fielder tagged him before the man on third had reached the plate.

"TEX" RUSSELL TO TAKE BRIDE.

White Sox Star Hurler to Be Married to Miss Lottie Benz After City Series.

Ewell Albert Russell, better known to Chicago fans as "Tex," has pitched himself into a life partnership as well as a leading position on the White Sox slab staff this season. The phenomenal young left hander is to be married shortly after the city series ends to Miss Lottie Benz of Indianapolis, a cousin of Joe Benz, Russell's teammate. Russell and his future wife met in Chicago last July and the romance quickly resulted in an engagement. The exact date of the wedding has not been fixed, but the pitcher plans to make a home for his bride at Bonham, Tex., which town he has made famous.

LOUIS COMISKEY JOINS BENEDICKS

Son of "Old Roman" Signs in Matrimonial League with Miss Grace Reidy.

DODGE CROWD AT CHURCH

BY JACK PROCTOR.

Louis J. Comiskey, son of the White Sox president, yesterday signed a contract in the matrimonial league and, incidentally, "put one over" on a large number of friends who had planned to be present when the knot was tied. The party of the second part was Miss Grace Reidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Reidy of 3404 Jackson boulevard.

The bride was a member of Our Lady of Sorrows parish, and it had been announced that the ceremony would take place at that church. When the time for the wedding arrived, 5:30 in the afternoon, the church was crowded to its doors and the steps were lined with the numerous friends of both bride and groom.

At 6 o'clock the crowd was still waiting.

Victim of "Inside Play."

Meantime young Comiskey and his bride-to-be had slipped over to the newsboys' home at 1138 Jackson boulevard and there quietly pledged their vows, with Father Quille, an old friend of "Old Roman" Comiskey, officiating. It was not until after 7 o'clock that the would-be spectators became convinced that they were the victims of an "inside play."

Only about twenty near relatives of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Alice Reidy. Joseph T. Barry acted as best man. "Commy Lou" withstood the strain in good shape, though his face as he entered Father Quille's church resembled the back of Ed Walsh's neck with the sacks crowded and none out.

Diamond Earrings for Bride.

Presents galore were received by the young couple. Among the most prized gifts were a set of diamond earrings for the bride from Mrs. Charles Comiskey and a chest of silver from Charley Fredericks, the White Sox secretary, who has been confined to his bed for the greater part of two years.

A reception at the Hotel La Salle followed the ceremony. Afterward the newlyweds left for a month's honeymoon in the east. They will join the White Sox-Giants world tourists at Portland, Ore., in November, and the wedding trip will be continued until the baseball party returns from its globe trotting jaunt next March.

Leaves Father's Bier for Wedding.

While dressing for the wedding at his residence at 3154 Colorado avenue, Detective Sergeant Joseph Barry, who acted as best man, was called by his father, who was in an adjoining room. When the officer reached his father's side he found him dead. Heart trouble was given as the cause by the physician who was called. The son left his father's bier to keep his promise to young Comiskey and the bridal pair left on their honeymoon ignorant of the tragedy which hovered over their wedding. Sergeant Barry is a brother-in-law of the new Mrs. Comiskey.

David Barry, the decedent, was about 80 years old. He was a member of the police department from 1874 to 1908, when he was retired on a pension. The funeral will be on Thursday at 9:30 a. m. from the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows. Burial will be at Calvary.

CLEVERNESS GIVES M'GOORTY A SHADE OVER FRANK KLAUS

Oshkosh Middleweight Bests Pittsburgher in Ten Rounds at Milwaukee.

BATTLE FROM START TO END

Easterner Overweight More than Two Pounds, but Foe Refuses to Take Forfeit.

CROWD OF 3,500 FANS SEES BOUT

Statements by Fighters.

EDDIE M'GOORTY—I knew I would beat him. He is one of the toughest fighters I ever met, and in beating him I defeated one of the best of the middleweight fighters.

FRANK KLAUS—I think I was entitled to a draw. Eddie boxed cleverly, but his blows did not hurt me. If it had been a longer fight I would have won. I want to meet him again.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—In a sensational ten round battle, featured by hard and aggressive milling in every session, Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., bested Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh tonight. McGoorty had to fight all the time, and his cleverness and ring generalship saved him many times, especially when Klaus backed him against the ropes. Klaus had all the best of the infighting, and when they were at close quarters Frank gave Eddie a lot of punishing on the body.

The Pittsburgh miller had to be warned early in the fight for holding and hitting at the same time, and the referee also cautioned him about butting. In the fifth round Klaus opened an old cut over Eddie's left eye, and in the sixth session McGoorty cut his opponent's lip with a straight left. This was all the damage done in the fight.

McGoorty Shows Cleverness.

McGoorty boxed in clever fashion and his left hand was his principal weapon of attack. He also used a right uppercut to the body and face. Klaus continually played for the body, but was unable to land effectively. When the tide of battle was going against Klaus he came back strong, but his swings were wild and missed their intended marks by wide margins. Klaus is one of the toughest fighters seen in this city since the days of Papke and Ketchel. He is a glutton for punishment and a fighter who tries to do something all the time.

McGoorty put up a great fight and now is entitled to be recognized as one of the leaders of his division. He was in great condition and wiped out his defeat in a six round clash by Klaus in Pittsburgh a short time ago.

Klaus Fails to Make Weight.

When the fighters weighed in at 3 o'clock McGoorty tipped the beam at 157¾ pounds. Klaus weighed 162½ pounds. According to the agreement they were to make 160 pounds at the appointed hour. When Eddie learned his opponent was overweight he refused to claim Klaus' forfeit, and as a result won many friends.

Klaus ruled favorite in the betting at odds of 10 to 8, but when the weights of the fighters were known the odds shifted to even money, with a number of sports betting large amounts on the Oshkosh fighter.

When the principals entered the ring the arena was packed to the doors. It was estimated that 3,500 persons were seated about the roped inclosure and that the house represented $7,000.

Fans Scrambled for Seats.

To the dyed in the wool fans the scramble for seats reminded one of the time when Ketchell and Papke fought in this city five years ago. The fans were fight hungry, but the best of order prevailed. The arena is located on the south side of the city, and every conveyance available was pressed into service to carry the fans. The special train from Chicago brought 300 persons.

Before Klaus and McGoorty entered the ring Assemblyman A. J. Hedding, father of the boxing bill, was introduced. He was loudly cheered. Walter Liginger, chairman of the boxing commission, also was given a hand when introduced.

Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, was a ringsider, as were also Battling Nelson and Charley White. It was announced that Ritchie would fight White in this city some time next month.

Klaus was first to enter the ring. He crawled through the ropes at 10:15 and was followed a few moments later by McGoorty. Tommy Walsh acted as McGoorty's chief adviser. George Engels acted as Klaus' chief second. Both boys were given a great reception when introduced. Referee Stout called the men to the center of the ring and gave the battlers final instructions, and they went to their corners to await the first tap of the gong.

GRANDSON FOR HARRY GILMORE.

Veteran Boxing Instructor Receives Word of Birth of "New Champion" at Los Angeles.

Harry Gilmore Sr., the local boxing instructor, was the recipient of gladsome news yesterday. It came to him in the form of a postal card from Los Angeles sent by Harry Gilmore Jr. as follows: "New champion arrived. Will meet any one at 9½ pounds ringside." Harry Gilmore Jr. has been on the coast for the last three years, where he is proprietor of a health culture resort, at which many of the boxers do their training for bouts at the Vernon arena conducted by Tom McCarey. The arrival of the baby boy will make a third Harry Gilmore, for his father has decided on that name for him.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—"Young Jack" O'Brien of this city made an impressive debut in the welterweight ranks by outpointing the rugged Tommy Howell, also of this city, in six slashing rounds at the Olympia A. A. tonight before a big crowd. Howell made a good rally in the fifth and six rounds, getting close and mixing things up with his opponent, but after a little of this kind of milling Jack backed away and stood Tommy off with his jabs.

HARD WORK FOR PURPLE SQUAD.

Coach Grady Makes Candidates Dive Along Ground to Develop Art of Low Tackling.

Running and diving along the ground was the program for the Northwestern football squad yesterday. Coach Dennis Grady has adopted this means of developing his men in low tackling. After a strenuous session at the new form of training the line candidates were given a workout with the charging machine. With two men riding on the framework, to make the pushing harder, the linemen pushed the machine up and down the field. This was followed by a scrimmage with the freshmen, who are giving the varsity a good workout every night.

Vice President Marshall Presents Washington Captain with Gifts of Fans.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—Walter Johnson scored his thirty-sixth victory of the season today by defeating the champion Athletics, 1 to 0. The big pitcher simply toyed with the Philadelphia youngsters, never exerting himself until men were on bases.

This was "McBride day," having been set aside in honor of George McBride, Washington's captain and shortstop. He was presented with a diamond watch fob and a huge basket of flowers by Washington "fans." Vice President Marshall made the presentation speech.

The lone run came in the seventh inning. Gandil opened with a single and stole second. Morgan beat out an infield tap, Gandil going to third. Williams forced Morgan at second and Gandil scored the winning run. Score:

Chancemen Move Into Seventh Place by Double Victory—Scores Are 3 to 1 and 5 to 1.

New York, Sept. 29.—New York's Chancemen defeated Boston in both games of a double header today, 3 to 1 and 5 to 1, and moved into seventh place. In the opener Keating pitched his first full game in several weeks, and held the visitors safe, while New York bunched hits off Bedient in the third and sixth innings.

In the second game Anderson's wildness played a big part, the Boston pitcher giving six bases on balls. The game was called in the eighth on account of darkness. Previous to today's victories New York had not defeated Boston in this city since the early part of the 1911 season. Scores:

SOCCER CHART FOR "PREPS"

Eight High School Teams Will Compete in League.

OPENING BATTLES ON OCT. 25

Final Contests for Peter J. Peel Trophy to Be Decided on Dec. 6.

BY PREP.

Soccer football, which was introduced in the local high school by Englewood in 1907, has grown steadily in favor, and since its adoption as a major sport last fall it has advanced with rapid strides.

At a meeting of the captains and managers and the soccer committee of the faculty board of control yesterday, eight teams entered for the championship. These were Englewood, Lane, Calumet, Schurz, Phillips, Lake View, Senn, and Crane. In order to allow the new teams time for practice, the opening games were listed for Oct. 25. The final games will be played on Dec. 6.

Oak Park is present holder of the Peter J. Peel trophy, emblematic of the championship, played for last spring. Archibald Patterson of Englewood, who is known as the father of soccer football in the high schools, presided at the meeting and most of the arrangements were left in his hands. Following is the schedule:

Oct. 25—Lane at Calumet; Lake View at Schurz; Wendell Phillips at Senn; Englewood at Crane.

Nov. 1—Schurz at Lane; Calumet at Lake View; Crane at Wendell Phillips; Senn at Englewood.

Nov. 8—Lane at Senn; Lake View at Crane; Wendell Phillips at Calumet; Englewood at Schurz.

Nov. 15—Senn at Lake View; Crane at Lane; Calumet at Englewood; Schurz at Wendell Phillips.

Nov. 22—Senn at Lake View; Wendell Phillips at Englewood; Senn at Crane; Calumet at Schurz.

Nov. 29—Englewood at Lane; Lake View at Wendell Phillips; Crane at Calumet; Schurz at Senn.

Dec. 6—Lane at Wendell Phillips; Calumet at Senn; Lake View at Englewood; Crane at Schurz.

DEMAREST BEATS JAP CUEIST.

Defeats Tamura in the First Block of Match, 400 to 86—Visitor Plays Below Usual Form.

Ikjuiro Tamura, billiard champion of Japan, made his first public appearance in this country last night when he met Calvin Demarest, former world's champion, in the first block of their three nights' match at Mussey's rooms. The little man from Nippon, who never played balkline before coming to this country, did not perform as well as he has in practice, and was up against a hard game. Calvin was in fine stroke and won, 400 to 86. He went out in thirteen innings, averaging 30 1-13, with high run of 106. Tamura had high run of 18. The second block will be played tonight. Scores:

DEMAREST—1, 16, 106, 45, 11, 22, 0, 11, 0, 69, 77, 18, 24—400. Average, 30 10-13.

TAMURA—0, 8, 0, 18, 8, 18, 12, 1, 1, 0, 8, 0, 12—86. Average, 7 3-13.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Charles "Cowboy" Weston defeated C. Le Grew, 125 to 43, in their pocket billiard match at the Palace rooms. Weston will play F. Pecaro at Florian's rooms, 2725 North Clark street, tonight.

Lord [50] defeated Murphy [35], 50 to 34, in their three cushion match at the Lexington rooms. Lord had high run of six and went out in seventy-two innings.

In the opening game of the class A three cushion handicap at Foley's Young [40] defeated Jones [27], 40 to 16. Mitchner [37] will play Davison [28] tonight.

Joe Carney, former world's champion at three cushions, opened his 300 point match at Weeghman's rooms last night, meeting William Huey. The local player outscored the Californian, 50 to 40, in 100 innings, getting a high run of 4. Carney had a run of 5. Charley Morin will meet the former champion tonight.

MAROONS RECEIVE STIFF DRILLING

Stagg Gives Three Teams Session on Signals, Tackling, and Recovering Ball.

NORGREN PUNTS IN FORM.

Display of Men Strengthens Hope of Victory Over Indiana on Saturday.

BY MAROON.

Director Stagg yesterday opened the week's preparation to meet Indiana by calling off the usual scrimmage for the afternoon and sending his three teams of squad candidates through a hard session of signal drill, tackling, and recovering the ball.

As a result of the session the hopes of the Midway students for a successful season brightened perceptibly. With Breathed on the side lines for a few days on account of an injury, McConnell a promising candidate from last year's freshman team, entered to form a good quartet of quarter backs containing Russell, Breathed, and Boyd.

Norgren Boots Pigskin.

Norgren showed up in his old form at punting clearly forty and forty-five yards without effort. Huntington vied with Russell and Norgren for the tackling honors of the afternoon. The veteran end who last year was responsible for the completion of several effective forward passes, was held up as an example to the younger men in the matter of tackling and recovering the ball.

Pete Russell's chances to enter the game at quarter on Saturday soared with his successful evasion of attempts to tackle him in running back punts, his quick work at signal practice, and his handling of the ball. Coach Stagg's program for the season contains a liberal supply of open plays and forward passes and the Oak Park alumnus is making a strong bid for the pilot position.

Coach Stagg declined to commit himself upon the chances for Saturday except to say that it was a "tossup" between the two teams. With the weight and plunging ability of Pierce, Moulton, and Kixmiller, backed up by the promising line work of Williams, Goettler, Harris, and Hardiner, the Maroon chances in off-tackle plunges seems good.

Redmon Plays at Center.

Redmon, the heavyweight man of the campus, who lost little weight during the summer, blossomed forth at center and was sent down with every other punt to aid in bringing him into more graceful shapeliness. Martin, a member of the varsity gymnastic team, announced his candidacy for the squad and tried out for end.

Coach Page made three heavyweight additions to his freshman team, all of whom give promise. Alberts of Wendell Phillips, a 228 pounder, donned a suit for the first time this season and acquitted himself creditably with the big squad of freshman candidates. Kardige, a 220 pound back from downstate; Windrow, a 215 pound graduate of Lane Tech; and O'Connor of Bowen also lined up with the first year men.

Lineups for Drills.

AT WISCONSIN.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—For one hour at this afternoon's practice Coach Bill Juneau drove his Badgers through the hardest kind of scrimmage. Bucking up against the strong reserves, the so-called varsity did not have an easy time advancing the ball and its entire defensive strength was called upon to suppress the scrubs from negotiating dangerous distances. Bellows ran the varsity in his customary collected manner, using good judgment in calling off plays.

The scrimmage was not recorded without injury, Clayton and Capt. Tanberg of the regulars and Full Back Davy of the reserves being knocked out. It is not anticipated their injuries will keep them out of the practice.

Tonight an announcement was made that veteran Gelein had satisfied one department of the faculty and that but little more effort is required to gain a clean bill of scholastic health. All veterans were used with the exception of Ofstie, who was not on hand.

AT ILLINOIS.

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Coach Zuppke began his second week at Illinois today with preparations for the Kentucky game Saturday. New formations will be used against the Blue Grass team. Warm weather handicapped the athletes, but Zuppke kept them working after dark under the electric lights. Tomorrow's scrimmage with Coach Jones' husky freshmen is billed to be troublesome.

AT PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Warm weather today robbed the Purdue football squad's practice of its snappiness. Coach Smith has reduced the squad considerably. In scrimmage this afternoon the varsity showed ragged work in the forward pass, but Oliphant got away some good throws. He handled the ball better than East. Oliphant on fake plays broke away for long runs and touchdowns. Stinchfield was out of the lineup with an injured knee. Phelps got in at full back in East's place and found holes in the scrub line. McGill, a likely back field man, is off the squad for good with an attack of appendicitis.

AT MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 29.—Dr. H. L. Williams gave the Minnesota football squad light signal work this afternoon, using the team which opposed South Dakota. Preparation for Ames will be correction of the faults which became apparent in the opening game, particularly fumbling. The Gophers fumbled repeatedly, Tollefson handling not more than two punts cleanly. Minnesota's plays last Saturday all were run from one formation, and it is probable no other attack will be used against Ames. Joe Mattern, picked to star in the backfield, who was declared eligible Saturday, will be kept out of scrimmage the first of the week by the injured back and may not play against Ames.

AT BOURBONNAIS.

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—St. Viator defeated the Kensington Tornados by the score of 19 to 7. The excellent workings of the forward pass featured for the home team. McGee secured two touchdowns and Gallagher made some spectacular plays for the visitors. Coach McDonald is arranging a practice game with the Kankakee High school for Wednesday.

Roller Loses Handicap Bout.

Clinton, Ia., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Dr. Roller of Chicago lost a handicap wrestling match to Floyd Domer of this city tonight, failing to throw Domer twice in forty-five minutes. Roller secured one fall in :35.

Athletics vs. Giants—Shortstops.

BY SAM WELLER.

ONE of the principal reasons the Giants won the pennant this season was because McGraw made a ball player out of Arthur Fletcher and thus filled a gap at shortstop that hasn't been properly filled for eight or ten years. Because of Fletcher's remarkabe improvement in every department it looks as if the Giants will have the edge on the Athletics in the shortstop position during the world's series. In everything pertaining to physical accomplishments, at least, Fletcher is superior to Jack Barry.

But whether this will be the case in the crucial games with a world's championship at stake remains to be seen. Jack Barry has gone through two world's championship affairs and been an important factor in winning each time. Fletcher has gone through two and been a dismal failure in each. In the series last fall against Boston Fletcher broke down so completely that he was replaced in three of the eight games by a substitute.

When the Giants are in front Fletcher is wonderful. He can field in sensational manner, hit with marked success, and run the bases with most any of them. But when a ball game depends on him he seldom has made good in the pinch. However, his success of this season has instilled confidence and has made quite a different man of him.

The figures so far this season show he is hitting much better in the National league than Barry in the rival body. Fletcher's batting mark is around .280, while Barry's is under .270. Fletcher has stolen close to thirty bases, while Barry has about half that number to his credit. Barry, however, was out of the game for about a month because of injury.

In the world's series two years ago between the Athletics and Giants Barry's hitting was one of the features of the game. He hit for an average of .368, being surpassed only by Baker. Before the series started Barry was looked upon as the weak member of Mack's team. Fletcher in the same series hit for an average of only .130, and last year against the Boston team his average was only .179.

It looks as if Barry is steadier and more reliable in an important game, but less likely to turn anything sensational than his rival with the Giants. If Fletcher has a good day in the first game of the series and the Giants get off with a victory he may turn out to be the star of the series, for he has the ability to turn such a trick.

McGraw seems to have worked on Fletcher's mind more than his muscles this year and made a ball player of him that way. Last season he had Fletcher batting down next to the pitcher, which indicated the manager didn't think much of him, and naturally gave the player a poor opinion of himself. This year he put Fletcher up in fourth place in the batting order and gave him the idea that he was the best and surest hitter on the team, and immediately he had Fletcher thinking the same thing. The result was Fletcher began hitting at once.

Barry is certain to take care of his portion of the work in the world's series in his own steady and reliable manner. Fletcher may crumble under the strain or he may be the sensation of the series.

Ames Track Star Crippled.

Ames, Ia., Sept. 29.—Merill Manning, the individual star of the 1912 and 1913 Ames varsity track teams, probably never will run another race. He went to Yellowstone park at the close of the college year to work for a tourists' camping concern. A few days after he arrived a stage team which he was driving ran away and he was thrown violently to the ground, breaking a kneecap. Since early in June he has been confined to bed in the army hospital at Fort Yellowstone, unable to be on his feet.

MRS. NOYES LEADS WOMEN GOLFERS

Turns in Low Score of 98 in Qualifying Round at Skokie Club.

TWO IN TIE FOR SECOND.

Mrs. Pound and Miss Knapp Each Total 99; Bailly Winner at Ridgemoor.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Mrs. M. Paul Noyes had low score of 98 in the qualifying round for the women's championship at the Skokie Golf club yesterday. Mrs. Harvey L. Pound and Miss Margaret Knapp tied for second place with totals of 99. Pairings for the first match round and qualifying scores are as follows:

Championship—Mrs. M. P. Noyes [98] vs. Mrs. J. D. Forrest [105]; Mrs. H. L. Pound [99] vs. Mrs. A. E. Dennis [118]; Miss Margaret Knapp [99] vs. Miss Sauer [117]; Mrs. P. Manchester [102] vs. Mrs. R. D. Small [119].

First flight—Mrs. L. J. Hopkins [120] vs. Miss Landon [125]; Miss Isabel Gilmore [122] vs. Mrs. Frank Fuller [132]; Miss Hortense Gowing [121] vs. Mrs. J. A. Davis [131]; Miss Isom [124] vs. Mrs. J. C. Murray [133].

Bailly Winner at Ridgemoor.

In the semi-final round for the club championship at the Ridgemoor Country club J. S. Bailly defeated F. E. Stern, 2 and 1, and S. Rapp defeated H. I. Kirk, 1 up, 19 holes. In the play for the Stevenson cup W. G. Wise defeated J. R. Brice, 3 and 2, and C. J. Porter defeated I. J. Bryan, 1 up, 19 holes. H. H. Piper won the Brewster cup by defeating W. G. Wise, 3 and 2.

Henry E. Strassheim, who is better known in bowling than in golfing circles, joined the club this year and began by starting with a score of 130. He made a number of wagers he would do the course in 85 before the snow fell, and by dint of much practice he accomplished the feat yesterday. He now is busy collecting from the doubters.

"I found," he said, "the committee anx to learn the essential objections that may held against vital features of the bill. A representative of state banks rather t national institutions, I was in a somew different position from those for whom legislation is being directly planned.

"I sought to have the committee apprec the position of state institutions in that th would be no obligation on their part to e the system unless they should be favora impressed with its probable operations endeavored to point out that without the s banks of the country coöperating or join with the national banks, a currency could hardly meet with the success desire indeed it could be considered in a broad s successful at all.

Foresees Changes in Bill.

"From individual expressions of mem of the committee I am led to believe t favor such changes as will make the appeal to banking interests generally.

"The section which provides that regional reserve banks may go into the c market and discount paper, I consider wrong in theory. It is based on the assu tion that the banks would undertake to c bine and charge an unwarranted rate o terest. I have never known of banks d that thing.

"Another provision in the bill make obligatory on one regional reserve ban cash at par drafts on another. The prac working out of this would produce asto ing results, such, in fact, that I cannot how a bank would be willing to subjec capital invested in regional banks to pos losses.

Objects to Redemption Proviso

"The words 'gold or lawful money' stil main in the bill in the paragraph providing f redemption of the treasury notes. The phras lawful money,' should not be retained. A nu of the committee members are in favor o elimination, but I do not feel certain it wi remain.

"My treatment while before the committe certainly most courteous and, as I said, I very much impressed by the attitude of the m bers in their efforts to secure what they may sider friendly criticism."

Speaking of the general money situation, Hulbert said:

SEES CHANGES IN BILL.

Commends Courtesy and Eagerness of Senate Committee to Obtain Views.

I endeavored to point out that without the state banks of the country coöperating or joining with the national banks, a currency plan could hardly meet with the success desired, if indeed it could be considered in a broad sense successful at all.

"From individual expressions of members of the committee I am led to believe they favor such changes as will make the law appeal to banking interests generally.

"The section which provides that the regional reserve banks may go into the open market and discount paper, I consider all wrong in theory. "The words 'gold or lawful money' still remain in the bill in the paragraph providing for the redemption of the treasury notes. The phrase, 'or lawful money,' should not be retained. A number of the committee members are in favor of its elimination, but I do not feel certain it will not remain.

"My treatment while before the committee was certainly most courteous and, as I said, I was very much impressed by the attitude of the members in their efforts to secure what they may consider friendly criticism."

Chicago Securities.

Peoples Gas was irregular, but a good demand developed in the course of the day. After selling off at the opening to 126½ the price recovered to 128. The last sale was at 127¼. On the New York exchange the price touched 128⅝. At this quotation there were heavy selling orders, and the price fell away. The market has the appearance of expecting some sort of new financing other than that announced after the special meeting of the board of directors.

Sears-Roebuck common was active and lower, losing fractionally at the close. Series 2 certificates worked up to 31, but later sold off. Commonwealth Edison advanced to 155. Selling orders brought the price down to 154. There was not much doing. Diamond Match was firm.

In the bond department City Railways 5s were in good demand, closing at 100⅞. There was fair inquiry for Chicago Railways 5s at 98⅝. Ogden Gas 5s were firm at 96⅞.

LATEST WALL STREET GOSSIP.

New York, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—In two weeks or since Sept. 16 Steel common has had a fall of six points. That is an unusually big swing within so short a space of time for the stock because even in times of active markets and wide fluctuations Steel common moves with deliberation. Market observers profess to see in the present fall in the stock evidence of a resumption of activities on the part of a powerful group of operators for the decline.

Whether it be true or not that a strong bear party is concentrating its forces upon Steel stock as suggested by the demand for the stock in the loan crowd and the expressions of sentiment by the professional element the stock has plainly been subjected to heavy and continuous pressure. It has been in constant supply during the last fortnight and there has always appeared to be more stock overhanging the market so that rallies have been negligible.

Apparently no attempt has been made to bid the stock up among the traders and aggressive support has been lacking. It has seemed as if the principal factor bringing about the decline had been a conspicuous lack of buying rather than the quality or weight of the selling. In other words, it has been a market in which one short worked against his successor.

After the Union Pacific distribution matter the outlook for the Steel corporation under the new tariff is the leading topic of discussion in the financial district. Whichever influence has been greatest in bringing about the decline in Steel, real selling, liquidation of a speculative character, or short sales, it is quite obvious that the stock is in a strategically weak position. It is open to attack. The general opinion in the street is that with reduced tariffs on Steel products the corporation will have to reconcile itself to considerably lower prices.

How much lower these prices will be and whether business next year will be sufficient to leave a margin of profit sufficient to offset fixed charges, provide for enormous depreciations, and pay dividends at the present rate is uncertain enough to discourage speculation for the rise at the present.

The early market in Union Pacific was feverish and excited and an altogether extraordinary affair. Transactions were large and fluctuations were extremely erratic. The brief outburst of buying which sent the price to a new high point of 162¼ resulted from or provoked renewed rumors that an official announcement in regard to the expected special distribution would be made tomorrow.

The meetings of the executive committee of the company during business hours put an edge on anticipations. Transactions in Union Pacific in the last few weeks above 160, and even between 161 and 162, have been enormous, and from all accounts the singular scarcity of the stock in the street, which was remarked upon even before the sensational upturn, is not so pronounced. For one thing, considerable stock is reported to have been sold by the foreigners recently which has since arrived.

Wall street has not placed much faith in the hopes that the preferred stockholders of the Union Pacific that they would share with the common stockholders in the event of a distribution of the sort rumored. Union Pacific represents the simplest type of a railroad preferred stock. It is expressly stated in the company's charter that the stock is entitled in priority over the common to 4 per cent dividends and to no further share in the profits. The accumulated surplus represents undivided profits, and to most people the claim that the preferred should share in them now, after receiving its dues for years, has not a leg to stand on.

It is pointed out that when the common stockholders were given a larger share in the profits that had accumulated by the increase in the dividend to 10 per cent some years ago the question of the preferred stock sharing was not raised. At today's price of 83, as compared with 87¼ last Friday, Union Pacific preferred was spoken of facetiously as selling "ex-special dividend, when, if, and as distributed."

The rumors of a special distribution by the Union Pacific company, to be followed by a reduction in the annual dividend to 8 or maybe 7 per cent, is scarcely a favorable argument for the 4 per cent convertible bonds. These bonds, of which there are $38,738,300, are convertible into common stock at 175 up to July, 1917. Union Pacific as a 7 or 8 per cent stock would hardly sell anywhere near a level to make the conversion privilege worth considering just at present.

The bonds are now selling around 93, and could be converted into stock at a profit not very far above today's high mark. Should an extra dividend be declared and Union Pacific stock move up further some of the bondholders might convert and take the dividend.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 29.—Copper stocks worked lower today on a small volume of business, Calumet and Hecla losing 5 and Osceola 3 points. Other declines generally were confined to fractions. Butte and Superior led the market in point of activity, falling 1¼ points to 35½. Boston and Maine and New Haven each lost a point and United Fruit sagged 2½ points on sale of new shares. Call money ruled at 3¼@4 per cent; time loans, short dates, 5¼@6 per cent; time loans, six months, 5¾@6½ per cent; time loans, one year, 5¾@6 per cent.

NEW YORK STOCKS TAKE SHARP DROP

Prices Drift Downward During First Half Hour, Then Slump Abruptly.

LARGE BLOCKS OFFERED.

Market Shows No Recuperative Power; Closing Is Dull and Flat.

New York, Sept. 29.—After the first hour prices of stocks declined abruptly. Opening trading was slow, with a slight drift downward, except in the cases of Reading and Union Pacific, both of which advanced fractionally. Union Pacific at 162¼ reached a new high mark for the present movement, which was within half of the year's best figure. On heavy offerings of the favorite stocks the market was roused quickly from its inertia and fell rapidly. Union Pacific dropped back more than 2 points from its high figure, Canadian Pacific lost nearly 3; other representative issues lost 1 to 2.

Despite the feeble resistance offered, the market was not long under severe pressure. Selling diminished, but the only effect was to impart a steadier tone.

Closing Dull and Flat.

The market showed no recuperative power and during the remainder of the day was dull and flat, with prices ruling not far from the lowest.

Steel was watched more closely than any other stock as a guide to market conditions and its heaviness exerted a depressing influence. Much of the day's selling of Steel was believed to be on orders from Boston.

Bonds Active and Easy.

The bond market was easy, with increased activity in some speculative issues. Total sales, par value, $1,525,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call steady, 2¾@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2¾; closing, 2¾@2⅞. Time loans steady; sixty days, 4¼@4½ per cent; ninety days, 4½@4¾; six months, 4¾@5. Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, 481.75 for sixty day bills, 485.40 for demand. Commercial bills, 481⅜. Bar silver, 61⅝c. Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds easy.

WHEAT FUTURES SCORE ADVANCES

Unexpected Decrease in Visible with Big Clearances Start Short Covering.

COARSE GRAINS STRONG.

Smaller Receipts of Corn Are Looked For; October Products Are Liquidated.

Liberal clearances of American wheat and flour, a small decrease in the visible, together with the strength in coarse grains gave wheat a strong undertone yesterday. Commission houses were fair buyers and the market exhibited signs of being oversold. Final prices were ⅝c to ⅝@¾c higher. Cables were generally steady, Liverpool closing unchanged to ⅛d off. Continental markets were unchanged with the exception of Budapest, which was ⅝c off.

Export clearances for the day were 1,109,000 bu wheat and flour, most of the wheat and flour going from this country. Instead of there being a big increase in visible stocks as expected there was a decrease of 461,000 bu. This was a surprise to the trade, and caused quite free covering by shorts. Corn and oats made sharp gains and this helped the bulls in wheat materially.

Big Receipts in Northwest.

In the northwest the movement of wheat continues large on both sides of the line. Minneapolis and Duluth had 1,803 cars, compared to 1,408 cars a year ago, and Winnipeg 2,243 cars, against 806 cars. Minneapolis stocks gained 725,000 bu for two days. Advices from Minneapolis, however, indicated there would be a fair falling off in receipts shortly.

Snow wired a message from Winnipeg saying the Canadian northwest crop was about 190,000,000 bu, or a little larger than a year ago. The quality of the crop, he stated, was the best ever known. Conditions have been favorable for a heavy early movement of the wheat in western Canada, and country bankers have been influential in causing early marketings. For this reason it is expected the heavy run will be over a month to six weeks earlier than usual.

Russian Shipments Moderate.

World's shipments were moderate at 13,888,000 bu, and Russian shipments were smaller than looked for, this being a steadying influence at Liverpool. Argentine crop conditions were reported more favorable, and Canadian offerings were reported liberal. On passage stocks decreased 3,296,000 bu for the week.

Receipts here were 38 cars, with 65 cars for today estimated. Primary arrivals were 2,473,000 bu, against 2,710,000 bu a year ago. St. Louis advices said country mills were good buyers of wheat to go to Indiana and Ohio, as farmers were holding their soft wheat. Minneapolis said mills were doing a good business, and that sales had been a little larger recently.

Corn Shorts Free Buyers.

Corn shorts bought on a big scale and there was also good commission house buying led by Logan-Bryan, Beach-Wickham, and Ware-Leland. Armour was credited with buying the September. Barrell and Lamson were good sellers early. Some of the local shorts were credited with covering. Resting quotations were ⅞@1¼c higher. The weather was unsettled over most of the corn belt.

Lyle, the crop expert, estimated the crop in the seven surplus states at 1,169,000,000 bu, or about 500,000,000 bu under an average, while last year the crop was much above an average. Cash prices were ½@¾c higher, and there were sales for shipment of 100,000 bu, the eastern demand being better while receivers look for small receipts for a time.

The visible increased 903,000 bu. World's shipments were 5,271,000 bu, an on passage decreased 230,000 bu. Receipts here were 295 cars, with 271 cars inspected yesterday. Primary receipts were 1,270,000 bu, compared to 699,000 bu a year ago.

Commission Houses Buy Oats.

Oats were influenced by corn to some extent, but there was fair commission house buying early and later shorts were good buyers. Last prices for the day were ⅝@¾c to ¾@⅞c higher. Bailey, Lamson, and Wagner led the buying early. Armour was the leading seller of the December. Receipts here were 126 cars, with 155 cars the estimate for today. Receipts in the west were 1,280,000 bu, against 1,467,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply showed a gain for the week of 268,000 bu. Cash prices were ¼@½c higher and the demand was fair, shipping sales being 160,000 bu.

January Products Steady.

October liquidation was a feature of the previous trade, making lower prices early, but the deferred deliveries met with a good demand and prices at the close were not much changed. Foreign shorts were credited with covering nearby stuff to some extent. Hog prices at the yards were a little firmer early, but closed steady. Receipts here were 40,000, with 17,000 the estimate for today. Western hog receipts were 80,000, against 47,000 a year ago.

Rye Market Still Weak.

Rye market continued to show a downward tendency, and No. 2 sold at 64½c, while No. 3 made 61½@63½c. Receipts, 9 cars.

Business in barley had to be suspended because of darkness, which made it impossible to judge samples. No quotations were made. Receipts, 66 cars.

Timothy sed was quiet, with cash lots $3.75@5.25. Clover seed was firmer, with outside markets. October closed at $12.00 bid, and cash lots at $9.50@12.00.

Duluth flax closed 1¼@1⅜c higher, with cash on track $1.43¼; September and October, $1.41⅜; November, $1.42⅜, and December $1.40⅜. Receipts, 96 cars. Minneapolis was 1¼c higher at $1.40⅝@1.43½ for cash on track. Receipts, 77 cars. Winnipeg closed ⅛@⅝c higher, with October $1.24¼; November, $1.25, and December $1.23⅜. Receipts, 41 cars.

Visible supply of wheat in the United States this week decreased 461,000 bu. Corn increased 903,000 bu; oats, 268,000 bu; rye, 150,000 bu; and barley, 395,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

"The Canadian northwest wheat crop is only a little larger than last year, say about 190,000,000 bu, of finest quality ever known," B. W. Snow wired from Winnipeg. "Farmers are hard up; county banks are forcing them to sell in order to liquidate debts. Harvest was completed early. Weather for thrashing has been perfect, car arrangements for handling crop were never better, and result of these combined conditions is immediate marketing of the largest percentage of crop ever known. These enormous receipts are at expense of ordinary country stocks and if weather holds a little longer the important movement will be finished a month or six weeks earlier than usual."

The cash trade in wheat generally was of small proportions yesterday, the advance checking the demand, but there were moderate sales, 55,000 bu. Exporters generally reported foreign bids out of line. Canadian wheat is cheaper than American wheat at present and most of the export business done recently has been in Manitobas. Kansas City wheat is considerably above an export basis, but there is not much wheat now available at gulf ports. Galveston stocks decreased nearly 400,000 bu for the week. At Minneapolis there was a fair demand with prices about the same as recently relative to the futures. Omaha cash prices for wheat were quoted 1c higher.

"The European lard trade is still draggy, although last week's exports at nearly 10,000,000 pounds were close to those of a year ago," said a provisions broker.

"It looks as if we need a break in prices to popularize the lard and cheapen it enough to take the place of substitutes. At the same time, there is a possibility, if not a probability, that the general market might do a little better after the October lard and ribs are liquidated."

After a thorough examination of the seven big corn states O. K. Lyle of Chapin & Co. estimates the crop in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri at 1,169,500,000 bu, or about 500,000,000 bu less than an average crop. Last year the crop was well above an average. Lyle's estimates by states follows: Ohio, 148,000,000 bu; Indiana, 174,000,000 bu; Illinois, 305,000,000 bu; Iowa, 315,000,000 bu; Nebraska, 80,000,000 bu; Kansas, 20,000,000 bu, and Missouri, 127,500,000 bu.

Corn was in fair demand for shipment, the eastern inquiry showing some improvement while the offerings from the country were reported smaller. Cash prices here were ½@¾c higher. Receivers expect a light movement from the country for the next few weeks. Outside cash markets were a little firmer. Oats were ¼@¾c higher. Shipping sales were 100,0000 bu corn and 160,000 bu oats.

Houston-Fible of Kansas City wired: "Kansas towns are buying corn right along to retail to farmers. Any fair sized town will use two to five cars a week. This demand will continue to next summer and probably increase during the winter. Western Missouri is buying some corn, but not as extensively as Kansas yet."

Wheat on ocean passage this week decreased 3,296,000 bu, while corn decreased 230,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	This wk.	Last wk.	Last year.
Corn	29,206,000	29,436,000	30,710,000

Stocks of wheat at Liverpool this week decreased 136,000 bu. Corn increased 178,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	This wk.	Last wk.	Last year.
Corn	2,125,000	1,947,000	587,000

Board of trade memberships are quoted slightly higher, one selling Saturday at $2,200. It is expected by some members that with the abolition of the call it will be to the advantage of country brokers to obtain memberships and that there will be a better demand.

As a result of the decisive vote in favor of the amendment abolishing the grain "call" there was no "call" for the first time in several years, the new rule going into effect yesterday.

Minneapolis advices said that country offerings of wheat were much smaller and that the movement would drop off sharply within a few weeks.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 65 cars; corn, 271 cars; oats, 155 cars; rye, 9 cars; barley, 66 cars; hogs, 17,000 head.

Deliveries on September contracts were 96,000 bu wheat, 310,000 bu corn, and 30,000 bu oats.

Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 725,000 bu for two days.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Money in good demand. Discounts steady. The Balkan situation again depressed the stock market, especially sections in which Paris was interested. Prices sagged on lack of support and the tone was generally weak. Grand Trunk issues were the exception, ruling firm on good earnings. The tendency of the American department was downward. Prices declined sharply under the lead of Union Pacific, which fell over 2 points on New York selling. The final tone was weak.

LACK OF BUYING REDUCES CATTLE

Shippers Hold Off Because of Coming Jewish Holiday; Receipts Large.

HOGS BRISK AND HIGHER.

Average Price Advances 3 Cents to $8.60; Sheep and Lambs Move Up.

Cattle receipts of 28,000 head at Chicago yesterday sold at a decline of largely 10@20c from last week's closing values. The trade was slow, due to lack of competition from shippers, who took hold sparingly because they did not want to have large consignments of stock reach eastern destinations during the Jewish holiday celebrations. A few lots of prime heavy and yearling beeves escaped the decline and topped at $9.50, but sales at $9.00 and better were greatly reduced, and some of the steers that sold that high showed a loss of 15c.

Hogs met with a brisk demand at strong to 5c higher prices, topping at $9.05. Shippers bought 12,000 head and packers took 26,900. The average price was advanced 3c to $8.60. The market had a buoyant undertone and closed firm, with few desirable hogs left unsold.

Sheep and lambs made firm to 10c higher prices, native lambs showing most of the gain and topping at $7.85. About 2,000 rangers sold up to $7.25 and one string reached $7.35. Range wethers were held at $4.75, with country buyers paying $4.40@4.50 for feeders. Official returns made last week's receipts of 231,647 sheep and lambs, 3,899 head in excess of the previous largest on record.

BIG CALL STEADIES POULTRY

Large Demand for Jewish Holidays Prevents Sharp Slump.

POTATO TRADE WEAKENS.

Butter Easy; Eggs Steady; Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Dull.

Poultry receipts at Chicago yesterday were among the largest on record—31 cars and 545 coops. Prices of live fowls and roosters were forced ½c lb lower by the heavy supply, but the trade took hold briskly, a big demand being expected for the Jewish holidays the last half of this week.

Potato receipts of 135 cars also showed an increase and the weather was decidedly unfavorable for the trade. Prices declined 3@5c a bushel and sales were made at 68@73c for bulk and up to 75c a bushel for sacked stock.

A weaker feeling developed in the market for butter, with buyers refusing to pay the extreme prices recently enforced. Receipts were increased to 9,973 tubs and the market closed in an unsettled condition. Eggs were steady, with receipts of 6,525 cases.

Trade in fresh fruits and green vegetables was restricted by unfavorable weather.

URGES REVISION OF CURRENCY BILL

Untermyer Says Present Plan Gives Too Much Power to Bankers.

LIMIT ON SUBSCRIPTION.

Demands Right of Regional Banks to Enter Into the Open Market.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—General revision of the details of the administration currency bill to insure the carrying out of the purposes of the measure was recommended to the senate banking and currency committee today by Samuel Untermyer of New York. Many of the changes proposed by Mr. Untermyer went to vital points of the bill.

Criticising the bill's definition of "commercial paper" on which currency would be issued as "loose and unrestricted," Mr. Untermyer said the lines should be strictly drawn, to allow the issue of currency only on commercial paper representing the purchase or sale of a commodity which would enter into commerce.

He recommended allowing the proposed regional reserve banks to rediscount a wider range of paper than would be eligible as a basis for paper.

Would Change Subscription.

Mr. Untermyer also recommended altering the plan of organization of the proposed regional reserve banks. He would give the national banks ninety days in which to subscribe the capital and deposits for the regional banks, and if it was not forthcoming would throw the stock books open to public subscription, closely restricting the powers of the subscribers in controlling the bank. This plan, he said, would tend to force the banks to enter the system.

The bill as at present framed, Mr. Untermyer said, gave the banks themselves too much power in the organization and control of the proposed new system.

Would Abolish Advisers.

He recommended that the proposed "advisory council" of bankers as an adjunct to the federal reserve board be abolished, and that the government be given closer powers of regulation and removal over regional reserve directors elected by the banks. He urged, however, that the banks be given a flat profit of 6 per cent on their investment in the regional banks, and that the government be given all profits above that figure.

The right of the regional banks to enter the open market in competition with the members' banks was absolutely necessary, he said, in order that the regional banks might control and maintain the rate of discount which the bill gives them the right to fix.

MINOR TRANSFERS ON REALTY MART

Day's Deals Show Wide Range of Trading in Small Properties.

NEW BANK ORGANIZING.

Institution Will Be Located at 4613-15 Broadway, Under Lease Just Taken.

Yesterday's real estate market developments were of a generally unimportant character, comprising minor transactions only.

John C. Krietenstein, builder, has closed an interesting sale of south side apartment house property comprising the three story and basement twelve flat building at the southwest corner of Sixtieth street and St. Lawrence avenue, to Leah Cline. The building occupies a lot fronting sixty feet on Sixtieth street and 135 feet on St. Lawrence avenue and while the consideration is not disclosed the transfer was made subject to an incumbrance of $31,250. Mrs. Cline gave in part payment three pieces of Indiana Harbor property valued at $44,000, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000. N. W. and C. I. Hopkins of Hopkins & Luther represented both parties.

Sell Hyde Park Stores.

John A. Carroll & Bro. have sold for Minnie Blazer to Harry A. Hubbard the business property at the northeast corner of Fifty-third street and Woodlawn avenue, 80x100 feet, improved with a new store building. The consideration is withheld, but is said to be about $35,000. They also have sold to Frank R. Johnson for A. Stanford White the vacant property at the southeast corner of Fifty-second street and Lexington avenue, 98x160 feet, for $10,500.

Henry W. Bishop of Pittsfield, Mass., has sold to Andrew Pearson and others six unsubdivided blocks at West Thirty-first street and South Fifty-second avenue for $30,000. George H. Taylor was the broker, and he also has sold for the American Baptist Publication society to J. William Howard the property at 1531-35 West Harrison street for $12,000 cash.

New Bank on Broadway.

Reese Jones, who recently leased the property at 4613-15 Broadway [formerly Evanston avenue] for twelve years, has sold the leasehold to Paul A. Hazard and others. The building is to be remodeled and occupied by the Broadway State bank, now being organized. It is stated that Mr. Jones made a good profit in the transaction. Lamont & Clasen, who were the brokers, have also leased for Mr. Jones the three stores at 4635-39-41 Broadway at a term rent of $52,000.

John Klein has sold to Charles D. Keefer the two story brick building at 3320 Fullerton avenue, containing a store and 7 room flat, for $14,000, subject to an incumbrance of $4,500. Charles A. Johnson was the broker.

Three original land grants, two of which bore the signature of President James K. Polk and Secretary of State John Knox Walker, and the other of President Zachary Taylor and Secretary of State Thomas Ewing, were filed for record yesterday. One, dated July 1, 1845, covered forty acres of land in section 21 of Hanover township, and ran to Michael Welch. Another, dated April 10, 1848, ran to Reuben M. Buck and comprised eighty acres in section 22, same township. The third, covering forty acres in the same township, was dated March 1, 1850, Abraham Leetheman being the grantor. They are all on parchment and were filed by Hopson & Hollembeck of Elgin.

Plan West Side Factory.

The heirs of John G. Cella have sold to John Harrison Swan the vacant property at the southeast corner of Harrison street and Washtenaw avenue, 120x125 feet to an alley, for $5,000 cash. Mr. Swan is said to have purchased the property for the Klipfel Manufacturing company, which will improve, it is said, with a two or three story factory building to be occupied by the company. S. C. Iversen of Hibbard Porter & Bro. was the broker.

Greenebaum Sons Bank and Trust company is trustee in a loan of $100,000 in the form of a 6 per cent serial bond issue to Charles H. Kuzel on the property at the northwest corner of Ellis avenue and Forty-third street, 150x198 feet, and a two story store, office, theater, and flat building now being erected. It is expected to have a gross annual rent of $24,720.

Loan of $100,000.

The Central Trust company is trustee in a loan of $100,000, six years at 6 per cent, to Joseph K. Ferguson, secured by the property at Milwaukee avenue, 120 feet northwest of Ashland avenue, 47x100 feet, northwest front, and on a court 116 feet southwest of Milwaukee avenue.

Charles O. Barnes has sold to Alfred E. Nielsen the property at the southeast corner of Drake avenue and Grace street, 29x125 feet, with improvements, for $17,000, subject to an incumbrance of $8,000.

Record has been made of the transfer by John C. McFarland and others to Nelson M. Lampert of the factory property at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street, with 131x125 feet of ground, consideration nominal.

ASKS LAW ON ELECTRIFICATION.

Ald. T. K. Long to Request Passing of Terminals Ordinance at Next Council Meeting.

Ald. T. K. Long returned to Chicago yesterday after several weeks' absence and announced he would request Chairman Ellis Geiger of the council committee on railway terminals to ask the council next Monday to pass the electrification ordinance. Action on the measure was postponed until after the council vacation because of Ald. Long's absence. The terminal committee will not receive John F. Wallace's terminal report on Oct. 1, the date set for the completion of his survey of the depot problem, but he has been requested to present his findings as soon as possible.
